FRANCE SEEKS 2 BILLIONS OF U.S. EXPORTS

Cash, Credit Deals Are Considered.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14 (AP).—The French are seeking approximately two billion dollars' worth of United States exports during the next 12 months for use in rebuilding their country, it was learned tonight.

Arrangements for the huge procurement program already are nearing completion. Some of the goods may be shipped on lend-lease because they are considered necessary to France's war effort against Germany or Japan, but the great bulk will go partly for cash and, officials hope, partly on credit.

The French program, probably the farthest advanced of the economic plans to come out of liberated Europe, calls for purchasing 700 locomotives as well as comparable quantities of railway rolling stock and track equipment; trucks for highway transport; huge shipments of cotton, fertilizers, and other raw materials.

Problem Is Financing.

The biggest problem is how to finance the French program. The answer will depend on what kind of over-all export finance program is worked out by President Roosevelt and congress in the next few months.

The French tentatively projected their post-liberation requirements while they were still functioning as the national committee of liberation months ago.

On this basis the American army has taken into France limited supplies of food and clothing for the immediate relief of the French population.

Awaits F. D. R. Sanction.

The lend-lease agreement has been virtually completed and is understood to await only President Roosevelt's final approval. Officials indicate, however, that lend-lease is being interpreted strictly and that there will be no shipments of civilian goods under it except those really "essential to the war effort."

The French have realized all along that most of their goods would have to be obtained on some other basis. Therefor a formula was worked out to permit procurement to begin since such items as locomotives take a long time to produce.

Provisions of Plans.

Principal provisions of the formula are:

1. The United States has agreed to ship the goods to France.

2. At the moment all the procuring has to be done on a cash basis and it is understood that all supplies obtained by the French thru the army will be paid for in cash.

3. For the rest—the great bulk—France's purchases will, where military necessity justifies, be placed on a lend-lease basis and civilian supplies which do not come under lend-lease—by far the greatest portion—may either be paid for in cash or charged under whatever system of long term credits eventually is worked out.

Eire Refuses Demand It Bar Axis Fugitives

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Eire reserves the right to shield axis political refugees after the war despite British representations against harboring war criminals, Paul V. Emrys-Evans, dominions undersecretary, told the house of commons today.

Prime Minister De Valera has taken the position that Eire would accept fugitives "should justice, charity, or honor, or the interests of the country require it," Emrys-Evans said.

De Valera holds there is no comprehensive international code covering the matter and no generally recognized court or procedure for judicial determination of individual cases, the secretary said.

De Valera stresses, however, that since the outbreak of war the Eire government has denied entry to all aliens whose policy or presence might interfere with Eire's neutrality and prove detrimental to Irish interests and that this practice will be maintained, Emrys-Evans added.

"Detrimental to Irish."

Commenting on De Valera's attitude, Emrys-Evans warned, "The British government wishes to make it clear it would certainly, in the words used by the Eire government, be 'detrimental to the interests of the Irish people' were war criminals to be harbored in Ireland."

Emry's-Evans refused to answer a question as to whether Spain, Argentina, and other neutral countries had agreed not to grant asylum to war criminals and ignored a Conservative M. P.'s query, "Is Hitler in Spain at the moment?"

[Generalissimo Franco was accused last night in a Moscow broadcast by I. Yermashev, Russian commentator, of preparing Spain as a haven for Hitler and other war criminals.]

Swiss Door Stays Shut.

BERN, Switzerland, Nov. 14 (AP).—Switzerland will not open her doors to those who have violated the laws of war or to persons whose conduct has been "irreconcilable to the fundamental traditions of right and humanity," the federal council announced today.

Sweden Bars Entry.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Nov. 14 (AP).—A Swedish government commission is reviewing this country's alien laws to close any avenues which might be open for the entry of war criminals or other undesirable refugees seeking haven in Sweden, a spokesman said today.

Not Wholly to U. S. Liking.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14 (AP).—The United States let it be known tonight that Ireland's stand on the question of barring refugee Nazis was not wholly to this government's liking. The United States and other allies have been trying to get neutrals to close their doors to war criminals.

"We were glad to have the assurances in the Irish reply but it did not go as far as we would have liked in all particulars," a state department statement said.

ACQUIT WOMAN IN 'DEAR HELEN' POISON DEATH

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 14 [Special].—Mrs. Roberta Steiger, 26, a nurse's aid, was acquitted here tonight on a murder charge arising from the poison death last July of her "dear friend," Nurse Helen Hovey, 24. The jury of seven housewives and five men freed Mrs. Steiger after five hours' deliberation.

Mrs. Steiger, who repudiated during the trial a confession that she killed Miss Hovey by putting poison in a peanut butter sandwich, gasped nervously as she heard the verdict, and then shook hands with each juror, saying, "Thank you, thank you, thank you."

Canada Names Peaks for Churchill, F. D. R., Stalin

VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 14 (AP).—Mountain peaks in the northeastern corner of the Peace River block in British Columbia have been named after Prime Minister Churchill, President Roosevelt, and Marshal Stalin, Lands Minister Kennedy announced today. All 9,500 feet high, the peaks lie north of the Finlay river and just south of the Alaska highway.

THE BEST WAY TO PROMOTE A LASTING PEACE

Probe Movie Star's $18,500 Rolls of Dice

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

New York, Nov. 14.—A dice game in the apartment of baseball's Leo [Lippy] Durocher, in which a wealthy plane parts manufacturer lost $18,500 on 13 straight passes rolled out expertly by a top flight Hollywood actor, is being investigated by District Atty. Frank S. Hogan's office, it was learned today.

The loser, Martin Shurin Jr., president of the Hudson Aircraft company, at first took his misfortune with good grace—tho the screen star's winnings were pyramided on the almost incredible score of four 4s, four 10s, and five 9s.

Learns "Inside Story."

But Shurin's philosophic calm exploded recently, it became known, when the wife of one of his fellow guests—irate because she had just discovered her husband in a bedroom with a blonde—came to the manufacturer and told him he was framed with loaded dice and that her husband had received a cut from the games profits.

The game took place last March 24 in Durocher's Manhattan apartment. But Durocher wasn't there, being at West Point supervising his team's spring training, and he had no knowledge of the affair. A Broadway pal, to whom Leo had lent a key, took the players to the apartment.

There were 10 men and three women in the party, which had dined earlier at the actor's apartment in the Sherry-Netherlands. The game was moved to Durocher's because interruption was considered less likely.

The dice were brought by two Broadway habitues. The actor took them for the initial roll—and Shurin lost his $18,500 in the next half hour without once laying hands on the cubes himself.

Rolls 'Em the Hard Way.

"Fading" the actor were Shurin, a couple of other business men and the Broadway figure whose wife later spilled the story.

Fading was all they did—for the dapper Hollywoodian's educated fingers couldn't lose that night. Little Joe [4] and Big Dick [10] are both hard points; standard odds are two to one against making them. But the actor rolled two of the 4s "the hard way" — with deuces, and made two of his 10s the hard way, too, with paired fives.

Shurin, it was learned, paid out $3,500 in cash, and then wrote checks for $15,000 more. How much the other two business men lost has not been disclosed. The fourth bettor—the blonde fancier—ostensibly lost $8,600.

These heavy losses seemingly sobered the gathering and play ended after the actor's fantastic run of "luck."

Tipster Asking Divorce.

When the indignant wife called at Shurin's office recently she told him she was suing for divorce. She revealed that when her husband came home the night of the game he told her 'The deal went thru, honey—here's your cut!" and tossed her $600.

Shurin, angered by the story of this treatment at the hands of pretended friends, took his story to the prosecutor's office, where inquiries brought the statement that "we are still investigating."

Efforts to reach the screen star—now back in Hollywood, where he has an unlisted phone—were unavailing late today.

NAVY RACES DEATH TO BRING PATRICIA'S DADDY BACK TO HER

Patricia Attaway, 7, who can't even pronounce lymphatic leukemia, played happily with a new toy panda yesterday in her cot in St. Charles hospital, Aurora, while waiting for her daddy to come home from the South Pacific.

The Red Cross was still trying desperately to locate her father, M. F. Attaway of 617 Cleveland av., Aurora, a chief-petty officer in the navy Seabees. Inability of the service to learn Attaway's station created some hope that he may have started back to Aurora on a routine leave.

Hundreds of persons have volunteered to donate blood to help keep Patricia alive, and the names of 50 have been placed on a waiting list. Dr. E. M. Thomas, aware that the mortality rate of the blood disease is almost 100 per cent, said Patricia is being given one pint of blood every other day. The first was given last Friday. The transfusions interrupt the blonde haired girl's games with her mother, Florence, whose smiles are almost as bright as her daughter's.

Jury Convicts Mother, 19, of Baby Torture

Mrs. Betty Jane Dybicz, 19, of 7201 Lowe av., was found guilty last night by a jury of eight women and four men in Criminal court of assault with intent to murder her 5 months old son, Dennis.

She faces a sentence of from one to 14 years if a motion for a new trial, hearing on which was fixed by Chief Justice Harold G. Ward for Nov. 22, is overruled. In that event, Judge Ward will fix the minimum and maximum sentence within the limits prescribed by law.

$5,000 Bond to Stand.

Mrs. Dybicz, wearing a brown polka dot dress and a dark colored coat, received the verdict calmly. After her attorney, Harold Levy, had obtained the court's permission to let her $5,000 bond stand pending the hearing on a motion for new trial, she went to the rear of the courtroom, where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lindquist, were waiting, and said, "Let's go!"

Mrs. Dybicz was arrested last August after her baby son was taken to a hospital with a broken leg, three broken ribs, a double compound fracture of the left arm, a skull fracture, and other injuries.

Mrs. Dybicz later admitted to Assistant State's Atty. Edmund P. Grant that she "socked the baby in the eye" and twisted his leg, explaining that she "did not like the baby because his father is not my husband." This statement she repudiated at the trial.

Repudiated Father a Witness.

Her husband, Chester Dybicz, 25, a war worker, testified yesterday without glancing at his wife that in his estimation she was able to decide between right and wrong. The defense had contended that if she intentionally injured the baby, which she denied, she did so in a fit of temporary insanity.

Her attorney, in his closing argument, pictured Mrs. Dybicz as a "helpless child," mentally ill, "badgered by police into telling so many stories that now she doesn't know herself which is the true one."

Grant urged the jury to find Mrs. Dybicz guilty. He said her defense boiled down to the statement that "I didn't do it, but if I did it, I was insane."

If the motion for new trial is overruled, Levy is expected to ask the court that his client be granted probation.

WITH THE AMERICAN 3D ARMY BEYOND THE MOSELLE RIVER, Nov. 14.—Infantry of Lt. Gen. Patton's 3d army closed in on Metz today from the west and south to within two miles of that important German fortress city.

There were strong indications that the Germans already were evacuating the Metz area thru an "escape gap" which now is only eight miles wide, and there was some belief that Metz may not be defended much longer.

South of Metz 5th infantry division troops took Fort l'Yser near Orny and pushed within two miles of the city limits. They also took five towns and cleaned out l'Hopital woods after seizing Fort l'Yser.

Troops of the 95th division meanwhile advanced within three miles of Metz on the west, making a two mile gain that placed them under the guns of Forts Driant and Marival.

Fort Heavily Trapped.

Fort l'Yser was undefended, as were Fort l'Aisne and two smaller forts near Verny, which the 5th division took yesterday. Fort l'Yser, however, was heavily booby trapped, including the front entrance, which had a wire fastened to an anti-personnel mine.

Neither fort contained large guns when seized, but their arsenals held large quantities of small arms ammunition as well as undamaged machine guns, rifles, and automatic weapons.

Fort l'Aisne is large enough to house a regiment in its extensive sleeping quarters. It has sumptuous officers' lounges with deep carpets, elegant furniture, clocks, crystal glasses, and numerous pictures of Hitler.

Both forts have miles of underground passages. They were built by the French, facing south, and later were remodeled by the Germans. There were indications that l'Aisne was hastily abandoned—there were dirty dishes, uneaten food, and fresh meat in the kitchen.

Extend Northern Bridgehead.

In the northern sector of the 3d army front, 90th division troops effected a juncture with 95th division infantry men to the north of Thionville, 16 miles north of Metz, and enlarged the Koenigmacher bridgehead by three miles, capturing the village of Kerling.

2 Destroyers and a Cruiser Hit at Manila

PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, Nov. 14 (AP).—American 3d fleet carrier planes sank or damaged 14 Japanese ships and one floating dock, shot down 28 planes, and strafed 130 more in renewed raids on the Manila area Sunday.

The enemy counter-attacked the carrier task group and one of our surface ships was damaged, Adm. Nimitz announced in a bulletin today.

[Both Tokyo radio and the Japanese controled Manila radio announced earlier that 800 American planes struck Manila bay shipping, hitting the Cavite navy yard and Clark air field. Tokyo claimed one American battleship was sunk by suicide pilots east of Luzon Island.]

Cruiser Is Damaged.

Nimitz summed up this damage inflicted by Hellcat fighters, Avenger torpedo planes, and Helldiver bombers:

One light cruiser badly damaged.
An estimated 11 cargo ships and oilers sunk or left ablaze.
One floating dock torpedoed.

Docks Are Blown Up.

Many docks in the Manila bay area and Cavite navy yard were struck.

There was no indication whether any of these ships were previously damaged in the October naval action in the Philippines or by carrier strikes, or whether they were newly arrived at Luzon.

Ten Japanese planes were shot down while attacking the carrier group and 18 out of 20 which intercepted the American raiders were shot out of the air over Luzon.

Adm. Sherman Commands.

An estimated 130 to 140 single and twin engined planes strafed Legaspi, Manila, and Clark fields on Luzon.

Adm. Nimitz disclosed that Rear Adm. Frederick C. Sherman commanded the carrier task groups involved.

Marine Corsair planes sank a small enemy vessel in a bombing and strafing run on the northern Palaus Saturday. Hellcats and Liberators bombed Koror, Malakal and Arakabesan islets in the Palau group.

REVEAL FRENCH FORMING ARMY IN NORTH AFRICA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 14.—A new French expeditionary force is being formed in North Africa, diplomatic observers here disclosed tonight. When equipped it is expected to be sent to the far east to take part in any attempt to free Indo-China from the Japs.

Altho the French must depend on allied shipping to carry their troops, what remains of the French fleet, now equivalent to about one-quarter of the pre-war French navy, includes the battleship Richelieu, cruisers and destroyers, which were stationed at Dakar and Alexandria and the aircraft carrier Béarn, which sheltered in the Antilles.

German Castle Yields Treasure Trove

WITH AMERICAN FORCES IN GERMANY, Nov. 14 (AP).—A Minnesota G. I. browsing thru a bookcase in an ancient German castle got the shock of his life when he stumbled on a hidden treasure of diamonds, pearls, gold, and silver heirlooms worth a fortune.

"I'd read a lot of stories about treasures," said Sgt. Robert Awe of St. Paul, today, "and thought they only happened in books. When I found this stuff myself it sure gave me a funny feeling."

Castle Badly Wrecked.

The incident occurred in the four story brown stone Rimburg castle located on the border of Germany adjoining the Dutch town of Rimburg. It was a former residence of German barons, but in recent years had been occupied by Siegfried von Brauchitsch, who was arrested by the Gestapo because of his anti-Nazi feelings.

The castle was badly wrecked when the Yanks ousted the Germans from the building. Poking thru the debris, Awe noticed a piece of black cloth back of a bookcase and peered behind it out of curiosity. There hidden away in the wall were gold chalices and jewelry, more than 100 pieces of family silver, Chinese art trinkets, a fur opera cape, and a valuable coin and stamp collection.

Lift Out Sparkling Tiara.

But the eyes of Awe and a companion, Corp. Charles Triggs of Delphi, Ind., really popped when they lifted out a sparkling tiara of diamonds and pearls.

"It was made of six big pearls and 40 or 50 diamonds," Awe said. "It left us breathless. Then we got scared it might get stolen and we called our captain."

Capt. James W. Edwards, Enterprise, Ala., in turn summoned a civil affairs officer who arranged for the valuables to be stored in a safe place.

"I was glad to see the last of it—it was too much for me," Awe declared after the treasure had been safetly stored away.

Lt. John Ball, Auburn, Ala., praised Awe for seeing that the treasure got into safe hands and said "all the credit goes to the sergeant."

YANKS STRETCH NOOSE AROUND JAP LEYTE LINE

M'Arthur Repulses Enemy Landing.

GEN. MAC ARTHUR'S HDQ., Philippines, Nov. 15 [Wednesday]—(AP).—Successful enveloping movements by Americans of the 24th infantry and dismounted 1st cavalry divisions have fashioned a new trap which threatened today to annihilate the Japanese forces on the north end of Leyte Island's Ormoc corridor.

The 24th infantrymen drove a spearhead thru the mountain country southwest of Pinamapoan to threaten the Yamashita line below Limon, Gen. MacArthur reported.

The strategy was well executed. While units of the 24th fighting along the Ormoc road maintained pressure to contain the Japanese, other elements of the division swung thru the mountains to the southwest and cut back toward the Ormoc road. At the same time the 1st cavalry swung toward the road from the east and southeast.

Regiment in Strength.

This placed the Japanese in the position of having to retire or face possible annihilation. MacArthur estimated the Japanese force thus threatened as "a reenforced regiment." This would give no exact indication of the size.

On the southern end of the western Leyte battlefield small scale Japanese attempts to bring in reenforcements were repulsed by troops of the American 7th division which caught the enemy moving forward in small barges toward Damulaan, 14 miles south of Ormoc.

Fierce Battle on Road.

This was the first mention in more than a week of the 7th division driving toward Ormoc, only remaining reenforcement port for the enemy, from the south.

Meanwhile fighting was heavy along the bitterly contested road which runs from Ormoc to Carigara bay, sole land supply line for the Japanese along the Ormoc corridor.

Units of the American 1st cavalry are closing in on the Ormoc road from Hill 1525 and Mt. Catabaran, the bulletin said, with the effective support of artillery.

MacArthur reported ineffective enemy harassing raids on shipping and shore installations and said 13 enemy aircraft were shot down by fighters and anti-aircraft fire.

Yanks Prove Heroism.

WITH THE 24TH DIVISION ON LEYTE, Nov. 11 [Delayed]—(AP).—Pvt. William Spoonhour of Chambersburg, Pa., spearheaded American infantry forces during fighting on Leyte which not only established contact with the Japanese but supplied information which enabled the Americans to train heavy artillery on them. Even after the fighting started he crawled forward and observed enemy positions.

Sgt. William Byess of Chatsworth, Ill., led a squad which later wiped out a gun. Pvt. Enos Torsh of Lachine, Mich., succeeded in spotting a Japanese mortar position and driving the enemy away with automatic rifle fire while wounded were being withdrawn.

Staff Sgt. Charles Gregg, Cleveland, O., a mortar section leader, hauled his weapon forward thru Japanese fire, set it up, and fired 200 rounds, accounting for a large percentage of 98 Japanese killed.

Staff Sgt. William F. Downey of Divernon, Ill., whose platoon officer was killed, took over and led the unit across open ground to reduce a Japanese machine gun position.

JAPS' 'NEW ODOR IN ASIA' GIBED IN FILIPINO PAPER

Guerrilla Sheet Razzes Collaborators.

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LEYTE ISLAND, P. I., Nov. 14.—"The new odor in east Asia," is what the Liberator, a Philippine guerrilla newspaper, has dubbed what the Japs call their new order. The Liberator is a weekly mimeographed publication.

Some weeks it has as many as 40 pages, edited by former newspaper men, lawyers, business men, and other well educated persons. It is expertly fashioned with news, editorials, and jokes about the Japs. War news from the entire world fills several pages. It is obtained from the San Francisco radio and the "Voice of Freedom," the allied radio in the Southwest Pacific.

In its home front news the Liberator deals with collaborators. Carmen Planas, once known as the sweetheart of Manila, is charged with selling motor cars to the Japs. Jaefina Phobaga, a woman lawyer, is also accused of obtaining cars for the Japs. Dominador Pan, former legislator, is called a spy.

"Mauro Baradi, that emaciated windbag, I am the noise of the new Philippines, beware," the Liberator warned. "You might talk yourself to kingdom come."

Tell of Davao Bombing.

Vicente Duzman, former Manila reporter, was first anti-Jap, but after a "rejuvenation trip to Japan" and being swamped with pretty girls, "has developed a phobia against the Americans," the Liberator reports, adding sarcastically, "Vic, you are the pride of the newspaper profession."

One issue carries a firsthand account of the first American bombing of Davao. "The Japanese were caught unawares," the account reads. "Sudden deafening explosions lifted us from our bed. There was pandemonium. The Japs frantically ran and shouted. The earth shook, twisted parts of buildings and planes flew in all directions.

"The concussion was stunning. I thought it was like being squeezed by a giant's hands, with my eyes ready to pop out. Then there was a lull, the bombers had gone as quietly as they had come. Fires were raging. That dawn I saw the whole field in a shambles. The dead in grotesque positions were lying about. Injured laborers were not treated until Filipino doctors were rounded up in the afternoon."

Prints Guerrilla Songs.

The Japs shouted "atrocity!" after the bombing and ordered reprisals, but the Liberator adds that the bombing was justified.

Another issue carried the music and words for two guerrilla songs, "Song of the Guerrillero," and "Quezon Guerrilla March." Each carries instructions to guerrillas. One copy expertly states the allies' war aims. Excerpts from this statement are:

"I am a guerrillero because it was my good fortune to drink in democratic principles in public schools and the durable ideas of democracy were ingrained in me. I will fight for these principles. To me democracy is beautiful beyond words, and the loss of it means the death of everything I cherish in life."

Jibes at the Japs.

The Liberator is full of jibes at the Japanese. A Tokyo citizen, it reports, was tired of war and decided to kill himself by drink. He bought three bottles of gin, but they were ersatz, so he lived. He bought a rope to hang himself, but it was ersatz and broke, so he lived. He decided to live. He went to a restaurant to bolster his morale, but the food was ersatz, so he died.

The Liberator quotes "dummy news" published in the Manila Tribune under Jap control. A lone unarmed ambulance plane, it quotes, downed two American fighters "by suffocating the pilots with the new odor."

Railroader Must Pay Fine for Pushing Union Negro

Judge N. J. Bonelli in Boys' court yesterday refused to vacate a $5 fine imposed on Harold J. Montie, 8405 St. Lawrence av., railroad foreman, found guilty Aug. 2 of "pushing around" a Negro union official. Montie, general foreman of the New York Central railroad roundhouse at 63d st. and Indiana av., was accused by Sam McWilliams, 3128 Vernon av., president of local 510, International Brotherhood of Firemen and Oilers, of pushing him when he called on Montie July 7 to settle a union grievance.

SHELL RATIONING BY 'IKE' SHOWS NEED FOR PAPER

Chicago Is Urged to Break All Records.

The waste paper you are discarding or burning may be enough to make the casing for that last shell required to bring the surrender of Metz.

Shipments of ammunition, food, and supplies of all kinds to the Pacific front also depend on paper. Waste paper is still the most critically needed war material.

Spurred by Undersecretary of War Patterson's warning that artillery ammunition is now being rationed on the western European front, many organizations in Chicago are increasing their efforts to set a new record in the collection of waste paper here.

Coöperation of All Needed.

Boy and Girl Scouts, civic clubs, women's clubs, and others are doing all they can, but a still greater effort is necessary if Chicago is to meet the greater need and eclipse its past records. The wholehearted coöperation of every family is needed.

More than 100,000 pupils in the city and parochial schools are now in a drive which will end Friday. The record of 500 tons collected by the schools last spring probably will be broken, but Chicago must provide more waste paper than that if the demands of the army and navy are to be met.

Out of dozens of critical situations arising from the lack of sufficient paper is that of the shortage of artillery ammunition cited by Patterson. Paper is used in the manufacture of shell casings, in packaging ammunition, and for countless other war purposes.

Future Needs More Critical.

In reporting Gen. Eisenhower's cable for more artillery ammunition Patterson pointed out that, while production had tripled since last Jan. 1, the demands on the fighting fronts over the world had outstripped even this increased production, and the future needs may become even more critical.

The increased distance to the Philippines fighting area, with the greater need for protection of supplies on the long sea voyage and against the damp tropical climate after arrival, call for paper in far greater quantities than in the war's earlier stages.

Many pupils will cover the neighborhoods this week with wagons to collect waste paper. Save every scrap you can for them or for other organizations coöperating in the collection.

Sisters Get Probation on Shop Lifting Charge

Two sisters accused of shoplifting dresses and earrings valued at $8.75 from the Sears store, 405 S. State st., were placed on probation for six months by Judge Frank E. Donoghue in Women's court yesterday. They are Mrs. Margaret Lucas, 24, and Miss Agnes Horan, 19, the latter a hat check girl, both of 4513 Lake Park av.

CHINESE ADMIT JAPS CAPTURE LIUCHOW BASE AND CHIENKIANG

CHUNGKING, China, Nov. 14 (AP).—The Chinese command today acknowledged loss of Liuchow, big south China base which the Japanese had claimed last week and where the United States air forces already had abandoned their last air field.

A Chinese bulletin said Liuchow was lost on Nov. 11 and that the town of Chienkiang, 55 miles southwest of Liuchow on the Nanning highway, had fallen the same day. The Chinese said the Japanese assailing their positions 18 miles east of Ishan on the Kwangsi-Kweichow railway, 45 miles from Liuchow, had suffered heavily and that the attacks had weakened. It was added, however, that a Japanese column moving northwest on the railway had attacked Locheng, 40 miles northwest of Liuchow.

It was not yet clear whether the Japanese thrusts west from Liuchow were a drive for Kweichow province, or merely screening operations for the right flank. Loss of Chienkiang meant the Japanese had advanced more than 250 miles.

PRESS WIRELESS BEGINS SERVICE IN PHILIPPINES

BY WALTER SIMMONS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LEYTE ISLAND, P. I., Nov. 14.—This is the first TRIBUNE news story to be transmitted from the Philippines by Press Wireless, Inc., a coöperative enterprise owned jointly by seven large American newspapers, including THE TRIBUNE.

Beginning today Press Wireless will bring American readers faster and fuller accounts of the battle for the Philippines. Capable of operating at the incredible speed of 400 words a minute under good conditions, the station is directly beamed on Los Angeles. There its code signals are picked up and transcribed and relayed to New York, where it is distributed.

Nine-Man Crew Arrives.

Headed by H. Stovall, Gardena, Cal., the nine-man crew arrived in the Philippines Nov. 5. It includes George R. Luckey, engineer, Los Angeles, Cal.; Forrest Bartlett, Gardena, Cal.; Robert H. Christian, and Joseph Petta, Brooklyn, N. Y.; E. F. Branch, Pasadena, Cal.; W. K. Watson, Arcadia, Cal.; C. E. Ford, New York City, and E. J. Cyckewick, Valley Stream, Long Island, N. Y.

Press Wireless offers the only direct code transmission between the Philippines and the United States. Previously the army signal corps had valiantly served as a transmission agency via voice broadcast to San Francisco. The only other facility is a beam wireless at Hollandia, New Guinea, controled by the Australian government and part of the world-wide British communications combine.

Like System in Belgium.

New York, Nov. 14 [Special].—A. Warren Norton, president of Press Wireless, in making announcement of the new service from the Philippines, said today it will be identical to that given by the company's mobile station which has been in operation for the press on European battlefields since June 13, seven days after the landing in Normandy.

The new Pacific communications link will be available to the press and radio networks for news and radiophoto material and was made possible by action of the federal communications commission, the joint chiefs of staff, and the board of war communications.

Crew Highly Trained.

Operating the Pacific station, which has equipment similar to that of the mobile transmitter in Belgium, is a highly skilled crew of engineers and other technicians especially trained. The transmitter and other units can be quickly moved to new locations as required.

To assist in handling the first communications from the Pacific, E. E. Eldredge, manager of operations for Press Wireless, arrived in Los Angeles a few days ago. E. N. Dotson, manager of the Pacific division, and other officials and engineers of the company have been preparing for several weeks under the direction of D. K. Deneuf, director of communications, to speed all dispatches.

NEWS PHOTOGRAPHER KILLED AT ORMOC BY JAP SNIPER'S BULLET

Frank Prist.

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HDQ., Philippines, Nov. 14 (AP).—A Japanese sniper's bullet killed Frank Prist, 30, Acme News picture photographer, in the Ormoc sector yesterday. Prist, who was born in Chicago, was the fourth war correspondent to die in action since the campaign started and the 13th killed in the Pacific area.

He was buried today in the same cemetery where two other correspondents, Asahel Bush of the Associated Press and Stanley Gunn of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram were interred after their death in a Japanese bombing raid Oct. 26 at Tacloban.

Prist, who photographed American troops in action all the way from Buna in New Guinea to the Philippines, was killed while waiting for a replacement, Willard Hatch of San Francisco, to permit him to return to the United States. He had been given an opportunity to return a few months earlier, but rejected it so he could cover the Philippine campaign.

YANK TRAPPED ON ISLE SAVED BY CHICAGOAN

Lt. Comdr. Carroll.

Lt. Comdr. John Blake Carroll, 30, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Carroll of 4522 N. Albany av., was in command of the United States destroyer that rescued George Tweed, an American navy radioman, from Guam last July while the island still was occupied by Japanese, Carroll's parents disclosed last night. Tweed had been on the island since 1939.

Vice Adm. Mitscher cited Carroll for heroic achievement in the operation and presented the bronze star medal to him. Carroll observed a flashing light signal from a cliff on Guam, judged it to come from a naval man seeking rescue, and landed a rescue party that took Tweed off the island without loss, Adm. Mitscher stated.

TROOPS GET WAR NEWS, BUT IS THE SUBWAY IN USE?

BY WALTER SIMMONS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LEYTE ISLAND, P. I., Nov. 14.—A newcomer to the Pacific war theater is impressed most of all by the average G. I.'s ignorance of what is going on at home.

"I've been trying to find out for more than a year if they ever got the Chicago subway opened," said Lt. John K. Constantino, 3238 Lakewood av., a former Chicago printer. "But I've never run across anybody that knew."

A private complained that he never learned how the last two games of the world series came out. Another G. I. was surprised that Wendell Willkie and Al Smith were dead.

They Get War News.

The charge of blind spots is wholly in the field of home news. The army has done a great job of keeping its men informed of war developments.

More than three weeks after invasion day there is still only one daily publication and that is produced by the 10th corps' special services section. It is a four page mimeographed job limited to about 900 copies daily. Two Chicagoans had major roles in the enterprise. They are Lt. Malvin C. Koch, on leave from Esquire magazine, and Staff Sgt. Bernard Cerlan, 301 N. Taylor av., Oak Park, a former radio artist representative.

Publication began Oct. 25, five days after the American landing, and has continued uninterrupted. The only other publication on Leyte is the biweekly Free Philippines distributed by the office of war information.

How's Tracy Doing?

The Free Philippines is supervised by Fred Marquardt, former Chicago newspaper man. Its contents are addressed wholly to the Filipinos. It is published on odds and ends of paper and circulation is approximately 10,000.

Such efforts do not tell the soldiers how Notre Dame is doing or which way the stock market is moving or whether the wave of strikes in war industries is receding or whether Dick Tracy has caught up with the Brow. This has given the men, out here two or three years, a curiously distorted notion of happenings at home.

There is a widespread impression that everybody in the United States is getting rich from the war. There is no denying the growing rift between the fighters and the stay-at-homes. Adequate information is the only safeguard against such misunderstanding.

CHINESE GAIN 122 MILES IN A MONTH IN BURMA DRIVE

HDQ. ALLIED TROOPS IN NORTH BURMA, Nov. 14 (AP).—Chinese troops pushing across north Burma toward their native land have by-passed Japanese fortified Bhamo and may bring Gen. Stilwell's 2 year old dream of a road to China to realization within weeks.

The Chinese drive south from Myitkyina has progressed so fast that heavy equipment has been hard pressed to keep pace with the advance, and the air force has not yet been called upon for close support. In a month these troops have covered 122 miles without meeting serious resistance from the Japanese. The Chinese have another 100 to go—60 miles southeast to Namhkam and another 40 back to the northeast—before getting back on the old Burma road and into China.

Now the Chinese are on an all-weather highway that will lead them to China. Extensive enemy fortifications along the route from Myitkyina to Bhamo were found abandoned and were occupied by the Chinese without firing a shot.

LONDON ROUND TRIP 22 HOURS, $214 VIA B-29

That's Peace Time Plan for Super Forts.

The Boeing Aircraft company, which builds Flying Fortresses and Super Fortresses for war, lifted the curtain yesterday on the first of the new giant transoceanic aircraft it intends to build for peace. It is a revolutionized B-29 Super Fortress, the plane now making periodic bombing trips from China to the Japanese homeland.

Most interesting to American air transport operators is the fact that it is designed to carry up to 100 passengers 3,500 miles nonstop at a cruising speed of 340 miles an hour at an operating cost of a penny a passenger mile. Top speed is 400 miles an hour, the company said.

Now Undergoing Tests.

C. L. Egtvedt, chairman of the Boeing company, said that a prototype of the new plane, built for military transport, is now undergoing tests at the company's Seattle [Wash.] airport.

The official title of the new aircraft is the strato cruiser, but it has been known to engineers who designed it as model 377. It is a B-29 Super Fortress only in wings, tail surfaces, and landing gear, which are identical with those in the bomber. Four engines with a take-off rating of 3,500 horse power each drive it. The rated horse power of these motors is 2,800 and they are larger than the 2,200 horse power plants installed in the B-29.

Also a Luxury Sleeper.

Like most of the new American transports ready to come off production lines, the strato cruiser is convertible. It can carry 100 passengers in comfortable reclining chairs. This about equals the capacity of two streamlined day coaches. Fitted as a luxury sleeper, it has 72 day seats or 36 large berths in the upper cabin and room for 14 persons in a lower deck observation, dining, and cocktail lounge.

As an all-cargo plane, the strato cruiser has 3,000 cubic feet of cargo space, with a loading ramp and handling equipment, and can carry a pay load of 35,000 pounds for a direct operational cost of about 5 cents a ton mile.

Fares Are Low.

The plane's speed and 3,500 mile cruising range conceivably would permit it to fly passengers nonstop over the great circle route from Chicago to London in about 11 hours. Chicago and London are 3,962 air miles apart.

Some of the practical theorists on international aviation envision an era not long after the end of the war when passenger fares of 3 cents a mile will be more or less standard everywhere. This means a round trip from Chicago to London would cost $214; to Paris, $224; to Moscow, $268; to Jerusalem, $334; to Khartoum, $375; to Chungking, $401; to Johannesburg, $470, and to Buenos Aires, $302.

WPB RESTORES COPPER ALLOYS FOR PIN MAKING

Heating and Plumbing Also to Benefit.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—The common pin and the safety pin, both victims of metal conservation, are to be restored to their pre-Pearl Harbor serviceability by a war production board order today allotting 16 million pounds of copper base alloys for manufacture of these and other familiar civilian products. The war model pin lacks elasticity and resistance to rust.

Slide and snap fasteners for clothing also are on the list of civilian essentials that will benefit from the order. Other items include a wide line of plumbing and heating components such as faucets, tanks, floats, and shower arms.

Labor Saving Expected.

The announcement said the allotment is large enough to permit reconversion to normal copper usage of most of the listed products at their present production levels. The improved products will reach the market as soon as manufacturers can arrange for the change.

Unlike other releases of raw materials for civilian goods, where benefits have been limited by labor shortages, the allotment of copper base alloys is expected to ease the labor problem. It was said that a saving in man power will result thru the use of materials for which manufacturing equipment was originally designed. Use of war time substitute materials resulted in a costly number of rejected items.

Plumbing Use Eased.

Other consumer durable goods to be manufactured with copper alloys include silver plated table flatware, mechanical pencils, staples, laundry nets and identification pins, law enforcement badges, fare tokens, church goods, and instruction and identification plates for machinery.

Other plumbing and heating items on the list include valves, plugs, and strainers. Components may be made for scales and balances and for commercial laundry and dry cleaning machinery. Underground water and gas service connections will receive some of the alloy as will fire hose couplings and automatic sprinkler heads.

Diaper Cans Authorized.

Ash sifters, diaper cans, liquid and dry measures, utility baskets, and watering pots have been added to the list of galvanized ware articles that may be made. These articles are expected to reach retail stores in limited quantities next year, the WPB said.

Only an "exceedingly small" number of the 2,800,000 innerspring mattresses authorized for production by about 300 manufacturers in 1944 and 1945 can be completed in the near future, the WPB said. It was explained that the facilities needed to make the wire suitable for the mattresses are producing communications wire and wire rope for the army and navy.

9 KILLED, 9 INJURED IN NEWFOUNDLAND ARMY PLANE CRASH

HARMON FIELD, Newfoundland, Nov. 14 (AP).—Army officials announced today that nine persons were killed and nine others injured in a crash Sunday of an army transport plane against the side of a mountain 30 miles west of the air transport command base here.

Army officials said the plane was en route overseas and had left La Guardia field, N. Y., late Saturday night. It was operated by a commercial air line under contract to the army.

E. C. Watkins, pilot, of Long Island, N. Y., was killed, as were four others of the civilian crew of six. Four of the dead and all of the injured were service men.

The crash occurred shortly after 1:28 a. m. Sunday morning after the plane had reported by radio to the Harmon field tower preparatory to landing. The plane was discovered about five hours later by searching planes near the tip of the Port au Port peninsula.

The army announcement said operations officers reported visibility was good at the time of the crash, but added that a heavy southeasterly wind was blowing.

PENNSY TRAIN HITS WRECKAGE OF 2 FREIGHTS

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 14 [Special].—Five persons were injured tonight when two freight trains collided head-on on the main line of the Pennsylvania railroad near Newport, 20 miles northwest of here, and a west bound special passenger train carrying soldiers plowed into wreckage caused by the pile-up.

Those injured were the engineer and fireman of the west bound freight train and two porters and an enlisted man on the passenger train, according to reports from Newport. All traffic was blocked temporarily on the four tracks and railroad officials at Altoona said attempts to clear the line were under way.

The passenger train was en route from New York to Chicago. The crash between the freight trains took place about 9 p. m. [Chicago time] and that of the passenger train about five minutes later. Both freight trains were traveling on a track ordinarily reserved for west bound traffic. S. H. Leydick of State Line, Pa., fireman of the west bound freight, was treated at a Harrisburg hospital for severe face cuts. W. L. McFarland of Tyrone, Pa., engineer of the same train, received treatment in Newport for a leg injury.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14 (AP).—President Roosevelt today sent to the senate the nomination of Jefferson Caffery as United States ambassador to France. Caffery already is functioning in that capacity, having gone to Europe after the liberation of Paris as this government's representative to the De Gaulle government.

Wolf Hunt in Kansas City? Silly, It's Only a Coyote

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 14 (AP).—Startled incoming travelers at Union station heard shotgun blasts and were told by wise-cracking cab drivers it was "just trappers shootin' wolves." The fact was police were on a coyote hunt on Kansas City's main street just two blocks south of the busy station. They bagged the animal as he tried to climb a steep cliff.

THIS FURNITURE PROMOTER ISN'T SITTING PRETTY

Kenneth Meyers, 34, arrested a few days ago when he entered a north side flat and attempted to sell furniture which didn't belong to him, was held to the grand jury on three charges of burglary yesterday by Judge John Gutknecht in Felony court.

Kenneth Meyers.

The court fixed Meyers' bonds at $3,000 when police revealed they also hold a warrant charging that Meyers, alias Wolcott Wright, is a fugitive from a Georgia chain gang. When the court announced the decision the nattily dressed prisoner only said that Miss Flossie Blankensop, 22, of Benton, Ill., arrested with him, knew nothing about his activities. Judge Gutknecht ordered the girl sent home.

Town Hall police arrested Meyers in a second hand furniture dealer's establishment at 4428 Broadway. Police said he had broken into an apartment and attempted to sell the furniture, telling the dealer he had to leave immediately for California.

HOPE FOR AIR PARLEY ACCORD TODAY IS SEEN

British, American Views Threshed Out.

BY FRANK HUGHES.

Heads of the three major delegations—British, Canadian, and United States—at the international civil aviation conference in the Stevens hotel were threshing out issues yesterday with the hope that they might reach an agreement by today.

Adolf A. Berle Jr., chairman of the American delegation and president of the conference, said in his press conference that talks among the three nations, aimed at reconciling differences, had been going on since 4:30 p. m. Sunday. He said he could make no public statement about the matters discussed, the probable course of the conversations, or when agreement can be expected.

Three Plans Discussed.

Each of the three nations presented drafts of plans for a world authority to govern international flying after the war and for interim machinery to operate from the end of the war until a world authority can be drawn up and ratified. It was learned that all three of these plans are being discussed.

The United States insists that any world authority must have only advisory powers and must not be regulatory. It also is pledged to wide open competition and flight privileges for all nations on the international airways.

The British and Canadians favor a strong world authority which would have complete control of international air operations, and want "regulated competition." The British delegation is specifying a system of traffic quotas for each nation, with regulation of flight frequencies, each air line being limited in the number of trips it can make.

"Material Progress" Made.

A conference spokesman said last night that "material progress" had been made in the discussions. It was thought that the jog jam virtually was broken and progress was being made toward a decision.

While there was no official inkling of what kind of decision might come out of the discussions, the feeling was that any progress made toward a compromise likely would be toward the United States position and away from the British-Canadian stand.

It may be tomorrow or even later before the decision is announced. The chiefs of the three delegations probably will prepare a draft of their agreement, if one is reached. This will go to two of the conference committees, where it will be "refined." Consultation with delegates of other nations—there are 54 at the conference—also will be necessary.

The drafting work alone probably will take 24 hours, it was learned. When all of these steps have been completed, some public announcement of the results will be made. The chiefs of the three major delegations have been in constant communication with other members of their parties.

'NO HELP' KEEPS 10 MACHINES IN GUN PLANT IDLE

BY CHARLES BALLENGER.

In every beachhead landing, in every battle in Europe, China, or the Pacific 155 mm. howitzers from the Link Belt Ordnance company, 306 W. 37th st., are tossing heavy shells into enemy positions. They're doing their job of backing up the infantry all over the world.

Yet in the main production room of the company plant yesterday 10 vital machines were standing idle. The operators stood with empty hands waiting for work because the Link Belt company could not find enough welders to keep up a constant flow of rough parts to the finishing machines.

Bigger Output Asked.

"The army has asked us to step up our production to 20 more guns a month," J. E. Martin, the plant general manager, said, "but it will be almost impossible to do so unless we can find welders for the preliminary work."

The company needs at least 50 more welders, Martin said, and the war man power commission has placed the plant in the "critical" class.

Working 12 Hours a Day.

"We're working 12 hours a day, seven days a week," one of them said, "but this gun is in such demand on all fronts that we can't keep up with the orders. Now we've got to find a way to meet the army's demand for 20 additional guns a month."

He sat down on a huge mass of twisted metal that will become a gun carriage and pushed his welding mask a little higher on his forehead.

"This is a good place to work," he said, "from both a patriotic and economic standpoint. Any one with any mechanical skill at all can earn 70 cents an hour while he's learning welding. Then he can get from 85 cents to $1.16 an hour, depending on his own skill. Besides that, you're making one of the most vital weapons the army uses."

Train for Six Weeks.

Martin gave the following facts about employment at the Link company:

The training period lasts six weeks, during which time a 70 cents an hour wage is paid. At the conclusion of the training period the novice is tested for his ability and classified as a class C welder, with an hourly pay of 85 cents an hour. As the worker's skill increases he is reclassified as a class B or A welder, receiving $1.06 and $1.16 as base hourly rates.

The average hourly rate in the plant, including overtime, is $1.34, with the average weekly pay check exceeding $70. The regular shifts are from 7 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. and 5:30 p. m. to 4 a. m. A nonprofit lunchroom is located in the plant.

No Union in Factory.

There is no union in the plant as a result of a recent vote among the employes. The union organizer is still working at the plant and said he liked the company and did not intend to leave.

The plant stands up well under inspection by a visitor. The floors are clean, all rooms are well lighted with fluorescent lighting, and the ventilation is good.

In peace time the Link company makes conveyor belts, industrial machinery, and all kinds of belt power units. All the production has been for war uses in recent years, leaving many industries in need of the company's products.

WOMEN GET $460,349 IN WAR FUND DRIVE, 77% OF BIG QUOTA

Women workers have collected $460,349 for the Community and War fund, 77 per cent of their quota of $600,000 in the current campaign, committee leaders reported at a meeting of the women's division yesterday at 140 S. Dearborn st.

Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams III., chairman of the special advance gifts committee, said her group had received $275,725; Mrs. Clifton Utley, chairman of the house to house canvassers, said they had collected $162,424, and Mrs. Henry Barrett, chairman, reported the clubs and organizations committee had collected $22,199.

Mrs. Bernice T. Van der Vries, chairman of the woman's division, received the reports. Twenty-seven thousand volunteers are in the division.

FOUND FATALLY SHOT.

John B. Elmore, 70, of 159 Van Buren st., a retired mail clerk, was found fatally shot, a revolver by his side, in a clump of bushes in Grant park near Harrison st. yesterday. He died later in St. Luke's hospital, where an inquest will be held today.

CLOSE CHARGES COMMUNIST GAG ON BROADCASTS

Sponsor Told to Drop Radio Critic.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 14 [Special].—Upton Close, veteran radio news commentator, disclosed here today that because of "pressure from various sources," the National Broadcasting company has served notice on his radio sponsor, the Sheaffer Pen company, "that it no long will sell it time on the air if I am not dropped."

Close said in an interview that certain radical and communistic elements were responsible for the action. He was found objectionable, he said, because of his discussion of "the danger of communism" during the Sunday afternoon commentaries he has been broadcasting for 27 months.

In Fort Madison, Ia., home of the Sheaffer Pen company, C. R. Sheaffer, president, said: "NBC notified us it wouldn't sell Close after Dec. 10. We aren't in a position to state the reasons, because we don't know them."

"No Comment," Says NBC.

From the main offices of the radio chain in New York came the terse statement that NBC "had no comment" on the matter.

Close explained his contract is with NBC and that the network contracted to sell his services to the pen company, which has sponsored his Sunday program during the more than two years it has been on the air.

"It is a most unusual procedure," Close said. "I have been with NBC four years and it has been my sales agent but while it is supposed to be selling me, it proceeds to unsell me to my sponsor without consulting or notifying me. So far as notice to me is concerned, NBC is still my agent.

Contract Renewed for Year.

"My program had a top Sunday rating, an audience of about 9 million listeners, and NBC had so advertised it. Only two weeks ago my contract was renewed for 52 weeks with, incidentally, a raise in pay. The fact that NBC would jeopardize one of its top programs indicates the pressure and the importance of this matter to the nation.

"I am perfectly willing to be a guinea pig to determine whether freedom of the air can be maintained in the face of un-American pressure to destroy American principles."

Close, who had come here to address the Memphis Executives' club, said he would "see this thing thru" but did not care to discuss his intended moves. Nor would he discuss in detail the pressure he said was being exerted against NBC.

Scene of North Side Invasion

(Story in adjoining column.)

NAVY TO REVEAL SECRET DEVICES AT BOND SHOWS

BY HARRY McCLAIN.

Naval ships, planes, rockets, and radio devices never shown to any persons except naval, marine, and Coast Guard combat personnel will be seen by Chicagoans for two weeks, beginnning Saturday, in the navy's giant 6th war loan show on Navy pier.

In addition to the pier show the navy will have two more centers—the first at Foster av. beach, where an "invasion" from Lake Michigan will be conducted at 2 p. m. Sunday, and the second at the Chicago airport where nine types of naval aircraft will be on exhibition. Jet assisted take-offs will be demonstrated daily with an F-6 F-5 Grumman Hellcat, newest of the navy's shipboard fighter planes.

Landing Craft to Be Used.

Among the invasion craft which will be used Sunday during the mock battle will be an LCM [landing craft, medium], LCI [landing craft, infantry], LCVP [landing craft, vehicle and personnel], amphibian tanks, amphibian trucks, Coast Guard vessels, the training ship Wilmette, and miscellaneous craft necessary to invasions by water.

The Foster av. beach landing demonstration will be repeated four times during the run of the "Pacific Theater" show, once at night. Two landing demonstrations also will be given in Jackson park, one at night.

Adm. King, commander in chief United States fleet, and Treasury Secretary Morgenthau will be in Chicago Saturday for the opening of the show.

On Saturday night 1,600 officials of Chicago and Cook county plants which use the pay roll savings plan for war bond buying will attend a "navy chow banquet" at the pier.

Bob Hope to Broadcast.

The executives also will get a preview of the 16 national radio shows which will originate at the pier when Bob Hope, Jerry Colonna, and Frances Langford, who have entertained thousands of service men in the Pacific and European theaters, participate in a coast to coast show with navy and treasury officials and Skinnay Ennis and his band.

Admittance to the show on Navy pier will be by invitation from the treasury department. Invitations may be obtained at any booth where bonds are sold, or from any bond salesperson. It is not necessary to buy bonds to obtain an invitation, one of which will be good for an entire family.

A Quonset hut theater, sponsored by the State Street council to spur the 6th war loan drive, will be opened today at State and Madison sts., and the public will be invited to attend continuous showings of Pacific combat movies and selected training films. Shows will begin at 10 a. m. daily and each will last 30 minutes. Displayed alongside the theater is a Grumman Hellcat fighter plane.

TWO AIR FORCES OFFICERS ARE MADE COLONELS

Lt. Col. Edgar L. Love, 2815 Harrison st., Evanston, resident representative of the army at the Dodge Chicago plant which makes B-29 engines, and Lt. Col. Robert L. Finkenstaedt, 2373 Pierce rd., Highland Park, chief assistant to Col. Nelson S. Talbott, district supervisor of the air forces midcentral procurement district, Chicago, yesterday were promoted to the rank of colonel. Col. Love is a West Point graduate who left the army in 1926 to enter private industry, and Col. Finkenstaedt, a World War I. veteran of the aviation section, signal corps, is a newspaper publisher and aviation consultant to the civil aeronautics authority.

HUNTER KILLS WOLF IN M'HENRY COUNTY WITH THREE SHOTS

A gray, female wolf, believed by McHenry county farmers to be responsible for the slaughter of many of their chickens and fall pigs, was shot and killed yesterday by Charles Likens of 618 Westmoreland av., Waukegan. The wolf, about three feet tall and weighing 70 pounds, was killed with three blasts from a 12 gauge automatic shotgun on the farm of William Dougherty, southwest of the village of McHenry and near the Fox river. Likens and his father, Frank, were returning from a pheasant hunt when they saw the wolf about 50 yards away. Likens said he would have the wolf stuffed, mounted, and placed in his home.

WAUKEGAN CUTS RETIREMENT AGE IN SCHOOL JOBS

The Waukegan grade school board yesterday set the retirement age of all grade school employes at 65 years and made the new ruling effective in June, 1945. Wallace A. Green, board president, said the action was in line with other progressive school systems in the state. Previously the retirement age had been 70. Green said the new ruling would affect the superintendent, John S. Clark, who became 65 this month, a teacher, and two janitors. Clark has been with the school since 1912, and has held his present post since 1918.

FRANCE TO GET U.S. RUBBER FOR MILITARY TIRES

Synthetic Product Will Be Sent Abroad.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 14. — Lend-lease American synthetic rubber is being sent to France where it is to be manufactured into tires for allied armies, Brig. Gen. Wayne R. Allen, general purchasing agent, disclosed today in discussing aid furnished the United States in reverse lend-lease. The allies will supply fuel so the factories can reopen but the French government will pay the labor.

Altho the manufacture of tires in France will require the importation of rubber and other raw materials, Allen said, the required transportation will be about one-third that needed for the shipment of finished products.

Eases Strain on Production.

The scheme, he continued, will ease the heavy strain on production of heavy tires in the United States and United Kingdom and will make available to the French their minimum tire requirements for civilian needs. It also will enable French factories to return to production, thereby providing employment.

The French government, it was pointed out, has greatly assisted United States forces since D day by supplying civilian labor. In Paris alone, Allen said, American forces employ more than 11,000 French civilians indirectly and an additional 18,000 directly. The latter include French civilians who work in 374 hotels and are provided by the French without payment by the United States.

Praises French Authorities.

Allen praised French authorities for providing buildings, warehouses, dock facilities, and civilian labor services, and particularly for meeting demands for items urgently needed for continuance of military operations.

One such reverse lend-lease item is the Eiffel tower which is being used by the United States as a radio station.

MURDER TRIAL JURY ACQUITS FOR 'WAR SHOCK'

Edward F. Ziniel, 44, a former sailor who pleaded that because of "war shock" he didn't know what he was doing when he stabbed to death Gerald M. Sincock, 35, a navy pharmacist's mate, outside a Howard st. tavern last May 25, was acquitted of murder last night.

Ziniel sat apparently stunned for five minutes. A woman spectator who rushed forward and embraced him identified herself as Miss Alvina Shapiro, Ziniel's fiancee, his coworker at the R. L. Polk Publishing company, and a resident of the same building as Ziniel at 1416 Greenleaf st., Evanston.

A jury of 11 women and one man in Judge Frank M. Padden's Criminal court took little more than two hours to return the verdict.

Ziniel had been given a medical discharge from the navy. His wounds and injuries in 18 months of service in Africa, Sicily, and Italy were responsible for his mental state when he killed Sincock, Atty. William Scott Stewart argued.

BOY, 11, LOCKED IN AUTO TRUNK, RECANTS LITTLE

Long Beach, Cal., Nov. 14 (AP).—O, well, 9 year old David Bourbonnais' story of being locked in an auto trailer compartment for eight days was fractionally true.

The lad admitted to police today he had been confined in a trailer trunk for from 24 to 36 hours. Confronted by the boy he claimed had locked him in, David wavered in his story, then confessed he had run away from home "because I didn't want to go to school."

Police Inspector D. H. Spring said David told him he was trying to escape last Saturday's heavy rainstorm, crawled into the trunk, and that the door clicked shut accidentally. He was rescued Sunday.

Police previously had discredited the boy's original story that he was without food or water for eight days.

Lend-Lease Official Explains Shipment.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14 [Special].—Admitting that more than 40,000 United States made radios are now on sale to the people of India, while an acute shortage of them exists in this country, spokesmen for lend-lease today explained the situation away as "an old, old story."

"It was just another case of sending a requisition on a lend-lease allocation to meet a critical situation," said a foreign economics administration spokesman, "and then having the situation change overnight."

He explained that the radios, 40,917 of them, had been shipped to India on a lend-lease basis on April 2, 1942, to meet a "critical situation" caused by Japanese propaganda in that country, and that lend-lease thought the shipment worthwhile, since over half of the radios were earmarked for military use.

When the shipments reached India, the Japs' propaganda machine had broken down, and there was no strict lend-lease need for the radio sets.

So the Indian government paid the United States government cash for them, and they are now on sale commercially in New Delhi and other Indian cities.

"It happens all the time," added the FEA spokesman.

BLIZZARD PILES 20 FOOT DRIFTS IN BLACK HILLS

Rapid City, S. D., Nov. 14 (AP).—Blizzard conditions prevailed throughout the Black Hills region today as winds up to 48 miles an hour piled drifts ranging from 2 to 20 feet along highways. Immediately east of here about 400 cars were stalled on the highway to the army air base.

Reports from Minot, N. D., said a sleet storm swept across northwest North Dakota, breaking telephone wires and coating highways with ice. Western North Dakota was blanketed with six inches of snow.

Cheyenne, Wyo., reported a 12 inch snowfall at Lander and Worland. Winds up to 60 miles an hour accompanied the snow.

SEIZE HIGHWOOD TAVERN OWNER FOR 18TH TIME

Harold Snaveley, owner of the 100 club at 53 Highwood av., Highwood, Lake county, next door to a Methodist church, was arrested yesterday for the 18th time since Oct. 28 on a charge of operating a tavern without a license. Mayor Charles Portilla revoked the tavern license Oct. 28 after finding that it is located less than 100 feet from the church. Snaveley contends the license was taken away without a hearing. His appeal will be heard Monday by the Illinois liquor commission at a meeting in Chicago. He will appear at 7 p. m. Friday before Police Magistrate Nello Ori to answer yesterday's complaint. Ori will rule Saturday on hearings held Monday on the first four arrests.

YANKS 2 MILES FROM METZ; 3 TOWNS SEIZED

British Open Offensive In Holland.

ing four towns. No change was reported in the Uckange sector three miles south of Thionville.

[Another dispatch credited the 90th division with a 2½ mile advance, which put it within 1½ miles of the German border near the Luxemburg corner. Paris radio reported the German garrison of Thionville, heavily fortified steel center, had surrendered. For several weeks American troops have held the part of Thionville on the west bank of the Moselle, with Nazis clinging to the eastern half of the city. There was no allied confirmation that the city had been captured.]

No change of consequence was reported in the sector controled by the 80th infantry and 6th armored divisions 12 miles southeast of Metz, but units of the 4th armored straightened their lines between Thicourt and Baronville, some 20 miles southeasf of Metz and about 26 miles northeast of Nancy, and entered the town of Landoff.

Fights Onto High Ground.

The 35th division fought its way onto high ground overlooking the important road junction of Morhange where the Germans have concentrated much artillery and also are using some armor.

At the southern end of the 3d army line the 26th division has regained most of the ground lost during yesterday's counter-attacks and held its gains today.

Prisoners taken yesterday brought the total passed thru 3d army cages since the current line straightening action began six days ago to 5,606 and more were coming in today.

Extremely unpleasant weather, including driving sleet, made fighting more disagreeable than usual and again grounded our fighter bombers which when able to take the air have been of extremely great help in urging the Germans along the road toward the fatherland.

British Cross Two Canals.

LONDON, Nov. 14 (AP).—British 2d army troops today opened a strong drive in southeastern Holland and in the initial stages stormed across two canals and occupied at least two towns.

The British lashed out behind a barrage of 400 guns east of the Dutch village of Nederweert, 18 miles southwest of Venlo and some 38 miles northwest of Aachen.

The Tommies quickly established bridgeheads across the Noor and Wesen canals near Nederweert, and dispatches indicated German resistance was not heavy. The town of Meijel, which the Nazis employed some 50 tanks in capturing a few weeks ago, was found to have been evacuated by the enemy. Eind, a village a mile and a half southeast of Nederweert, was quickly seized.

Germans Counter-attack.

In the American 1st army sector in Germany the Germans launched a counter-attack which Lt. Gen. Hodges' troops repulsed with artillery fire. An indication of the stalemate there was given in reports to headquarters which showed only 53 prisoners taken by the entire 1st army during the day.

South of the Metz sector Lt. Gen. Patch's American 7th army smashed forward in a two-pronged attack north of Baccarat and southeast of Bruyeres. It was the strongest drive in weeks in the eastward bulge between Nancy and Belfort.

North of Baccarat the Americans captured Leintrey, Montigny, and Migneville early in their push thru the snow drifted foothills of the Vosges mountains. Patch's other spearhead punched thru Aumontzey and Campdray, four and six miles southeast of Bruyeres.

[In a dispatch from the front late last night, Tribune Correspondent Seymour Korman said American infantrymen in the northern thrust had overrun German dug in positions to achieve gains up to two miles east of Montigny and Migneville. The Germans were resisting strongly in trench lines east of Montigny and to a lesser degree east of Migneville. An Associated Press front dispatch said the Americans overran four towns in the Bruyeres sector.]

Allies Advance Along Front

HOLLANDER SEES NAZIS SEND V-2s TOWARD BRITAIN

MIDDELBURG, Holland, Nov. 13 [Delayed] — (AP). — On three successive days in early September the Germans launched V-2 rocket bombs in the direction of England from a small village now under water on this almost totally inundated island of Walcheren.

"They went up at an angle of probably 70 degrees," a Hollander said. "They traveled to a great height and then seemed to level off. The noise they made in the take-off was terrific. People who were nearby told me the Germans had to do some sort of stoking for almost six hours before they were ready to set off the rockets. They believed there were a considerable number of casualties among the handlers."

The Germans carted the torpedo-like rockets onto the island on massive trucks with trailers. The enemy apparently had planned further use of Walcheren as a launching site, but by then his retreating front line was drawing so close he presumably thought the island no longer was safe.

Robot Bombs Strike.

LONDON, Nov. 15 [Wednesday] (AP).—A barrage of flying bombs rocked parts of southern England during the night, causing a number of deaths. London had short alerts.

Boost Yank Postal Force to Handle Christmas Mail

LONDON, Nov. 14 (AP).—United States army and navy postal forces in England have been boosted 25 per cent to handle a total of 650,000 bags of mail containing Christmas packages and letters for forces in this war theater, expected to flood ports and bases by Dec. 1.

A DREAM COMES TRUE FOR A TIRED MAN IN FOXHOLE

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH U. S. 1ST ARMY IN GERMANY, Nov. 14.—A dream came true today for Pvt. Leo Crivello, 35, of Alton, Ill., and he's probably the happiest man in Europe. The tired soldier is going home with six comrades on a bond selling campaign. But what's more important he's going to see his wife.

"Do you know I have seen my wife just two weeks in our married life?" Crivello exclaimed. "We got married Jan. 1, 1942, and I went away to the army two weeks later."

The seven G. I.s who are being sent back to the United States to tell civilians what the war is like were chosen from the best front line troops of an American armored division.

Crivello, who has helped nurse a self propelled 105 mm. howitzer all the way from the Normandy beaches, was a mere alternate this morning. As such he watched seven more fortunate comrades leave their muddy foxholes for the first stage of the journey homeward.

Lieutenant Delivers News.

A short time later, a lieutenant hurried to his foxhole with the news that one of the original seven had declined to make the trip. The seventh man's reason cannot be told.

The others who will return home with Crivello stood in a basement of a German farm house grinning over their good luck while men in their unit muttered good humored remarks of envy from the sides of their mouths.

They were Corp Myles Gates, Kingsley, Ia.; Corp. Lars C. Larsons, Thompson, Ia.; Pvt. Marshall Thompson, Eagle Grove, Ia.; Sgt. Richard Vanderbloemen, West De Pere, Wis.; Pvt. Harry Gaby, Frisco, Tex., and Pvt. Louis Cocozza, Lawrence, Mass.

Crivello, a dark eyed, dark haired little man, sat in a corner of this command post quietly perhaps because he is the only married man of the seven. The rest exchanged banter with their comrades.

Troops Leave in a Truck.

A few moments later a truck stopped in front of the command post. The driver poked his head inside and cried, "Come on you guys. I can't wait all day. We're fighting a war here even if you're going home."

The seven doughboys smiled and fell into line behind Sgt. Vanderbloemen. They marched outside and climbed into the truck.

DIES IN FOUR FLOOR FALL.

Harrison L. Dodson, 54, of 3559 Vernon av., a Negro laborer, was killed yesterday when he fell four floors down an elevator shaft at the Troy Brass company, 2559 21st, where he was employed.

NAZIS CHARGE U. S. ASSEMBLES FLYING FORTS IN SWEDEN

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Nov. 14 (AP).—A German foreign office spokesman today said that Sweden "is being systematically exploited by America as an assembly place for its bombers," the Berlin correspondent for Afton Bladet reported. He quoted Dr. Paul Schmidt as making a long attack on the Swedish press for fomenting enmity between that county and Germany.

"I must point out that thousands of Norwegians, being trained in Sweden as policemen, could be used in action in Norway," he said. "Furthermore, I must declare that American Flying Fortresses are not landing in Sweden by chance, but that Sweden is being systematically exploited by belligerent America as an assembly place for its bombers."

SHOOT ANY ONE WHO DREAMS OF GIVING UP: NAZIS

WITH THE U. S. 2D ARMORED DIVISION ON THE WESTERN FRONT, Nov. 14 (AP). — Declaring that "our will to resist is the only thing we have left," the Nazi party has advised all German soldiers to shoot any one thinking of surrender.

Applying these instructions to any one, "whether he be a superior officer, an ordinary fellow, or a close buddy," the party publication Scorpion, which is distributed to the troops, said that these admittedly "revolutionary" measures were arranged by Heinrich Himmler, Gestapo chief.

A captured copy of Scorpion containing this advice indicated the same principle would be applied by Himmler's "people's army."

"Our will to resist is the only thing we have left against the material superiority of our enemy until the new weapons are ready for the front," it said. "Whoever sabotages our will to resist must be smashed."

STEAL ELECTRIC MOTOR.

Police were notified yesterday of the theft of a 220 volt electric motor from the F. L. Wood Coal company, 2901 36th pl.

Her bodice was of plain satin, and the brocade was fastened on the bust with a stiff butterfly bow of ribbon. Delicate lace finished the low square neck. RUSSIANS MOVE INTO SEMICIRCLE ABOUT BUDAPEST

Advance for Death Blow at Hungarian Capital.

LONDON, Nov. 14 (AP).—Marshal Malinovsky of Russia set the stage tonight for the fall of Budapest. He straightened his lines by advances northeast and south of the Hungarian capital and moved his armor, artillery, and infantry into a semi-circle around the city.

Most of the day's operations of the Red army were aimed at getting into position for a death strike at Budapest.

The Russian bulletin announced the capture of more than 30 towns in a line extending for 45 miles east and northeast of the city. Liquidation of the enemy bridgehead on the east bank of the Danube with the capture of two towns, 45 and 42 miles to the south, also was disclosed.

Gain 3 to 5 Miles.

Holding fast to their positions within easy medium artillery range of Budapest on the south, Malinovsky's men drove north and northwest from Monor, registering gains of three to five miles.

Farther east they took the railway town of Nagykata, 27 miles east of Budapest and 10 miles south of Jaszbereny. They extended their hold closely on both sides of the latter town. Heves, 17 miles to the northeast, was the largest place taken.

The German radio said the Russians had dug in less than two miles from Jaszbereny and acknowledged that they had made various penetrations along the line from Monor northeast.

Germans Admit Setback.

In eliminating the Germans' Danube river bridgehead south of Budapest, the Russians used three infantry divisions, according to German accounts. The Germans admitted that the position had been abandoned in favor of newly prepared holdings on the west bank.

BRITISH DOUBLE BACK ON NAZIS AND WIN BRIDGE

ROME, Nov. 14 (AP).—The British 8th army has won the coastal highway bridge over the Ghiaia canal before Ravenna and in important gains of up to two miles in the Forli area has captured the village of San Tome, allied headquarters announced today.

Eighth army units which crossed the Ghiaia canal yesterday cut back across highway 16—the coastal highway—and captured the German rear guard holding the bridge. The Germans were surrounded while engaged in meeting the allied frontal attack from south of the canal.

Southwest of Forli, the town of San Varano was found to be clear of the enemy but heavily mined, and British troops crossed the Montone river southwest of the village at two points.

In the hills south of the Rimini-Bologna highway, new heights were captured. At one place Polish troops advanced nearly two miles, capturing Monte Casole, a 1,450 foot peak.

NORSE RE-INVADE HOMELAND; JOIN REDS IN ARCTIC

LONDON, Nov. 14 (AP).—Norwegian troops, re-invading their own homeland from the British Isles, have landed in Norway and are operating with the Russians against the Germans on the Arctic front, the Norwegian exiled government announced tonight.

Col. Arne Dahl.

Going ashore somewhere in the far north, the first detachments to return since the ill-fated 1940 campaign, joined the Russians as the Germans, in retreat over the barren wastes of Finnmark, prepared defense lines in the south against a possible allied invasion from the west linked with a soviet drive.

Vanguard Less Than 500.

The small vanguard, numbering under 500, was led home by Col. Arne Dahl, commander of the famous Alta battalion during the last bitter days of Norway's hopeless stand at Narvik.

Dahl also returned as head of a Norwegian military mission which includes representatives of the navy, air forces, and a number of government departments. One was a representative of the minister of justice, sent to carry out measures to deal with Quislings and traitors.

Disclose Nazi Devastation.

With the announcement that Norwegians troops were operating on home soil, a government spokesman reported "increasing numbers" of Germans in retreat from Finnmark to Troms province, who were leaving a trail of "nightmarish devastation."

The Norwegian announcement explained that its military mission was under the control of Maj. Gen. William Steffens, Norwegian military attache in Moscow, and that the troops were under the direct command of Marshal Kirill Meretskov, Russian commander in Norway.

BRITISH FLEET SINKS 9 NAZI SHIPS IN RAID OFF NORWAY COAST

LONDON, Nov. 14 (AP).—The British home fleet struck another blow at what is left of German seapower Sunday night, soon after the sinking of the battleship Tirpitz by the R. A. F., when it blew up or sank nine ships of an 11 ship convoy off Norway and drove a 10th Nazi vessel ashore, it was disclosed tonight.

Two cruisers and four destroyers attacked the German convoy rounding Lister fjord, south of Egersund, Norway, traveling north and inflicted the losses without any material damage to themselves. The Nazi convoy, the admiralty reported, included several minesweepers. It added that there was a small number of British casualties.

Berlin acknowledged loss of the Tirpitz, but declared that a great part of the crew was saved. The Stockholm newspaper Tidningen, on the other hand, said only 800 of the crew of 2,000 were rescued.

FRENCH LABOR CLAMORS FOR 'TOTAL PURGE'

BY ROBERT SAGE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 14.—Renewed clamor for intensification of the purge was set up during the last few days by French labor at meetings held in Paris and the provinces.

A "total purge" was called for by Benoit Franchon, secretary of the general confederation of labor, in an address to union syndicate members in the Paris area at suburban Clichy. Jacques Duclos, secretary general of the Communist party, told a Red rally at Rennes a "radical purge" is necessary.

The problem of speeding up economic recovery and putting 600,000 unemployed in the Paris area back to work was directly linked with the need of weeding out all alleged collaborators who have not yet been arrested, Franchon said.

BRITAIN TO HELP FRANCE RISE AS BIG POWER: EDEN

LONDON, Nov. 14 (AP).—A new high in British-French friendship was proclaimed today by Foreign Minister Eden. He strode to the well of the house of commons to tell in glowing terms of the re-emergence of France as a great power, to pledge Britain's support in that effort, and to say that never before has the friendship of the two peoples rested on a "surer foundation."

Reporting on the British good will mission to Paris, he spoke in the absence of Prime Minister Churchill, who returned by air from the French capital several hours later looking tired but happy. Churchill met Gen. Eisenhower before leaving France this morning.

Amid cheers from his colleagues, Eden offered this tribute to Gen. de Gaulle—"the man who today is unquestionably the inspirer and the man who personifies the unity of the French people." He spoke also of the vigor and confidence of the French troops.

SCIENCE FINDS A RUBBER PUTTY THAT BOUNCES!

New Synthetic Defies Heat and Cold.

New York, Nov. 14 (AP).—A new synthetic rubber, made mainly from sand, which forms a bouncing putty was announced here today by the General Electric company.

The rubber is a silicone, which means it comes from silica and that it is made from the same base which produces glass. In the form shown today, this silicone rubber is snow white, soft as putty, pulls like taffy candy. If you drop a piece of it, it bounces higher than a rubber ball.

This unheard-of action is due to the peculiar fact that when silicone rubber is pressed slowly it is a plastic-like molding clay. When stress hits it suddenly, like the impact in dropping to the floor, the stuff momentarily becomes completely resilient.

Army, Navy Get Full Supply.

It may go into the making of golf balls and many other articles. At present the entire supply is going to the army and the navy for making gaskets that will stand both extreme cold of 60 below zero and extreme heat of more than 500 degrees Fahrenheit.

No other rubber will stand both. In fact, no other rubber stands 60 below very well. Silicone's temperature resistance is due to the large amount of sand or silicon and the way this silicon is linked with oxygen.

Two of the military uses were announced today. One is gaskets for super-chargers of B-29 super bombers. Super-chargers compress rarefied air of high altitude to sea level pressures. Without them flights above 30,000 feet are not possible. Super-chargers run with their metal parts cherry red hot.

Used Near Big Guns.

The navy is using the new rubber to support lenses in searchlights that work alongside big guns, where the lights are subject both to extreme heat and to great vibration.

Silicone stands vibration well. It can be squeezed down to two-thirds of its normal thickness between metal plates and afterward will expand to nearly full thickness. The rubber can be made either hard or soft.

Today's announcement is the second achievement reported this year with silicones. The Dow Corning corporation in July announced silicones for insulation. This insulation, coated onto glass fiber, makes toasters, flat-irons, and other electrical appliances that are not so likely to burn out. With the aid of the silicone-glass, Westinghouse engineers increased the power of a 3 horse power motor by more than 200 per cent.

LEGION OF MERIT IS WON BY COMDR. WM. GREENAWALT

Comdr. William P. Greenawalt, 7316 Yates av., has been decorated with the Legion of Merit by Adm. Harold R. Stark, commander of American naval forces in Europe, for his work in construction of ferries and causeways under enemy fire to deliver ordnance, ammunition, vehicles, and other cargoes to the Normandy beach in France during the invasion last June.

Comdr. Greenawalt.

Comdr. Greenawalt, 46, a native of Effingham, Ill., served with a trench mortar battalion in France in World War I. He was in the engineering and construction business in Chicago for 10 years before he went on duty with the navy as officer in charge of a Seabee battalion.

Comdr. Greenawalt just returned from Europe, and is spending his leave with Mrs. Greenawalt and their four daughters, two of whom, twins 16 months old, were born when he was on duty in Europe.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY MARYON ZYLSTRA

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Al Young, Allentown, Pa.]

THE QUESTION.

WHERE ASKED.

Merchandise Mart [asked of Quiz Kids].

THE ANSWERS.

Pat Conlon, 9013 Laflin st.—The dumbest thing I've ever done is to let my girl friend know I like her. Ever since, she's had a decided lack of enthusiasm about me. I can assure you I'll not make the same mistake twice, because it was quite a blow to my ego. From now on I'm going to keep them guessing.

Richard Williams, 4201 Baring av., East Chicago—One day when my mother was shopping in a downtown department store I didn't want to wait for her, so I spent the afternoon walking up the escalators going down and down the escalators going up. I must have looked awfully silly, and I'm sure I was in every one's way.

Lonny Lunde, 306 Elmore av., Park Ridge—We were having our first test in arithmetic in the second grade. I missed on how much is one and one. I said it was three. My other problems were much harder, and I had them all right. It was such a simple problem that I thought I knew the answer without thinking.

Joel Kupperman, 5045 Ridgeway av.—Sometimes I'm not thinking what I'm doing. Like in the morning, I'll get out of bed, take off my pajamas, and put on my underwear. Then I put my pajamas back on over my underwear. That's a dumb thing to do, because then I just have to start all over again.

Harve Fischman, 7924 Kingston av.—My mother was making peanut butter one afternoon. I love peanut butter, and I couldn't wait until it was finished. When she was pouring the hot peanut butter from the pot into a pan for cooling I stuck my finger under the stream of peanut butter and burned my finger.

Maureen Buckley, 5316 Adams st.—Mother said I could go to the store and pick out any kind of meat I wanted for Sunday dinner. I love steaks and I chose the biggest one in the case. The butcher wrapped it up and I gave him the money for it, then found I had forgotten the points and had to forego the steak.

SUN GIVEN STAY ON ORDER TO CUT NEWSPRINT USE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14 (AP).—The Chicago Sun today won a stay on an order directing it to cut its newsprint consumption by 886.89 tons by the end of September, 1945. That is the amount the war production board charges the Sun used in excess of its quota during the second quarter in 1944.

The stay will remain in effect until the WLB has ruled on an appeal for relief from the order. In the meantime, the paper will be allowed to use its regular quota of newsprint.

Clem J. Randau, business manager of the Sun, said the appeal would be filed about Dec. 1. Walter Foster, chief compliance commissioner of the WPB, predicted final determination of the case in about six weeks.

Randau said the order would reduce the Sun's newsprint quota by slightly more than 3 per cent for 11 months.

CIGARET RATION IS NOT PLANNED, SAYS OPA CHIEF

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—Rationing of cigarets is not planned, Price Administrator Bowles said today. At the same time, he called on office of price administration employes thruout the country and cigaret smokers to coöperate in stamping out a growing black market in cigarets which he said has contributed to scarcities in many areas.

Bowles disclosed in a statement that he had discussed the cigaret problem with War Food Administrator Jones and that both had agreed rationing at this time is "completely impractical."

Lists Reasons for Shortage.

The OPA head listed as major causes of the current cigaret dearth as large shipments overseas to soldiers and sailors; inequitable distribution by manufacturers who have not taken war time population shifts into account, and a sharp increase in civilian demand.

The office of war information today reported that in the first seven months of this year, American soldiers and sailors overseas received slightly more than one-fourth of the country's total cigaret production, compared with about one-sixth for all of 1943.

Withdrawal for 1943.

The OWI said 308.8 billion cigarets, or 15.4 billion packs of 20, were withdrawn from factories and sea store warehouses during 1943. Of this total, 257.7 billion [12.9 billion packs] were tax paid cigarets for civilian consumption and for sale in army post exchanges in the United States. The remainder, 51.1 billion [2.55 billion packs] went overseas as tax free cigarets.

Cigaret withdrawals the first seven months of 1944 were 192 billion [9.6 billion packs]. Civilians and soldiers in the United States accounted for 138.9 billion [6.94 billion packs], and 53.1 billion [2.66 billion packs] went overseas.

MOVE TO BOOST JUNIOR COLLEGES HERE FROM 3 TO 6

A report of the Illinois higher education survey commission to be made to the state general assembly early in January will recommend an increase in the number of junior colleges in Chicago from three to "probably six or seven," Dr. George A. Works, director of the survey, said yesterday. The report will urge establishment of approximately 60 more junior colleges in other parts of the state.

Dr. Works, formerly of the University of Chicago faculty, named to direct the education survey by the last general assembly, outlined highlights of studies made in the survey at a state conference on post-war education in the Stevens hotel yesterday. The commission completed a two day meeting Monday and will meet in Springfield again Dec. 5, preparatory to reporting to the legislature.

Extension of the junior college program, Dr. Works said, would make two years of free college training available to many who cannot afford college training.

He said it would cost the state about $3,700,000 to establish the colleges, which would be maintained both in Chicago and downstate by an extension of the program of state aid to education.

Assail Coward Slur at Brooklyn

'Mournful Boys'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—Noel Coward, British author, was denounced on the house floor today by Rep. Dickstein [D., N. Y.] for casting reflections on the fighting caliber of soldiers from Brooklyn.

Coward's uncomplimentary reference to Brooklyn's fighting men was made in his recent book, "Middle East Diary," in which he said he was less impressed with "some of the mournful little Brooklyn boys" fighting overseas than with "magnificent specimens" from Arizona and Texas.

Dickstein said this was a "stupid and ill mannered insult."

"I serve notice upon him [Coward] now," said Dickstein, "that when again he seeks entry as a visitor to take more millions out of this country, I will try to see to it that he stays back in England and writes his trashy books there."

Urge Ban in N. Y.

New York, Nov. 14 [Special].—Incensed at a slur cast upon Brooklyn's fighting men in a book by Noel Coward, British author, actor, and composer, five Brooklyn councilmen today demanded in a proposed resolution that Coward's books and plays be barred from New York City.

The resolution urges "that theater owners and theater patrons, publishers and readers be advised that it is the sense of this council that any play written by Noel Coward should not be produced in any theater in the city of New York." Coward is described in the resolution as a "British subject who has amassed a large fortune in the United States as a writer and producer."

Despite objections of Councilman Walter R. Hart, Democrat and author of the resolution, the resolution was referred to the committee on general welfare.

Enjoins Kosher Market for Hiking Meat Price

Circuit Judge Philip J. Finnegan granted a permanent injunction restraining Sidney Meyer, operating Sidney Meyer's kosher market at 6716 Sheridan rd. from further violations of office of price administration ceilings and granted damages of $50 in a suit filed by the OPA Chicago metropolitan area. The market sold utility chuck steak, with the bone in, at 38 cents a pound when the ceiling was 30 cents, Marion W. Isbell, area director, charged.

Fights Over Cigaret Limit of One Pack; Faces Court

Maurice Guillry, 1762 N. Clark st., who started a fight because he was permitted to buy only one package of cigarets in a drug store, was charged with disorderly conduct yesterday. Maurice Press, druggist, 400 North av., said he received 20 cartons of cigarets and was selling only one pack to a customer. Judge John R. McSweeney in Chicago Avenue court continued the case to Nov. 17.

CIGARETS BRING 88 CENTS A PACK AT U. S. AUCTION

The price of cigarets ranged up to 88½ cents a package yesterday as Chicagoans continued their frantic shopping for scarce smoking material and the economic law of supply and demand still ruled the tobacco market.

The 88½ cent price was on the basis of $106 for 12 cartons, the first lot sold at the postoffice's semi-annual auction of unclaimed merchandise. The Walgreen Drug company monopolized the auction by buying 218½ assorted cartons for $903, an average of a little more than 41 cents a package. Postoffice auctions are exempt from OPA price ceilings.

Black market quotations were as high as $4.50 a carton of 10 packs, sight unseen, from men who worked from automobiles parked on the fringes of the loop.

At stores where cigarets still could be bought for 18 cents a package, there were long queues of purchasers.

At the postoffice auction 18 girdles sold for $10, and 100 assorted diapers, with baby pants and crib sheets thrown in the lot, realized $17.

NOW IT CAN BE TOLD!—Shortly after the war began, the United States Army Signal Corps awarded to the TELEX COMPANY the command task of making high fidelity midget receivers for Uncle Sam's fighting forces. In the din of battle somewhere in France—in the soggy, humid heat of the New Guinea jungles, and the freezing fogs of Kiska—TELEX powerful, lightweight, rugged receivers deliver dependable performance. These receivers had to be sturdy enough to bring in the vital messages of battle with amazing clarity to inaccessible outposts of the front lines. And with all this delicacy they had to withstand the abuse of battle on the beachheads and in the jerking, roaring tanks.

NOW READY FOR YOU—A complete NEW line of hearing aids designed on the same super-improved principles developed for this United States Army equipment. Personalized to your own hearing requirements.

BABY PATRICK BEGS MOTHER: COME AFTER ME

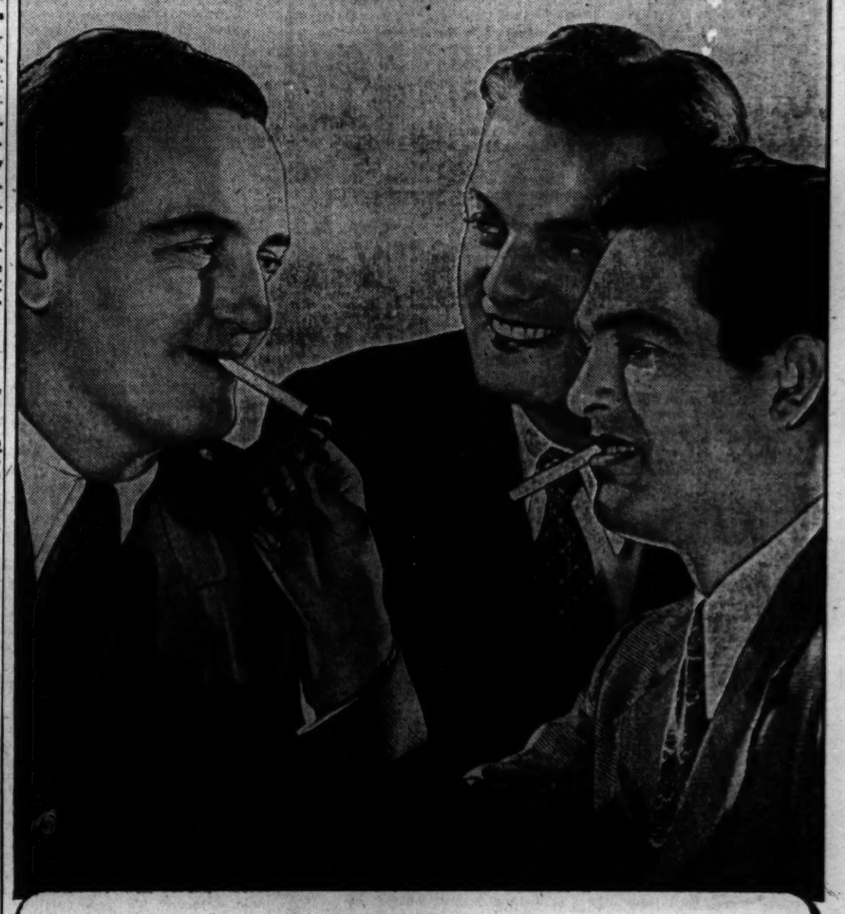
Thru the United Charities, a 9 months old boy known only as Patrick issued an appeal yesterday for his mother to come and get him.

Patrick was born here to an unwed girl, 24, who came from Seattle, Wash. Joel D. Hunter, general superintendent of United Charities, said she placed the baby in a foster home and was paying for his care until July 4, when she disappeared.

Unless she appears to claim Patrick by Nov. 21, Hunter said, the baby will become a ward of the County court.

Yesterday he asked . . .

What Is This New RAMESES I'm Hearing About?



Today he knows . . .

The new Rameses cigarette is an exclusive Balanced Blend that's decidedly milder and more pleasing to the taste. The world's most popular cigarette tobaccos . . . mild, ripe tobaccos grown in this country and costly, aromatic tobaccos from Greece and Turkey—are blended in the correct proportion to bring out all their finer smoking qualities. It's a refreshing new smoking experience to try Rameses—the first pack proves the statement—You'll Be At Ease With Rameses.

BATTLE OF CIBIK'S RIDGE

by Capt. Steve Cibik, USMC

as told to James D. Horan and Gerold Frank

STEVE Cibik came out of the snake-infested Bougainville Jungle with a handful of marines—and left a name that will live as long as there are marines to speak it. This is a dramatic picture of war at its worst—of the first battle of this war to be named for a living soldier.

A Sinful State o' Goodness

by Glenn Allan

CAP'N Tuss was "The Law" in Little Sorrowful. But the sanctified population just wouldn't sin. Without sinners there was no chain gang, and without a chain gang no one to repair the road. But an herb doctor fixed all that in a way you'll like to read about in this rib-tickling story.

BYRON FROM BROOKLYN

by Mona Gardner

IT'S a long way for some—from Brooklyn to Broadway—but Moss Hart made it in seven league boots. Here is the fascinating, intimate story with pictures as colorful as his brilliant career.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills

Tomorrow enjoy gratifying relief from loginess, bloat and irritability resulting from sluggish elimination. First dose must convince or money back. One of European children made homeless by war.

A part of the Community and War Fund's activities is finding homes and care for the hundreds of children rescued from war torn Europe by the United States committee for the care of European children. Fund leaders estimate that it will cost $500 to bring a homeless child to this country for safe keeping until war's end.

F. D. R. INDUCES BYRNES TO STAY ON IN OWMR POST

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14 (AP).—Until Germany capitulates, the hand of "assistant President" James F. Byrnes will guide the nation's war economy and preparation for its return to peace.

President Roosevelt announced today that he had persuaded Byrnes, for a second time, to postpone his planned return to private life and to continue as director of the office of war mobilization and reconversion until V-day in Europe.

Asked to Be Excused.

The White House announcement upset predictions in high official quarters that Fred M. Vinson, director of the office of economic stabilization, would be named shortly to succeed Byrnes for the full two year term prescribed by the reconversion act signed Oct. 3.

Byrnes, who quit the Supreme court to join Mr. Roosevelt's war time command, organized and headed the now defunct office of war mobilization. He agreed six weeks ago to accept temporary leadership of the new OWMR created by congress, but said he had asked to be excused soon from carrying the administrative burden.

President Gratified.

Stephen Early, Presidential secretary, called correspondents to his office this afternoon and read this statement from Mr. Roosevelt:

"In view of the importance of continuing the winning of the war at top speed, and at the personal request of the President, Mr. Justice Byrnes has consented to continue as the director of the office of war mobilization until the elimination of Germany from the war.

"The President is very much gratified by the willingness of Justice Byrnes to do this, and the work of the office will, therefore, continue as at present."

'Personal and Private'

By William MacLeod Raine

(Copyright: 1944: By William MacLeod Raine.)

SYNOPSIS: John Ranger, owner of the Circle-JR ranch, and three of his men go in search of the rustlers who shot and killed Rod Spillman. On the way to the crossroads store, Sandra Ranger and her brother, Nelson, are intercepted by bandits. Sandra sees a horseman gallop down the slope. Two men, riding warily out of the hills, scrutinize the valley below and signal for the herd to move on. When night comes they will be safe. Four armed men are seen coming up the valley toward them. In the rustlers' attempt to get away, Slim Jones is killed and a stranger is taken prisoner by the ranchmen.

INSTALMENT III.

AN APPEAL.

Hart did not like the job they had agreed to do, and he was hardening his heart to it.

The man in levis was a stranger to them, but that meant nothing. That Scarface had picked up some scalawag on the dodge to help on the raid was very likely.

"I think we finish this now." The man who had been behind the log shuffled around the end of it and joined the others. He moved ponderously, his short legs supporting an enormous torso. Leathery folds hung loose on cheek and jaw. Altogether he resembled a rhinoceros. Altho his name was Hans Uhlmann, his intimates called him Rhino. "Nice and quick, then get started with the cattle."

The cornered man tightened his stomach muscles. He braced himself to meet what might be coming, deep set eyes fierce as those of a trapped wolf. For he knew Uhlmann of old, and that knowledge set a passionate hatred churning in his heart. He owed the man a deep and lasting grudge, one he had waited long years to satisfy. That the ranchman did not recognize him was understandable. The big man had seen him last a pink cheeked boy of 19, smooth faced, thin as a rail. Now he was bearded. The bitter intervening years had etched harsh lines in his face, given it an edge of lean sternness.

"You've made a mistake," he said. "I'm not the man you want."

The brutal ruthlessness of the man's words angered the captive.

"What am I supposed to have done?" he asked.

Hart spoke, ignoring the question. "I reckon Scarface met up with you recently. You're a stranger here."

Sholte laughed, with heavy sarcasm. "He doesn't know Scarface. He was just riding along peaceable when we went gunning for him."

"Get yore rope, Pete," Uhlmann said.

Sloan could read in the faces of Sholte and Uhlmann nothing that gave him hope. Toward Hart and Ranger he pointed his appeal.

"You haven't told me yet what my crime is," he said quietly.

"You know what it is," Sholte broke out. "No sense in talking more. Let's get the business done."

"I started this morning from Redrock," the stranger said. "Last night I stayed at the roadhouse there. That I can prove. All day I have traveled alone.

"I stopped at a Chink restaurant on Congress st. in Tucson for breakfast. A deputy sheriff named Mosely sat opposite me at the table."

"So you say," peered Sholte. "Why don't you claim you sat opposite John L. Sullivan?"

Sloan kept his eyes on Ranger and Hart. "If you write to the roadhouse or to Mosely you'll find that what I say is true."

"We ain't gonna write anywhere. We're gonna string you to a tree."

"Don't push on the reins, Pete," Hart counseled quietly. "We'll listen to what this man has to say."

"Where do you hail from?" Ranger asked.

"Cowboy?"

"Yes."

"With what outfits have you ridden?"

"I've worked for the Bar B B near Holbrook and for the A T O in New Mexico."

"When did you work for the A T O?" Ranger inquired.

"Couple of years ago."

"The A T O has been out of business for four years?," Sholte shouted jubilantly. "That cooks his goose."

The stranger knotted his brows in thought. "That's right. Time jumps away so fast you can't keep up with it. I drew my last pay check from Tidwell 'most five years ago."

"What does Tidwell look like?" Hart queried.

"He's a fat bald man with only one good eye—wears a patch over the other."

"What's that got to do with the question? This guy might be Tidwell's brother for all we care. Point is, he's a rustler caught stealing cows. That's enough," Sholte smirked.

"What are you doing in this country?" Ranger demanded.

"Just seeing what's over the next hill," Sloan answered. "You know how punchers move around. Thought I'd pick up a job riding for some outfit."

Uhlmann took the rope from Sholte. "What's the use of talk? We caught him stealing stuff. No use wasting time."

The cowboy chocked down the dread rising in him. "I tell you I'm the wrong man," he said evenly. "Let me prove it."

"Fellow, this case is closed." Sholte retorted. "You been tried and convicted. By facts. Like Rhino says, we caught you in the act."

Cape Sloan talked for his life. His voice was quiet and steady.

"If I was driving off your stuff, where are the other fellows that were with me? They didn't come up this gulch."

"You say Scarface didn't come up here?" Ranger asked.

"Nobody passed me between here and the foot of the hill—neither this Scarface you are talking about nor anybody else."

Ranger put a question to Hart. "You saw Scarface take this turn at the Flatiron, didn't you?"

"Not exactly," Hart admitted. "Some one on a horse was movin' up the gulch ahead of us. Naturally we thought it was one of the birds we wanted."

"It was, too," cut in Sholte. "It was this fellow."

"There must be some other trail they could have taken," Sloan protested. "They didn't come up here."

"There was the other fork," Ranger agreed.

"Looky here, boys," Sholte urged. "We got the dead wood on this man. They weren't out of our sight hardly a minute—just when they dipped down into the bend before the Flatiron. Then we see him again, ridin' fast up the canyon."

"There must be tracks where they took the other fork," Sloan said.

"Might be," Hart nodded. "Tho there was a lot of loose rubble on the ground there."

"I don't want to make a mistake about this," Ranger said. "We'll take a look."

"There's a cottonwood over there handy," Uhlmann grumbled. "No trees at the foot of the hill. We're wasting time."

John Ranger stood six feet two, a man in the prime of life. He wore a short thick beard, and the eyes above it were strong and steady. No man in the neighborhood was more respected.

"I can afford to waste a quarter of an hour to make sure. I'm not hanging an innocent man," he replied curtly.

CONGRESS BACK; QUICKLY HINTS NO CUT IN TAXES

Recesses Until Tomorrow to Study Program.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—Congress came back from the election campaigns today and after brief sessions both houses recessed until Thursday to enable their leaders to decide what legislation shall be taken up in the remaining weeks before the 79th congress takes over the present [78th] congress' work the first of the year.

Sen. Willis [R., Ind.] introduced his state's new Republican senator, Capt. William E. Jenner of Marengo. Jenner will replace Sen. Jackson, a Democrat, who did not run for a return to the senate but campaigned unsuccessfully for the Indiana governorship.

Jenner, recently honorably discharged from the army air forces, will serve out the present year, having been elected last Tuesday to finish the term of the late Sen. Van Nuys [D.], to which Jackson had been appointed pending the election.

Willis explained that Jenner, once an elevator operator in the house office building, is the senate's youngest member at 36.

Reynolds' "Last Bill."

Chairman Reynolds [D., N. C.] of the senate military affairs committee, whose term expires at the end of the year and who did not seek reelection, introduced what may be one of his last bills. It is for the creation of a permanent post of undersecretary of war. Undersecretary Robert P. Patterson's war time appointment to the temporary post expires Jan. 20. The war department has asked that the job be made permanent.

In a letter recommending creation of the position, Secretary of War Stimson told congressional leaders that the United States must henceforth maintain a much larger peace time military establishment than it did during the pre-war years.

It was a lighthearted homecoming in both houses until the matter of income tax came up. Then Chairman Doughton [D., N. C.] of the house ways and means committee, and Chairman George [D., Ga.] of the senate finance committee spread a little gloom. They both said income tax rates can't come down next year.

Every One Wants Money.

Things didn't brighten up after that. Members recalled that it takes money to run the government and began looking over the requests.

One was from Ashley Sellers, acting war food administrator. He asked legislation to increase the borrowing power of the Commodity Credit corporation from three million dollars to five million, to continue the government's price support program on agricultural products next year.

Other departments and agencies said they need more than was appropriated for them this year and asked a total of 425 million dollars in deficiency appropriations. The navy asked $339,112,455, the treasury $11,430,000, the interior department $11,036,682, and the national advisory committee for aeronautics $7,401,000. Smaller requests made up the rest.

Pending Legislation.

At least two major legislative matters must be disposed of before congress goes home.

One concerns the fixing of responsibility for the Pearl Harbor disaster. The time during which court martial proceedings can be brought against the Pearl Harbor commanders, Rear Adm. Husband E. Kimmel and Maj. Gen. Walter C. Short, expires Dec. 7, altho it has already been extended once by congress. Another extension will be necessary if the commanders are to get the trials they seek in their effort to prove that they were blameless.

The other is the President's war powers act. It expires Dec. 31 and must be renewed if the President is to continue to exercise the broad authority granted him by congress. The life of various war agencies is dependent upon the extension.

It was a field day for autograph collectors yesterday at the Dearborn station when John Garfield and Janet Blair, motion picture stars, arrived from Hollywood aboard the Santa Fe Chief en route to Pennsylvania.

Garfield is going to Philadelphia to film "This Love of Ours," a screen biography of Al Schmid, the marine hero who was blinded on Guadalcanal. The actor said he is particularly interested in portraying the hero on the screen because he will be able to consult Schmid on any phases of the story which may demand his technical advice.

URGES CHANGE IN ELECTION BY ELECTORAL VOTE

BY LAURENCE BURD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—A proposed constitutional amendment to abolish the Presidential electoral college and make the popular vote the determining factor in the election of President and Vice President was offered in the house today by Rep. Lea [D., Cal.]

Rep. Lea.

Under Lea's proposal, the election result would still be decided on the basis of electoral votes—totaling 531—but these votes would be divided in each state in proportion to popular vote for each candidate. Under the present system, a state's entire electoral vote goes to the candidate with a majority, however slim, in that state.

Such a constitutional change, to be effective, would have to be approved by a two-thirds majority of each house of congress and ratified by legislatures in three-fourths of the states. Similar proposals have failed to pass congress in years past.

Calls System Outmoded.

Lea said in a statement that the outmoded nature of the present electoral college was forcibly demonstrated in the Presidential election last week. Mr. Roosevelt, he observed, received only about 54 per cent of the popular vote but got 81 per cent of the electoral votes under the bloc voting system. Thus, he said, it took 225,000 voters to give Gov. Dewey one electoral vote but only 58,000 were needed for each electoral ballot for Mr. Roosevelt.

"Such grotesque results," said Lea, "were never contemplated by the framers of our Constitution."

Totals Would Be Unchanged.

Under the Lea proposal, each state would retain its present total of electoral votes, that is, a number equal to the combined total of its senators and representatives in congress, but there would be no Presidential electors as such.

Voters would ballot directly for President and Vice President. The number of electoral votes in each state would then be computed, including fractional votes, in proportion to the popular total for each candidate in that state.

The present requirement that a nominee must have a majority of all electoral votes to win would be eliminated, and the one with the largest plurality would be declared elected. In case of a tie in electoral votes, the candidate with the greatest nation-wide popular vote would win.

WOMAN JAILED IN THEFT.

Miss Joan Martrioni, 31, of 4621 Sheridan rd., was sentenced to six months in the Bridewell by Judge Frank H. Donoghue in Women's court yesterday on a charge of stealing a watch from Pvt. Gerald Tromp as he slept in her room.

TONGUE PRICES TO BE CUT 1 TO 3 CENTS A POUND

A drop of from 1 to 3 cents a pound in the retail price of cured and smoked beef and veal tongues, effective Nov. 20, was announced yesterday by the office of price administration in Washington, D. C.

At the same time, the OPA said, the retail price of beef, veal, lamb, and mutton sweetbreads will be advanced from 1 to 2 cents a pound.

The decrease for tongues results from lower wholesale price ceilings. An error in the original price schedule causes the increase for sweetbreads, the OPA said.

The war food administration announced that the army is releasing a "very small" portion of its processed Thanksgiving turkeys to the public.

Ceiling prices will move upward in the week beginning Thursday for cranberries, apples, and other fresh fruits and vegetables, Marion W. Isbell, Chicago metropolitan area OPA director, said. Tangerines, at 10½ cents a pound, were added to the list, which includes the following changes:

Apples, up 2 cents to 27 cents for two pounds; cranberries, up ½ cent to 42 cents; carrots, bulk, up ½ cent to 6 cents; lettuce, large head, up 3 cents to 16 cents; lettuce, medium head, up 3 cents to 13 cents; sweet potatoes, up 2 cents to 20 cents for two pounds.

An increase of approximately 10 cents a ton in the charges of coal dealers for delivery from the street of coal and coke has been authorized by Rae E. Walters, regional OPA director, the Chicago Coal Merchants association announced.

F. D. R. IS FACING FIGHT ON POWER TO ORDER WARS

Congress Members Balk at Yielding Rights.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—In the opinion of most Republicans and many Democrats who returned to Washington for the resumption of its session today, congress will not agree to delegate its power to declare war, as proposed by President Roosevelt in his post-war peace project.

Some Republican leaders thought the most the President could hope to obtain would be authority for the American delegate to order American forces into action for minor policing activities, particularly in the western hemisphere, but that congress would reserve its war making power in major international controversies.

In both houses the members assembled amid congratulations for those reëlected last week and commiseration for those defeated.

Reasons Are Analyzed.

In the post-mortem on the election there was pretty general agreement that you can't beat the commander in chief in time of war; that, tho the Democratic party was split wide open by the fourth term and the ascendency of the Communists in the Roosevelt regime, defections from the Roosevelt-Truman ticket on this score were more than offset by Republicans unwilling to swap horses in the middle of the stream.

Sen. Gillette [D., Ia.], defeated for reëlection, said "a strong anti-administration feeling, particularly in the middle west," was overcome by the "final determination that the Dewey candidacy did not present the leadership necesary for winning the war and solving the problems of peace."

Promise of Jobs Recalled.

Sen. Wherry [R., Neb.] suggested that the parents and wives of service men had taken Mr. Roosevelt up on his promise to win the war and provide 60 million jobs.

That Mr. Roosevelt won "primarily because the majority of Americans were fearful of changing chief executives in the midst of war," is the opinion of Rep. Chiperfield [R., Ill.], who added that "such undoubtedly was the feeling of the relatives and friends of the men doing the fighting, but," said the congressman, a member of the foreign affairs committee, "the election was not an indorsement of the Dumbarton Oaks program or a mandate to the President to take this country into a world organization where one man could commit the United States to go to war."

"Can't Outpromise Champ."

"The Roosevelt assurance of 60 million jobs obliterated all other issues," said Representative at Large Day [R., Ill.], one of the defeated nationalists. "You can't outpromise the champ. Wartime prosperity has made many people forget the true condition that we actually must face in the post-war period. When the boys come back there will be a different story to tell. They will never surrender true Americanism to treacherous foreignism. The cause of the Constitution will go forward."

Rep. Mass [R., Minn.], another defeated nationalist, said that Mr. Roosevelt cannot interpret the election as a mandate to "take the power to declare war away from congress and vest it in a one man delegation to a world state. This issue was never before the people because Gov. Dewey removed the vital foreign and peace policy questions from the campaign by refusing to discuss them."

"Dumbarton Oaks," Maas went on, "would lead to the destruction of our democracy. Basically, congress' most important powers are to raise and spend money and declare war. If you take the war declaration power from congress you automatically also delegate its control over the money needed to fight wars. The result would be a congress without power and a people with no power to express themselves thru the congress."

Rep. Bloom [D., N. Y.], chairman of the foreign affairs committee, said the election "showed that isolationism is dead and that the President's views and those at Dumbarton Oaks, calling for a strong international organization with teeth, are indorsed by the majority of our citizens."

Sen. Bushfield [R., S. D.] said that while some international organization will be approved "the senate will not approve the sending of American troops to war without the approval of congress."

A Cause for War.

Delegation of power to call out American forces without approval of congress, in the opinion of Sen. Revercomb [R., W. Va.], would "cause rather than prevent war."

Sen. Davis [R., Pa.], who was defeated, said "The PAC swung the election for Roosevelt by complete organization in every industrial center." He thought that perhaps Mr. Roosevelt "will appoint himself as the delegate on the international security council. Then with Truman in the White House, Roosevelt wouldn't have to worry about his authority being defined—he could do what he wanted."

Insists on Senate Rights.

Sen. Austin [R., Vt.], a leading internationalist, recognizes the preponderant sentiment in his party against the delegation of the power to declare war. He said he favors authority "to the American delegate on the security council to make decisions short of a declaration of war without returning to congress for specific instructions.

Sen. Aiken [R., Vt.] said he believes "the senate will restrict and define the extent to which American troops can be used without congressional action."

Lt. Benjamin Adamowski Visiting Wife and 2 Sons

Lt. Benjamin S. Adamowski, former state representative and 36th ward Democratic committeeman at the time of his induction into the army last January, is visiting his wife, Kathryn, and their two sons, Ben Jr., 7, and Robert, 3, while on a 10 day leave following his graduation from the army judge advocate school at Ann Arbor, Mich. Lt. Adamowski will report at Memphis, Tenn., at the completion of his leave.

'GULP, GULP': 150 BAKERS SING ABOUT OYSTERS

Two thousand oysters yesterday slipped down the gullets of 150 members of the Bakers Club of Chicago while they—the bakers, not the oysters—sang a song which ran:

There're no nonskids on an oyster,
Gulp, gulp, gulp, gulp,
An oyster's a slippery guy!

As recently as last Saturday morning these oysters were leading what they thought were secure lives on the ocean bottom. They were pulled from their briny homes on the orders of Carl P. Schmidt of Baltimore, Md., and sent to his fellow bakers in Hotel Sherman here.

Five hundred pounds of Maryland crabmeat arrived by air express and were served at the oyster feast.

The organist, Leo Terry, wrote the oyster song and dedicated it to the Bakers club. He was on hand to see that it was performed with the proper spirit.

F. D. R. SWITCHES 1945 INAUGURAL TO WHITE HOUSE

Health Factor Reported Reason for Change.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—President Roosevelt will break another precedent in his fourth term inaugural next Jan. 20 by switching the traditional ceremony from the steps below the dome of the national capitol to the south portico of the White House.

At his press conference Mr. Roosevelt advanced economy as the reason for the switch. He said he had informed Sen. Byrd [D., Va.], chairman of the joint house and senate committee on inaugural arrangements, that the ceremony could be conducted at the White House for less than 10 per cent of the $25,000 usually allotted for capitol services.

In official circles, however, the switch was accepted as another move to safeguard the chief executive's health. Inaugural ceremonies at the south portico of the White House would spare Mr. Roosevelt a journey to the capitol and difficulties attendant upon making his way to the central position of the inaugural stand.

Can Be Wheeled to Stand.

At the White House he can easily be wheeled to a speaking stand to deliver his fourth inaugural address and whisked back into the White House. This arrangement will be particularly advantageous in inclement weather, which can be expected at that time of year.

Sen. Truman also will be inaugurated as Vice President at the White House. There will be no parade.

At his conference Mr. Roosevelt disclosed he had received a congratulatory letter from Gov. Dewey, his Republican opponent, but refused to make public its contents, saying he would not give reporters access to his personal files.

Mr. Roosevelt advocated division of the country into seven major watersheds for development along the lines of the TVA. He also advocated early enactment of the St. Lawrence-Great Lakes waterway, urged in the senate by Sen. Aiken [R., Vt.].

Aiken Wants Early Passage.

Sen. Aiken called for passage of the measure at the lame duck session of congress.

On his seven watershed developments, Mr. Roosevelt said the areas would center about a basic stream in each district. Water control would be a minor phase of activity compared to power development.

He had no definite plan, but spoke informally. He did not even list the seven areas, but mentioned such rivers as the Mississippi, the Missouri, the Arkansas, the Tombigbee, the Ohio, the Cumberland, and the Columbia.

Mother of Six Promises Not to Molest Ex-Mate

Mrs. Ann Horejach, 55, of 5832 Carpenter st., promised Judge Frank E. Donoghue in Women's court yesterday that she'd interrupt no more weddings, as she did July 31, to berate the second wife of her divorced husband, John, 532 Marquette rd., nor throw any more ash trays at him, as she did the next day. Judge Donoghue expressed sympathy with her problems in caring for six children and put her under court supervision until Jan. 25 on a disorderly conduct charge.

O, boy! We gotta take this one in.

ADVISES REPEAL OF BAN ON LOANS TO DEFAULTERS

Charles P. Taft Urges More Lending.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 14 (AP).—A state department spokesman today called for repeal of the Johnson act, which forbids American loans to countries that have defaulted on past debts.

Charles P. Taft, chief of the state department's war time economic affairs, said this country "deserved such ill will as we got in the '20s and '30s.

"Not because we justified the title of 'Uncle Shylock'—we didn't," he added, but because the United States acted as a debtor nation instead of as a creditor nation.

Urges More Loans.

In an address prepared for a Commonwealth club luncheon, Taft said "we are the world's creditor nation and what we need is not the isolationism of a policy of no loans but the development of the skills of a creditor nation."

He said there is a place for direct United States financing abroad, "both public and private."

At the same time he spoke out against attempts to hold farm prices "at an exaggerated level," calling this "the most serious danger to our own foreign trade . . . and a prosperous world."

Raps Self-Sufficiency.

A United States policy of helping backward and war devastated nations to industrialize will mean little, Taft said, if other nations "stick with state trading and a tight self-sufficiency."

In an obvious reference to Soviet Russia, he added "we can manage this job with one state trading nation, but we hope we will not have to do it with more."

Taft criticized international cartels, but said agreements are necessary to manage surpluses which, if left by themselves, might result in disasters to one crop countries.

COMPELLED TO WORK IN BAR, WIFE SAYS; WINS $25 SUPPORT

Mrs. Eleanor Kremar, 33, of 1112 W. 18th st., who said her husband, James, 41, made her work until 2 and 3 a. m. in his tavern at the same address, was granted temporary support of $25 a week for two weeks yesterday by Judge Joseph Sabath in Superior court. Mrs. Kremar, represented by Atty. Frank Friedman, is suing for separate maintenance on the ground of drunkenness.

Mrs. Eleanor Kremar.

Judge Sabath told her she should get a divorce or become reconciled with her husband within two weeks. He enjoined her from disposing of $2,000 in currency, two rings worth $1,500, and $500 in stock which her husband said she took with her when she left home Sept. 10.

JOHN CHAPMAN, AID TO GREEN, GETTING BETTER

John W. Chapman, secretary to Gov. Green, was reported making satisfactory progress yesterday at Presbyterian hospital after an operation for a gall bladder ailment performed Nov. 8.

Chapman had been on a diet for several weeks but his condition was not regarded as serious until election day, when doctors ordered him to the hospital. The operation was performed the next day and since then he has made slow but steady progress toward recovery.

Hospital officials said it would be several days, however, before Chapman will be able to see visitors.

F. D. R. GETS 253 CIVILIAN MARGIN IN NEW JERSEY

Newark, N. J., Nov. 14 (AP).—If absentee service men had been unable to vote in the general election last Tuesday, New Jersey civilians would have given the state to President Roosevelt by the slender margin of 253 ballots according to the final returns certified by election boards to the state's 21 county clerks.

The official tabulation of the combined civilian and military vote for President, gave Roosevelt 994,538 and Gov. Dewey 967,787, a margin of 26,651 for the President.

The military vote was: Roosevelt 92,163; Dewey 65,665, or an absentee vote of 26,498 in the President's favor.

Widow, 76, Finds $7,000 Gone After Roomer Moves

Disappearance of $7,000 from its shopping bag hiding place was reported to police yesterday by Mrs. Esther Stenger, 76, a widow, of 6542 Peoria st. She said a roomer moved out Monday while she was absent, and she discovered the loss of the money yesterday.

LELAND ELECTRIC COMPANY will consider ideas, patents or products for post-war production —to augment regular lines

LIKE many other old-established companies, Leland Electric has greatly expanded its normal facilities, in order to manufacture vital equipment for the Armed Forces. It is our earnest desire to keep these additional facilities in active production, after the war—to do our part in maintaining peacetime jobs and prosperity.

So if you have an idea, a patent or product, send it along. We would like to consider it for possible development and manufacture on a mutually agreeable basis.

Your idea may be a product for industrial use—or for the consumer market. It may be a complete unit in itself, or an attachment, accessory or vital improvement of an established product.

It may or may not involve some application of rotating power equipment. But if it fits into Leland's particular skill and ingenuity in Creative Electrical Engineering, so much the better. Our responsibility is a matter of public record. All communications will receive thorough, analytical consideration.

But here's where you might put YOURSELF on the spot

Winter on the thermometer is almost always weeks earlier than it is on the calendar. It creeps in "unawares," with many a cold day ahead of schedule. It cracks auto radiators by surprise. (And maybe you'll get some repair shop to answer the phone.... Maybe!)

You know all that. And you know you'll feel like blaming yourself if you've neglected to get your Super Pyro anti-freeze. Don't put it off!...put it right in! You'll be safe from cold instantly. Yet you won't be all cleaned out of Super Pyro by unseasonal WARM days. Even 160 degrees of normal engine HOTNESS doesn't excessively waste away Super Pyro. You can wisely have early protection, and you can have every reasonable chance that most of the same Super Pyro will still be protecting your radiator later on...and on...and on. That's Super Pyro safety; Super Pyro economy. Don't lose out on the limited Super Pyro supply. Get yours now. U. S. INDUSTRIAL CHEMICALS, INC.

AMERICAN AIR ROUTES.

Gov. Green has called the attention of Chairman Berle and the American delegates to the international air conference to the omission from their American air route plans of the essential great circle route from Chicago to Europe by way of Labrador, Greenland, and Iceland.

All of the trans-Atlantic routes proposed by the Berle delegation have their western terminal in New York. New York or some nearby Atlantic coast city necessarily will be a point of departure for Europe, but only because of the large volume of air traffic that will originate on the Atlantic seaboard. It would be grossly inefficient to feed the rest of American air traffic to Europe thru New York. The route from Chicago is shorter and makes use of the Goose Bay airport in Labrador, which is the only fog free site in Canada.

This nation originates about 80 per cent of international air traffic and probably will continue to furnish passengers and air freight at the same ratio. This alone gives us a tremendous bargaining advantage if the American delegation will only use it.

By following the Chicago-great circle route or the less direct routes from the eastern seaboard we can fly directly to any of the countries of western Europe without flying over any other. England and France will be keen competitors for a share of the American traffic. England is not well equipped now, unless by lend-lease, for long haul commercial aviation, and France has virtually no equipment. France, because of the present condition of her ports and merchant marine, will be particularly anxious to establish air communication. Belgium and Holland also will see the advantages of American business and, in general, our delegation should be in a position to sit back and accept the best bid from the different countries seeking to make themselves the eastern terminal of the American trans-Atlantic routes. They all are eager for tourist business.

In other directions the United States is in an equally strong trading position. Because of our commercial and defense interests in Liberia we may well run a line across the South Atlantic. If necessary we can travel that route using American and Brazilian bases solely. The flight from the Virgin Islands to Natal in Brazil is no longer than a number of the jumps on the trans-Pacific routes. In South America generally our competitive position is good. We can reach almost any country in the northern two-thirds of that continent without flying over any other country, but our relations are such that we should have no difficulty in setting up integrated lines.

From North America to eastern Asia, both Alaska and Russia have to be crossed to get good flying weather. We can reach Alaska up the Pacific coast without using Canadian facilities, but that, in all probability, will not be necessary. Our air relations with Canada are good and common economic interests should make them better.

To southern Asia and Australia Hawaii is the indispensable base, giving us as absolute command of commercial routes as Pearl Harbor gives us of the military situation in the Pacific. Because of its military value, we may have to insist that none but American planes, or at least planes with American crews, be permitted to use the Hawaiian commercial base. But if satisfactory defense arrangements could be made, difficult as they seem, Hawaii is destined to be one of the great air traffic centers of the world.

In sum, our geographical advantages, the technological manufacturing advantages, and the commercial advantages, born of our origination of such a large proportion of air traffic, are such that the American delegation virtually can write its own ticket at the air conference.

THE ELECTRIC LINE STRIKES.

Apparently the only people interested in ending the strike on the Aurora and Elgin and the North Shore Electric railroads are the discommoded passengers on those roads and their spokesmen. President Doolan of the Aurora Chamber of Commerce and other civic leaders in communities along the Aurora and Elgin have been trying to get the officials of the railroad and leaders of the striking unions together.

The person who should be interesting himself in ending the strike, but isn't, is Mr. Roosevelt. The unions, in calling the strike, refused to accept a wage arbitration recommendation made by a panel appointed by the President to consider the case under the provisions of the railroad labor act. Mr. Roosevelt has done nothing to make effective the recommendation of his own agents as to what constituted a fair settlement of the controversy.

The leader of one of the striking unions, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, is A. F. Whitney. Mr. Whitney was one of the more fanatical supporters of Mr. Roosevelt in the recent campaign. Whether by coincidence or design, the strike was delayed until after the election, when its political repercussions would be harmless. Mr. Roosevelt appears reluctant to discommode Mr. Whitney. He is quite willing, however, that from 75,000 to 100,000 regular passengers on the two railroads, the majority of them employed in war plants or essential industries, should be discommoded.

The classic New Deal remedy for affairs such as this is to seize the properties in question, putting the striking employes in the position of "striking against the government." If, as they assert, the managements of the two lines are willing to abide by the arbitration award of the Presidential panel, they hardly can be held responsible for the stoppage. Mr. Roosevelt has never, in such circumstances, seized the union that is responsible and ordered its members back to work. Why not?

CZECHS AND SLOVAKS.

The Czechs and Slovaks seem to have come to a provisional agreement in London on the form of the new government of their country after the war. The emphasis is apparently to be on federalism and decentralization. The Slovaks and the Ruthenians are to enjoy a large measure of local autonomy, perhaps corresponding to that of the states in our federal Union. The powers of the common government, apparently, are to be restricted somewhat as they are in our Constitution.

That seems to us to be a step in the right direction, the direction of stability as well as of liberty. It is a remarkable fact that tho the example of the United States has been before Europe for more than a century and a half, very little advantage has been taken of it. After the last war and, indeed, all thru the 19th century, when new governments were set up in Europe, the British unitary system rather than our federal system was generally adapted along with the British parliamentary system in preference to our government of checks and balances. The results have been disappointing. A form of government which works well enough in Britain to satisfy Britons has not met the challenge of events on the continent. Perhaps the movement toward federalism in Czechoslovakia marks a new trend. It may be that the continental peoples have at last realized that a type of government which their emigrants find congenial in America may also meet the many complex problems of regionalism and diversity of language at home.

In the treaties growing out of the last war Masaryk's country was written Czecho-Slovakia, with the two names connected by a hyphen. This style was intended to emphasize a union between peoples, with each retaining its individuality. Later on, the government of the new country ran the two words together thus: Czechoslovakia. Rightly or wrongly, the Slovaks, or more accurately, many Slovaks, resisted the tendency symbolized by the dropping of the hyphen. Hitler took advantage of the discontent to widen the breach.

In union there is strength, but in applying this principle it is important to distinguish between union and uniformity. The distinction is valid even when the regime which strives for uniformity is not ruthless in its treatment of local minorities. A high degree of local autonomy in matters of essentially local concern promotes stability. That is one of the great lessons which our federal system has to teach the peoples of Europe.

ASSISTANCE WELCOME.

The Tirpitz, last of Germany's heavyweight battleships, lies at the bottom of Tromso fjord in Norway, sunk by British bombs. The German navy now is reduced to two pocket battleships, two 10,000 ton cruisers, and four smaller cruisers. The U-boat fleet is no longer much more than a passing nuisance, with its toll of allied shipping cut in October to the lowest figure of any month during the war. Germany's sea strength thus has become a factor with which the allies need not seriously reckon.

The sinking of the Tirpitz followed within a few days a statement by Admiral of the Fleet Andrew Cunningham, Britain's first sea lord, that quick defeat of Japan is as imperative to Britain as to the United States. Noting that the American navy has so far conducted the war in the Pacific on its own, he said that Britain is anxious to send a strong fleet there to fight alongside the Americans, but that it still feels compelled to maintain large naval forces in the European theater pending the defeat of Germany.

The destruction of the Tirpitz removes the last obstacle to providing the assistance in the Pacific which Adm. Cunningham has promised. A fair number of lighter fleet units and patrol bombers, in addition to the forces America is using on convoy duty, should provide ample protection against any further threat from Germany in the Atlantic. The rest of Britain's fleet should start heading for the Pacific. She has available some 15 battleships, 6 first line aircraft carriers, 40 smaller carriers, 63 cruisers, 330 destroyers and escorts, and 90 submarines.

With adequate sea support, Lord Mountbatten's forces, which have accomplished nothing in more than a year except to fight defensively against a Jap incursion into India, might go into action against Rangoon or Singapore. The huge flotilla of landing and specialized craft assembled for the Normandy invasion would be available for an amphibious operation of this sort. Now that large ports in France, Belgium, and Holland are coming into our hands and are being put back into usable condition, there will be less and less need to retain barges and other landing craft in Europe.

Gen. MacArthur's difficulties in the Philippines suggest that America of itself is still unable to send sufficient resources to smash Japan because so many of our men and so much of our equipment is tied up against the Germans. Despite our sea victories off the Philippines and Formosa, Japan was able to land enough reënforcements on Leyte to overcome its initial losses. MacArthur has been so lacking in dive bombers since the navy turned over Leyte air operations to the army that he has been compelled to use fighter planes for that purpose.

Any naval force is required from time to time to return to base for refitting and supplies, and a withdrawal of this sort may have given the Japs their chance to bring in fresh troops. If the British navy were at hand to stand guard in the interval, it is unlikely that the Japs could have brought enough new troops into Leyte to continue serious resistance.

Plainly, the Japs' outstanding error was overreaching—like the drunk alumnus in the stadium taking a wild swing at another five rows away.—Detroit News.

MEMORIES OF METZ.

Around the fortress city of Metz American troops are campaigning on battlefields of the Franco-Prussian war, and after 74 years history is repeating itself, after its peculiar and variable fashion. Envelopment of this formidable area, which has been of strategic importance since the Roman occupation of Gaul, seems likely, and the Germans who cling to its strong points, serving their eccentric dictator, can surrender or starve, like Bazaine's army, also serving an eccentric dictator, in 1870.

* * *

The battles that resulted in the investment of Metz, nicknamed the Maiden because it has never been taken by direct assault, were hyphenated affairs called Colombey-Borny, Aug. 14; Vionville-Mars la Tour, Aug. 16, and Gravelotte-St. Privat, Aug. 18. The first was a minor action, but the others were large and deadly. The French, with better rifles, outkilled the Germans, but their leadership was feeble. They might have won; they were not severely defeated; but they ended in the bag after a horse eating siege.

* * *

The fighting at Rezonville contained a spectacular cavalry charge. To save a German corps from rout Gen. Alvensleben used Von Bredow's cuirassiers and uhlans in a charge called the Todtenritt [Death Ride]. Their losses were shocking, but they fulfilled their mission. J. F. C. Fuller, English military historian, calls this "the last successful cavalry charge of importance in the history of that arm."

* * *

At Rezonville Marshal Bazaine, French commander in chief, put on a saber solo. A German cavalry sweep engulfed him when he was engrossed in thought about a battery position. He jumped on a horse and did some fancy sword swinging before he escaped.

* * *

The movements of the opposing armies caused the battle of Gravelotte-St. Privat to be fought in curious positions. The Germans faced east and the French west; in other words, each army was cut off from its base. War colleges frown upon such unorthodox proceedings.

TO A TOO, TOO POPULAR FRIEND.

O, slender tube, packed tight but not too tight
With the ripe product of Virginian fields;
Slim cylinder, whose sheath of snowy white
Surrounds the richness that Kentucky yields,
There was a time when crass provincial prudes
Were wont to sneer and call thee "coffin nail,"
And epithets, less printable than "dudes,"
Time, the magician, skilled scene-shifter, Time
Unchallenged now. In periods sublime
Thy worth is blazoned over seas and lands.

I, too, oft added mine unpurchased meed
Of grateful praise to that torrential flow
Of hired plaudits. Yea, in word and deed,
My love for thee was published to and fro.
But now, alas, alas, War's ruthless hand
With grim persistence lays its iron grip
On the brave plenitude that erstwhile in this land
Made life less harsh. Full many a laden ship
Conveys thy comfort to some alien strand.

Dear fag, I miss thee, miss thee more and more,
Yet grudge thee not to gallant G. I. Joe.
Let Joe have mine; but this I do deplore,
That thou shouldst serve false friend or fallen foe!

R. D. writes: "I enlisted in the Canadian air force and served three and one-half years as an instructor. I will be 28 Dec. 1 and have been retired to the inactive reserve, subject to recall for one year. My Wisconsin draft board says that as soon as I return I will be classified 1-A and inducted. If I get a job as soon as I come back and my employer files the necessary forms, can I be drafted?"

As long as you are a member of the Canadian air force [and you are still a member until completely discharged] your draft board should classify you 2-B. Local selective service headquarters says you could be "processed," that is, sent to the induction station, but the military insists you could not be inducted unless and until you are discharged by the Canadian air force. If you returned to the United States and became engaged in war production in a capacity which, were you to be inducted, would require your replacement by another man also subject to military duty, you could be deferred occupationally.

FLUIDS NEEDED BY ALL OUR CELLS.

THE physician who tells patient A that he should drink more water may prescribe far less for patient B. We cannot function without liquids. All chemical reactions take place in solution and living matter relies for its very existence upon solvents.

Certain animals have the power of conserving their supplies. Mules can go much longer without a drink than horses, while the camel is proverbially a long distance traveler.

One reason why replacements are needed routinely is because we eliminate generous amounts via the excretions, including the output of the skin and the lungs. Wastes are thus thrown off, while the internal reservoirs are augmented by additional quotas from the outside.

What part of the system demands the largest requirement? As we would expect, it is the digestive tract. This area must have an abundance and we cannot economize particularly if one is active. In other words, we must keep the chemical laboratories going strong. Furthermore, we must not deprive the filtering machinery [the kidneys] of sufficient flushing material. If the urine becomes too concentrated, we are likely to injure cells, precipitate minerals, and play havoc generally.

The simplest effect of deprivation is observed in a vigorous plant that is neglected. At first the leaves droop, the stem bends, withering follows, and the whole organism dies. We may save the roots thru furnishing plenty of moisture. But the structure has been stunted and may never resume normal growth.

We can think of the cells of the body in much the same fashion. We cannot allow ourselves to lose so much liquid that the function of the protoplasm will be destroyed. Symptoms will come rather quickly and there may be a sharp fall in blood pressure, whereupon the circulation will become more sluggish. In addition, proteins will leak out thru the capillaries into the tissue spaces and the whole picture is one of "shock." Minerals likewise disappear because they are unable to remain in solution. The skin becomes less elastic, the tongue dry, and the eyes sunken. Of course, this is an extreme picture, but it may occur in mild degree with almost any one who forgets that fluid is the medium in which vital organs operate.

There is no excuse for overfilling the blood vessels, and hence obliging the machinery of excretion to labor overtime. We can distend the tissues to the point where they will be unable to perform. There is a natural balance which thirst determines.

At the same time, minerals will be called for, and one reason why we employ salt solution in emergencies is to restore chemical equilibrium. When we find a patient whose muscles and organs are dry, we must approach the watering process cautiously. There is very little danger, however, in the injection of fluid directly into a vein, if it is sterile and of about the same concentration as the blood.

Those who are well can keep that way if they will drink enough to make certain that every cell is at optimum efficiency. Just as a parched mouth will cause the sense of taste to depart, so desiccated tissues will be unable to do their part in maintaining life.

EQUALITY, IT'S WONDERFUL!

Open Sesame.

Basic English, that trickster's vocabulary that would reduce the mighty English tongue to a stumbling and weak conglomeration of 850 words, already has many adherents. Some of these are merely those who flit around singing of anything they think it fashionable to sing about. Others are serious persons trying to fill the growing need for a world language. All are English themselves, so they believe that language should be English.

Sir Arthur Quiller-Couch, the greatest authority on the English language ever produced by his country, took a firm look at Basic English not long ago and was so horrified he died. He was the man who had defined the English language as ". . . a speech malleable and pliant as Attic, dignified as Latin, masculine, yet free of Teutonic guttural, capable of being precise as French, dulcet as Italian, sonorous as Spanish, and of captaining all these excellencies to its service."

With so wonderful a heritage, he wrote, we should be jealous for it. Naturally the thought of an English based on 18 verbs shocked him, and before he died he wrote an essay [published posthumously in the London Times] reducing its verbiage to mincemeat. He termed it as artificial as Esperanto and a menace to the English tongue. If English should be chosen as an international language, he said, why not simplify its chaotic spelling and correct the puzzle of its pronunciation. [See though, thought, cough.]

What most appalled him was what the Basic English backers have done to the Bible. They have translated it. Presumably Basic English is to facilitate commerce and travel, so why then, he asks, the Bible? He asked how it helps the intelligence to be taught "I have knowledge" as a step toward saying "I know," or helps the grasp of a doctrine hallowed by centuries of faith to alter the Virgin into "unmarried woman." "The two terms," he adds, "mean quite different things, as any heathen can tell his teacher."

Just to give you an idea of what happens to the Bible under Basic English, here are a few originals from the King James version together with their Basic interpretation:

Genesis 1., 24. And God said, Let the earth bring forth the living creature after his kind, cattle, and creeping thing, and beast of the earth after his kind: and it was so.

Basic Genesis: And God said, Let there be living things upon the earth after their sort, cattle, and things which go flat on the earth, and beasts of the earth, after their sort, and it was so.

Matthew ii., 11. And when they were come into the house they saw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down, and worshipped him.

Basic Nativity: And they came into the house, and saw the young child with Mary his mother, and went down on their faces and gave him worship.

And the famous words of Christ: Ask, and it shall be given you; seek and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you: for every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened.

In basic English this becomes:

Make a request and it will be answered; what you are searching for you will get; give the sign and the door will be open to you because to every one who makes a request it will be given, and he who is searching will get his desire: and to him who gives the sign the door will be open.

In our brief riffling of this Basic Bible the only unchanged verse seems to be: And God said Let there be light, and there was light. But with Basic English that light is very dim.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

THE FORBEARING BRITISH.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—I have just read, in an English magazine, an article that might stir you as it did me. The magazine is National News-Letter, published at Hartfield House, Headley, Bordon, Hants, England: "There is no doubt that as soon as this war is over, and perhaps sooner, we are going to have a lot of trouble with the Americans, and we are going to seem very troublesome to them. Now, I hold [in common with Mr. Churchill] that if there is any hopeful future at all for western civilization—on that debatable point I keep an open mind—it is essential that the Americans and ourselves should not fall out. We are older than the Americans, politically speaking, and tho more experienced in the wicked ways of the world, we are less good hearted and rosy-minded. The Americans still have their illusions and ideals, and it is most important that they should keep them. We must be very patient with the Americans, and not mind hearing them say [as we shall hear some of them say] in 1947 that we were co-belligerents who helped them win the war. We must accustom ourselves to the inaccurate and unjust things said about us by the considerable section of the American press which is completely irresponsible. We must take these things as become Christian gentlemen, and not be tempted to answer back. Of course, this does not mean that we should not fail to state frankly the facts as we see them. Too often our case has been to go by default in America." The rest of the article urges the people to visit New York and Washington, as some Americans live there. J. M. GRAFF.

AIR OFFICERS' EFFECTS.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—My brother was killed April 22 over France. He was a 1st lieutenant in the army air corps and we received the following personal effects back from the government: One officer's blouse; one raincoat; three pair brown shoes; one pair paratrooper boots; one suit underwear; one quilt, and one pair bedroom slippers.

He had, when he left Chicago in January, two wristwatches, one very good pen and pencil set, one wallet, two short snorter bills, two sets of rosary beads, and one medal, besides seven complete uniforms, all showing bars of his rank. None of this was returned to us. Do we have grafters in the army?

DO 18 YEARS MAKE IT RIGHT?

Muskegon, Mich., Nov. 8.—A friend [or supposed to be] sent me a month's subscription of the world's largest newspaper. For pure mud slinging and of the lowest type, I have to take my hat off to THE TRIBUNE. I am wondering after the people have spoken "again and again and again" if your policy will remain the same for the next four years? WILBUR M. PAUL.

KIMMEL AND SHORT.

Yorkville, Ill., Nov. 9.—Are we to understand from this election that Kimmel and Short are sentenced to four years more—still without trial?

AMERICAN.

FROM DEMOCRAT CONROY.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—I wish to thank THE TRIBUNE for the fair and impartial treatment shown me during the past campaign. JOHN B. CONROY.

GET SET FOR TRUMAN.

Oak Park, Ill., Nov. 10.—Do not worry about the President's health. He is not worrying—neither is his personal physician. He has the majority of Americans back of him with prayers, good wishes and hopes. When the war is ended I feel President Roosevelt may take over the chairmanship of the peace conference, and domestic issues will be handled by Vice President Truman—and you need have no worry of his ability to give this country a very deft administration. So, save your poisonous tears regarding the commander in chief's future health and America's welfare. W. WILLIAMS.

WHY DEWEY LOST.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—The fact that Mr. Dewey was not elected President is wholly the fault of Mr. Dewey. He took over Mr. Roosevelt's foreign policies in toto—policing and lend-leasing the world, relinquished air bases and confiding American sovereignty to the enemies of America. He not only did not protest against the secrecy of Dumbarton Oaks and other secret conferences, he took part in them and approved them.

He chilled the ardor of real Americans who regarded him as another Willkie. He did not win because he did not deserve to win.

CHARLES NOONAN.

THE FASHION CONTEST.

New York, Nov. 7.—Thank you for the photographs of the prize fashion designs by Miss Clements and Mr. Jankus. We are planning to use these pictures in the next issue of the Fashion Digest, of course crediting THE TRIBUNE.

It is my hope that THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE will continue to hold these design competitions, as this contest seems to me an invaluable contribution to the future of American design, and thus indirectly to our country's prosperity.

ETHEL TRAPHAGEN.
Editor and Publisher, Fashion Digest.

CLERICAL SATIRE.

Oconto, Wis., Nov. 8.—I feel that the American people are deeply obligated to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE in doing a great work in helping to reflect President Roosevelt. Especially do I want to thank you in doing your part to defeat Sen. Nye of North Dakota.

S. J. HEDELUND, B. D.,
Vicar, St. Mark's Church.

POOR GRAMMARIANS.

Union, Ill., Nov. 9.—In today's Voice of the People, Ella Fosdick says: "Dewey doesn't scare we moderns." and E. L. M. [a teacher!] says: "Who are the Chicago schools for?"

They both should go to Germany to learn English grammar. That is where I learned it long ago. K. B.

"LEGALLY DEAD."

Chicago, Nov. 11—What steps must be taken to have a man declared legally dead? The person in question has not been heard from, directly or indirectly, for 15 years. J. B.

There is no separate procedure for declaring a person dead, but if the question arises incidental to other procedure the presumption of death would be relied upon on appropriate facts. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

WRIGHT STRIKE PARLEY FAILS TO BREAK DEADLOCK

Union Leaders Spurn Plea to Resume Work.

Paterson, N. J., Nov. 14 (AP).—A conference tonight between officials of the striking Wright Aircraft Supervisory union, unaffiliated, and military and regional war labor board officials at the Alexander Hamilton hotel ended in a deadlock, David Newcomb, union president, said.

The conference was held at the request of Thomas Knowlton, assistant director of the disputes division of the RWLB.

Both Knowlton and Maj. Julius Cals of the 2d service command urged the union officials to end the two day strike of an estimated 2,900 supervisory employes, which has forced into idleness approximately 32,000 production employes of the five Wright plants in the Paterson area.

Demand Assurances.

Newcomb and the four other union officers attending decided not to ask union members to return to work until assurance is received that "the company will not continue to violate the WLB directive of Oct. 4 last, which urged the Wright corporation to maintain a status quo among supervisory employes until the WLB made a final decision," Newcomb said.

A meeting of the members of the union, Scheduled to be held in the Paterson armory tonight, was not held, but is scheduled for 10 a. m. tomorrow at the Lafayette Fr... club.

Officials of the Wright corporation, which manufactures Cyclone engines for B-29 Fortresses, were not invited to attend tonight's conference, Newcomb said.

Won't Go to Washington.

Newcomb said that neither he nor other officials of the union will go to Washington tomorrow in accordance with a telegram received from the WLB to appear there for a hearing at 10:30 a. m., if the strike is not ended.

He said transportation difficulties were partly responsible for the decision not to attend, but added that the matter was squarely up to the WLB and the next move must come from it.

Picketing by three unions continued today. They are the supervisors, who are striking; local 669, United Automobile, Aircraft, and Agricultural Workers of America [CIO], and the Engineers' and Salaried Employes' association [independent]. The two latter unions, whose members are not on strike, are picketing in protest against what they said was a lockout.

CONVICT, FREED AFTER 20 YEARS, ASKS TO RETURN

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 14 (AP).—Frank R. Bortner, 60, ill and unable to adjust himself to life outside prison, wants to return to Auburn prison where he served 20 years for killing his wife. But he has found readmission difficult.

Frank R. Bortner.

Bortner went to Auburn yesterday and asked Warden John Forster to permit him to reënter. He was refused admittance and Auburn authorities advised the state parole board in Buffalo of his visit.

Today Bortner is in the Erie county jail here, awaiting an investigation of his case by the parole board. He was taken into custody on a parole violation warrant alleging he is "a risk to his own safety."

1,400 WAR PLANT WORKERS DEFY REGIONAL WLB

A strike involving 1,400 employes of the Taylor Forge and Pipe works, 4735 W. 14th st., Cicero, manufacturing war materials which navy officials said are needed urgently, was certified by the regional war labor board to the national WLB in Washington, D. C., yesterday with a request for immediate action as the workers defied the regional body.

The strike started at 4 a. m. Monday. Yesterday 700 strikers and sympathizers massed at the entrance and kept some 400 officials and office workers away. Workers en route to other near-by plants also were turned aside. Police finally persuaded the pickets to clear the sidewalks after two members of the crowd were arrested for disorderly conduct.

Vincent Aceto, president of the Taylor Forge and Pipe Works Employes association, an affiliate of the Confederated Unions of America, said the union ignored a WLB hearing because it challenged the right of WLB to intervene. He said the strike, the second this month, grew out of "contract violations" by the company.

2 SUBURBS ASK F.D.R. TO ACT IN RAIL DEADLOCK

Aurora, Waukegan Wire Plea to President.

The transportation crisis created by the strike of 550 operating employes of the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee and of the Chicago, Aurora and Elgin electric railroads, who stopped work last Friday, was put up to President Roosevelt for solution yesterday in two requests for federal intervention.

Presidential action was sought in telegrams sent to the White House by L. M. Doolen, president of the Aurora Chamber of Commerce, and George G. Crawford, managing editor of the Waukegan News-Sun. Aurora is one terminal of the C. A. and E., while Waukegan is in the heart of an important war production area stretching from Chicago to Milwaukee which is served by the North Shore line.

Aurora Chamber Acts.

Doolen's telegram was sent after the Aurora chamber of commerce directors adopted a resolution authorizing the action. The resolution, cited in the telegram, pointed out that 75,000 commuters have been deprived of their normal means of transportation for the last five days.

Crawford's telegram, sent in the name of his newspaper, said that the wage dispute between the two railroads and their employes apparently had "reached a stalemate" and that indications pointed to the strike continuing indefinitely. "The public is suffering," Crawford said, "and thousand of service men at the Great Lakes Naval Training center and Fort Sheridan "are severely handicapped."

Crawford appealed to the President "to take whatever action you deem advisable in order that service may be resumed at once."

Doolen later asked civic organizations in Elgin, Wheaton, St. Charles, Glen Ellyn, Villa Park, Elmhurst, Forest Park, and other communities served by the C. A. & E. to take action supporting the Aurora Chamber of Commerce request for government intervention.

The appeals came as the electric lines were preparing to lay off 1,500 employes on the ground that there would be no work for them while the strike continued.

Presidential intervention would be welcomed, union officials said, as the only way to end the stalemate.

Judge Michael L. Igoe of United States District court disclosed he had communicated with trustees of the North Shore, but had found no legal basis on which he could assist in settling the strike. He said he was studying the situation further. The North Shore, which has been involved in receivership, as is the C., A. & E., is being reorganized under Judge Igoe's jurisdiction.

Boy Babies Exceed Girls by Ratio of 1,055 to 1,000

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14 (AP).—The stork still is bringing more boy babies. The census bureau, reporting 1943 birth statistics today, said that of 2,935,171 live births 1,507,122 were boys and 1,428,049 were girls. This ratio of 1,055 boy babies to 1,000 females follows a pattern that has been in evidence since the government began collecting such figures in 1915.

SHERIFF URGES 25 NEW POLICE FOR HIGHWAYS

Tells the Circuit Court County Needs Help.

Judge D. J. Normoyle, chairman of the Circuit court's committee on help for Cook county offices, received a petition yesterday from Sheriff Mulcahy asking permission to hire 25 additional county highway policemen for the coming year. The petition followed the recent appearance before the court of a representative of several thousand truck farmers who asserted additional police protection was needed in outlying areas, Judge Normoyle said.

Mulcahy, reelected a week ago, asked the court to allow him to increase his police staff to 125. At present it is 95, compared with 178 a year ago and 238 two years ago. He is asking an additional lieutenant, salary $250 per month; four sergeants at $240, and 25 deputy sheriff patrolmen at $215.

726 Square Miles Patroled.

The sheriff, at present, has 22 squad cars equipped with a two way radio system, and an ambulance. Chief John McGinnis of the county highway police department, who took charge a year ago, has been handicapped by having a short staff, but nevertheless has done fine work, the sheriff reported.

"I was asked by the Truck Gardeners and Farmers association to inform the court of conditions in the county", said Atty. Edwin D. Lawlor. "There are probably 5,000 small farmers in the territory involved. They say the state police patrol only the arterial highways."

Wants War Workers Protected.

The lawyer also cited the fact that in areas built up around war plants are many thousands of workers dependent on the sheriff's police for protection of their homes and families.

Judge Normoyle said the entire court would be consulted on the matter of increasing the sheriff's staff, altho final responsibility rests on the committee, of which Judges John Prystalski and Julius Miner are the other members.

DONNELL SEEMS WINNER IN CLOSE MISSOURI RACE

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 14 (AP).—It looked tonight as if Gov. Forrest Donnell has done it again. Lone Republican survivor of a Democratic sweep like that he breasted to win the governorship four years ago, Donnell held a lead over Atty. Gen. Roy McKittrick that looked almost insurmountable with only about 20,000 absentee votes left to be counted in their race for United States senator.

Donnell's margin was 3,797 votes after McKittrick had gained 5,744 on a 38,386 to 32,642 mail ballot tabulation.

Unofficial returns indicated that Rep. Schwabe, Columbia Republican, was reelected in the second district but that Rep. William P. Elmer, Salem Republican, was defeated by A. S. J. Carnahan in the eighth district to give the Democrats a gain of two seats in Missouri's congressional delegation. Democrats now have seven seats and the G. O. P. six.

The other seat lost by Republicans was in the 11th district.

JACK E. CONGER, MARINE ACE, IS MADE A MAJOR

Jack E. Conger, 23, of Des Moines, Ia., marine corps combat ace, has been promoted to major, according to word received by his uncle, the Rev. John Evans, religion editor of THE TRIBUNE.

When Jack last visited Chicago in December 1942, he was a first lieutenant and had 10 Jap planes and half a Jap destroyer to his credit, bagged in 43 days at Guadalcanal.

How many additional planes he has shot down in combat is not known. But in letters sent to his uncle six months ago he told of destroying a number of Jap planes on the ground.

● The current whisky shortage is no new experience for Old Poindexter. It's always been a demand item.

Men who know Old Poindexter say that no other whisky gives them the same extra values in color, aroma, flavor and body.

Why? Because Old Poindexter is a genuine, old-fashioned sour mash distillation of long ago. It contains 40% small grain. It's a low temperature fermentation. There's no skimping of time, money or effort. There's no hurry to put it through.

We recommend Old Poindexter to the few who understand and appreciate a truly great distillation. The little we make we like to see go to those who enjoy a distinctive and distinguished Bourbon Whisky.

War brought a strong sense of responsibility toward fellow-drivers and their cars. And now this fine spirit continues.

Folks have been going even beyond the utmost caution in driving day or night. They've gone to doing such things as sweeping glass off the pavement. They've made themselves remember that anyone's car is as much worth conserving as their own. And so the best motoring manners are almost the only ones expected. That's been saving lots of car trouble and walking. But unfortunately it cannot help out against damage from corrosive engine acids. There the accepted remedy is to have your engine's insides OIL-PLATED.

Changing to Conoco N*th* motor oil for Winter—in the ordinary way, at an ordinary price—automatically assures OIL-PLATING, on guard against acid corrosion!

What makes engine acids? Every explosion—every time!

In patented Conoco N*th* oil there's a special ingredient, developed by costly pioneer research. And that's what attaches protective OIL-PLATING to your engine's fine inner finish. OIL-PLATING stays there just as long as you use Conoco N*th* oil. And now when acids are at their worst—when the most limited Winter mileage and overcool driving let acids collect excessively—they still can't excessively corrode the parts kept OIL-PLATED by Conoco N*th*. WOMAN 'DEAD' 24 YEARS FOUND IN INFIRMARY

Tribune Reporter Helps Identify Her.

A tidy little old lady in a fur collared coat, who was found strangely abandoned Sunday night in the Oak Forest infirmary for the indigent aged, was identified tentatively yesterday thru the persistence of a Tribune reporter as a woman who has been missing 24 years and declared legally dead.

Supt. Frank Venecek found the woman, about 80 years old, mumbling in a washroom more than two hours after visitors left. He reported to the county police at Homewood that she evidently had been abandoned by persons who visited the institution Sunday.

Tribune Reporter Aids.

Her clothes were clean but stripped of labels and other possible means of identification. In her purse were a pair of black gloves, 35 cents, two packages of tobacco, and some cigaret papers.

William S. Bennett, a reporter for THE TRIBUNE, attended the questioning by Supt. Venecek and county police. The name she gave them sounded like Dorothy Irons or Dorothy Ahrens, and the only other words that were intelligible were farm, chickens, and Greenup.

The reporter called Greenup, in Cumberland county, and talked with Deputy Sheriff Thomas Callahan. County records of missing persons showed that a Miss Dora Allen of that county disappeared Sept. 10, 1920, from the Illinois state hospital at Kankakee. State police said she afterward was declared dead by a court order.

Characteristics Same.

Bennett found that Miss Allen was 52 years old when she was received at Kankakee Jan. 9, 1918. The hospital had not heard from her since she escaped. Records disclosed that her right ankle was injured and that she was pigeon-toed as the result of meningitis when she was 1 year old.

Back at Oak Forest, Bennett and Supt. Venecek found the abandoned woman was pigeon-toed and her right ankle had been injured.

The woman was sleeping lightly when the reporter knelt beside her bed and touched her arm.

"Don't you remember me?" he asked. She shook her head.

Alert at Sisters' Names.

"Remember your sisters, Mrs. Bert Travis, Mrs. Mike Dillier, and Mrs. Kelly, who live in Greenup?" Bennett said. "You used to live there, too, Dora. Remember?"

The woman's face brightened. She sobbed as if she had found a friend from home. Members of the missing Miss Allen's family were notified.

Supt. Venecek said last night they had identified a picture of the woman at Oak Forest as that of Miss Allen.

"If this is Miss Allen," the superintendent said, "where has she been since 1920, and who brought her so secretly to Oak Forest?"

HEALTH QUIZ

	YES	NO
Do you have poor digestion?	☐	☐
Do you feel headachy after eating?	☐	☐
Do you get sour or upset easily?	☐	☐
Do you feel tired—listless?	☐	☐

Do you feel headachy and upset due to poorly digested food? To feel cheerful and happy again your food must be digested properly.

Each day, Nature must produce about two pints of a vital digestive juice to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested—leaving you headachy and irritable.

Therefore, you must increase the flow of this digestive juice. Carter's Little Liver Pills increase this flow quickly—often in as little as 30 minutes. And, you're on the road to feeling better.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's Little Liver Pills aid digestion after Nature's own order. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills as directed. Get them at any druggists. Only 10¢ and 25¢.

CHICAGO GIVING BLOOD, ENOUGH AND ON TIME

Dr. Sidney O. Levinson, technical director of the Red Cross local blood donor service, yesterday reported that Chicago is meeting all quotas in furnishing 2,500 pints of blood weekly to army and navy combat forces. He said the city had a splendid record in its blood contributions, and urged donors to continue to apply at Red Cross blood donor headquarters on the 10th floor of 5 N. Wabash av.

Dr. Levinson's remarks followed a recent editorial in the army newspaper, Stars and Stripes, which said "there just isn't enough blood being given by the folks back home."

LAST $1,400,000 OF OLD COUNTY DEBTS TO BE PAID

More than a million dollars of Cook county's old debts have been paid in the last two weeks, and the remainder of $1,400,000 will be liquidated next month, it was announced yesterday by Deputy County Controler Richard J. Daley. He added that this action had restored the county's credit.

All the bills were contracted prior to Dec. 1, 1942. The state legislature authorized a bond issue to pay the claims and a judgment obtained by the city for 3½ millions. Bonds were sold for the judgment last year, but the money to pay individual bills was not raised.

After months of effort it was arranged that creditors might assign their individual claims to a syndicate, which in turn was willing to accept 2 per cent county bonds for them. This arrangement was approved by the county board Nov. 3. Daley said creditors can call at the American National bank any day between 11 and 11:30 a. m. or after 3:30, make their assignments, and collect.

Junior League to Give Party for Service Men Sunday Night

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE 50 young members of the Chicago Junior league who will act as hostesses at a party for service men Sunday evening in a loop department store will be getting the Christmas spirit early. Part of the entertainment that evening will be the trimming of a giant tree which will remain on view in a luncheon room of the store thru the Christmas holidays.

Also on the program will be a swing orchestra, a boogie woogie pianist, a buffet supper, and a strolling magician, all of which add up to a light-hearted evening for the soldiers, sailors, and marines who accept invitations thru the U. S. O. to the party. Members of the league board and their husbands have been invited to serve as chaperons at this gay event, which is a repetition of one held last year and voted a great success.

The tree is 40 feet high, and there will be plenty of ladders available from which to reach the topmost branches, and plenty of free advice from the sidelines, no doubt. Mrs. Lee Fetcher is head of the league's arts department, which often arranges parties at U. S. O. centers.

A few of the Junior leaguers who will be partners of the service men are the Misses Angie Johnson, Janet Carr, Joan Butler, Irina Cantacuzene, Dorcas FitzGerald, Eleanor McClurg, Annie Ryerson, Frances Amberg, Peggy Rich, Peggy Sargent, Betty Bennett, Sue and Jean Sullivan, Nancy Cochran, Ruth Rowe, Beatrice Lindsay, Priscilla Blackett, Anne Strong, Nancy Davis, and Mary Louise Laird.

On the Calendar.

The 40 young members of the Highland Park auxiliary of the Cradle society are working on plans for a benefit cocktail party to be held at 5 p. m., Nov. 22, in the Drake hotel. Mrs. Charles Deleuw is chairman of the event, with Mrs. Phillip Watson, Mrs. Alan Kidd, Mrs. Hugh Wilson, Mrs. Thorwald Trolle, and Mrs. Albert Louer among those assisting her. The auxiliary members work the year around for the Cradle, raising money thru dues and the annual benefit, assisting at the switchboard, and sewing layettes. Mrs. John T. Snite is president of the auxiliary.

Mrs. Hamilton Daughaday, Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, Mrs. Moise Dreyfus, Mrs. Edwin L. Lobdell, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Ganz, Mr. and Mrs. George R. Jones, Mrs. Murray Wolbach, and the Harold Pynchons are among those who already have obtained season tickets for a series of four chamber music concerts the Russian trio and the Budapest String quartet will give in Kimball hall, beginning Nov. 28. During the season Mr. Ganz will play a quintet with the Budapest String ensemble.

The Ferry Hall Alumnae association will present Burton Holmes in a travelog, "Charm Centers of the Old South," Saturday in Cahn auditorium, Scott hall, Evanston. A reception will follow. Mrs. Ira Jay Ingraham is president of the association.

"How to Judge Antique Furniture" will be the subject of the second in a series of lectures sponsored by the Illinois chapter of the American Institute of Decorators at 11 a. m. today in the Arts club. The speaker will be Roger Van der Straeten, president of the Art and Antique Dealers' League of America.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Typewriter Drawing.

And here's a babushka girl:

BABE.

Stay as Sweet as You Are.

The WCG who signs herself R. K. and asks "what men expect of girls" possibly will wonder why I take the liberty of writing to a girls' column. This is why: I like girls, too, but not the drinking or cigaret smoking type. I like a nice companion. R. K. is the kind of girl every man really wants. The other type he wants for an evening of entertainment. I hope R. K. stays just the way she is. Maybe someday I'll meet her or some one like her. R. C.

Try This on Your Typewriter.

We can type "Hrrumph," "Whew," and "Ahem"
And "Psst" and "Meow," and "Kachoo,"
But how in the world are we gonna type
"There are three ways to spell 'tu'?"
Is it "To" or "Too" or "Two"?

SMITTE.

Opposites.

My son is going back to the front. H. B.

It Sticks in the Mind.

The languid young saleswoman on the main floor of a department store who viewed with such colossal boredom the customers at the counter—and is this salesmanship?

The loop restaurant manager requesting three young sailors to remove their "flat-tops" from the hatrack. "Only officers can hang up their hats," says he arrogantly.

The uncolored truth at the Chicago Bar association, where wheat cakes are served with one pat of golden yellow butter—and one pat of pure white oleomargarine.

The first holiday decorations in the stores . . . the surge to photographic studios for pictures to accompany Christmas packages . . . the soldier fingering a delicate piece of jewelry . . . the resolute faces of those to whom Christmas this year is only an accent on loneliness.

Feminine Firsts.

The first mother-daughter combination admitted to the Connecticut bar is Frances L. Roth, who has practiced law for 27 years, and her daughter, Norma Janet Roth, a Smith graduate who received her law degree this fall at Yale. . . . The first woman to own the Kohenor diamond [weighing 186 carats] was Queen Victoria. . . . Do the white collar girls who palpitate over a long distance telephone call know that the first long distance conversation was in 1876, between Cambridge and Boston, Mass., two miles apart? . . . Do they know the first telephone switchboard was in New Haven, Conn., in 1878?

Warn Against Unusable Matter in Salvage Fats

A warning to housewives that butchers may not pay the full 4 cents a pound and two red points for salvage fats which contain water, bone, and meat particles was issued yesterday by Rae E. Walters, office of price administration regional administrator. He said that renderers have considered lowering the cash price because recent fat collections have contained unusable matter.

Picture Directions for Preparing Roast Wild Duck

1. To make dressing mix 2 cups cold cooked wild (or plain) rice with 3 tablespoons melted margarine, 1 small grated onion, ½ teaspoon sage, ½ teaspoon thyme, ½ teaspoon pepper, and salt to taste. Or stuff with chopped apples.

2. Pile dressing into lightly salted cavities of ducks which have been plucked, freed from down, singed, and wiped inside and out with a damp cloth. To remove down, dip bird quickly into melted paraffin; when set paraffin and down come off together.

3 Grease skins well and pour 1 cup burgundy wine (or any red wine) over ducks. Roast uncovered in a 325 degree oven, allowing 20 to 30 minutes per pound, or approximately 1 hour. Do not overcook. Ducks also may be baked without wine.

4. As the ducks roast, baste them occasionally with wine and drippings which later may be made into a delicious gravy. Ducks, like most wild game, require no soaking to remove "gamey" flavor. Soaking draws out rich juices and meat flavor.

Exhibit Here to Show How Electronics Will Be Used for Cooking

When and if steaks again are available after the war, scientists say you will be able to broil one of them to perfection simply by pushing a button to set in motion the kind of electronic principle to be exhibited at the National Chemical exposition which opens today for five days in the Coliseum.

Cooking by electronic power, show managers said, already is being used successfully in experimental laboratories and remains only to be introduced into the home to prove its worth as a kitchen aid to the American housewife.

Electronic power heating, according to Wiley D. Wenger, regional manager of electronic apparatus for the Radio Corporation of America, one of the exhibitors, will contribute even more to peace time living than it has to winning the war. He predicted that the home of tomorrow may be built of plastic panels prefabricated thru the use of electronic energy.

Role in Peace Demanded for War Mothers

BY JUNE GESERICK.

Mrs. Jewel Organ Coleman, public relations director for Mothers of World War II., yesterday declared that mothers of service men and women must have a voice in the nation's program to win the peace. She spoke at the opening session of the organization's second annual convention in Hotel Sherman.

She said the organization, which has a membership of 50,000 women in 20 states, is interested in reconversion, the proper disposition of war facilities and surpluses, exports, imports, tariffs, and reciprocal trade agreements.

"Our leadership must become a potent factor in the nation's program for the demobilization of our fighting sons and daughters and the discharged war workers between the close of this war and the harnessing of our efforts to peace time production," she declared. "The organization must take part in the councils of our nation formulating our national policy relating to our huge merchant marine, our vast aviation industry, and our enormously increased industrial plants."

Harry X. Cole, Chicago attorney, last night told members of the organization that "universal brotherhood" is necessary if future wars are to be prevented.

"Politicians and rabble rousers and armament manufacturers can't divide the people when they think and feel as brothers," he declared. "By rekindling the flame of spiritual vision, there won't be an organization known as 'Mothers of World War III.'"

More than 800 delegates gathered for the opening session, and 2,000 delegates are expected to register before the meeting closes tomorrow afternoon. National officers will be elected and installed tomorrow.

Urge Voice for Church

BY IRENE STEYSKAL.

Appointment of a person or persons "directly representing the principle of evangelical Christianity" to the peace table and to all preliminary conferences was recommended here yesterday in a resolution adopted at the opening session of the first quadrennial meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service in the North Central jurisdiction of the Methodist church. Delegates to the two day conference, centered in the La Salle hotel, represent 19 conference societies covering nine midwestern states and having approximately 400,000 members.

In their resolution, directed to the President, secretary of state, and "those in positions of authority" to appoint delegates, the women expressed the opinion that "problems of permanent international peace need the influence and guidance of Christian men and women" if a "just and enduring peace" is to be achieved. Notification of the action was sent to the national Christian service division, the peace commission of the Methodist church, the United Council of Church Women, and to several other organizations of a religious character.

To accommodate a large number of visitors, last night's session was moved to the Chicago temple, where Mrs. J. D. Bragg of St. Louis, Mo., national president of Christian service, spoke. Two veterans in home and foreign misisonary work carried on by the women of the church were recognized at the meeting, receiving life certificates to the jurisdictional society. They were Mrs. W. H. C. Goode, Sidney, O., and Mrs. Thomas Nicholson, Mount Vernon, Ia.

Church Women Told of Y. W.'s Work in China

BY KATHRYN LORING.

The story of the organization of a Young Women's Christian association unit in the little Chinese village of Kunming in March, 1937, and the vital role the group now is playing in war service was told yesterday by its founder, Mrs. Lung-Chang King.

The petite Mrs. King, looking much like a slim Chinese doll in a high collared floor length Chinese frock of self-figured blue satin, spoke before 300 members of church women's groups in the Loop Center Y. W. C. A.

Having come from Washington, D. C., where she expects to remain for a year, Mrs. King will be the guest of the Chicago association thru this week and will speak tonight at a world fellowship program in the Loop center, to which the Y. W. C. A. electoral members in the city have been invited.

The difficulties of organization in the then quiet and remote province of Yunnan, which translated into English means "south of the clouds," the utimate success of her project, and the satisfaction of being a part of the only organized group of volunteer workers when war came shortly thereafter were reviewed by Mrs. King, whose excellent English was explained thru residence in this country 15 years ago as a student at Mount Holyoke college.

She told of the thousands of supply kits the women's group has provided for native soldiers, of knitting socks and making shoes [Chinese soldiers' shoes all are of cloth and fashioned by hand or on sewing machines], of the establishment of a small library center where much of the reading material includes old issues of magazines obtained from United States service men, and of a program whereby the association gives children soybean milk, the most nutritional substitute for milk obtainable in the province. Five pounds of powdered milk costs $1,500 in China, she said.

Mrs. King also told of the association's new project to aid Chinese farmers—whom she termed the real backbone of the nation—with transportation of food to the cities and to soldiers.

Allied Nations' Art Shown in Alluring Exhibit

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Against superbly unique setting the Art institute is introducing an exhibition, "Art of the United Nations," which will long be remembered.

The exhibit opens tonight with a formal reception to the members of the museum and their guests and will be open tomorrow to the public. It is installed in the east wing galleries, where temporary shows are invariably hung, but except for the fact of that definite location one might think oneself on foreign ground. The galleries have been entirely transformed; Gyorgy Kepes, author of the change, has done a marvelous job.

As one enters the galleries the little hallway is austerely empty, the better to emphasize the richness of the first large gallery. To the left, on a hill of rock and gravel and cacti, stands a stone figure from Mexico, a primitive god, crude but compelling.

A modern wall divides the gallery. Small niches in it are installed with curious pottery or objects of art from far-off countries. On the far wall is placed a most beautiful piece of early Greek sculpture, the bas-relief of a rider. To its left hangs a stunning Chinese landscape painted on silk, and the adjoining wall is emblazoned with a medallion carpet from Iran, woven as tho on beaten gold. The "Dancing Siva" from India stands dwarfed beside it.

In the second large gallery the stunning Seurat, "Sunday Afternoon on the Grand Jatte," framed in white, claims attention. The painting is from the Art institute collection and was selected to represent France. Opposite it an attractive little garden has been built with patches of color to harmonize with the colors in the painting. A pool of gold fish brings the feeling of the Seine nearer home; one may not catch them any easier than the French river bank fisherman catches his little minnows.

The United States is represented by the stunning "Portrait of Mrs. Richard Yates," by Gilbert Stuart, lent by the National Gallery of Art, Washington, D. C. An interesting carpet from Poland gives us a different impression of that tragic country from what we had held. "The Wedding Dance," by Pieter Bruegel the Elder, representing Belgium, has been magnificently installed. Not a scarp of the infinite detail of the great painting is lost in its novel setting.

The exhibition has no martial and no political significance; it has been brought together to show what the 37 nations united by the war have achieved in peace. Each piece of art or craft present differs from its fellow, but the total gives us a sample of our world, and makes us wish very much that the sample could have been stretched to a feast. The exhibit will continue to Jan. 1, and is well worth seeing.

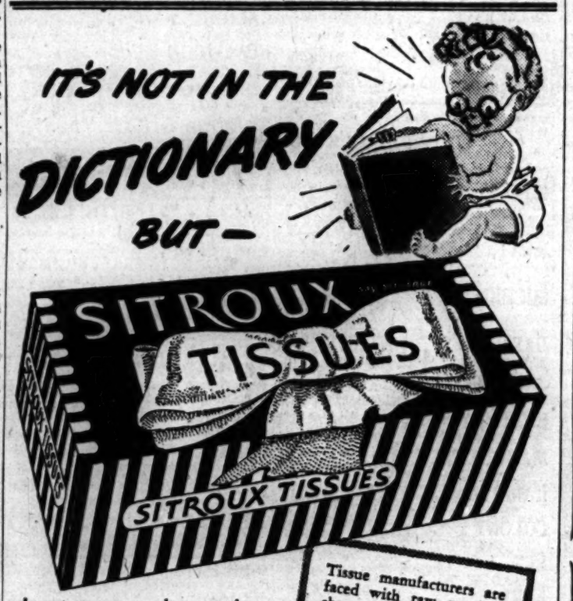
DuBARRY FACE POWDER by RICHARD HUDNUT



'most everyone knows that "Sitroux" means a fine, absorbent tissue! Ideal for sniffles, because Sitroux blots up moisture fast. Helps keep "cold" germs out of circulation, too—and how it cuts down laundry bills!

Just say the word—"Sit-true"—and get absorbent SITROUX Tissues. Then keep them handy for colds, removing cold-cream, baby's "bubbling"—and dozens of other uses.

Tissue manufacturers are faced with raw material shortages and production difficulties . . . but we are doing our level best to supply you with as many Sitroux Tissues as possible. And, like all others, we are doing our best to make the finest quality tissues under present government restrictions. For your understanding and patience our appreciation and thanks!

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Nov. 14.—Lynn Bari, queen of the B.'s, becomes "Mrs. Rickenbacker" opposite Fred MacMurray in "First, Last, and Always." . . . Freddie Steele, one time boxing champ, gets a part in "G. I. Joe." Director Bill Wellman chose him after seeing him work in "Duffy's Tavern." . . . Moyna MacGill from England has been added to the cast of "The Clock." . . . When Dana Andrews finishes his Goldwyn contract he won't re-sign—he'll free lance. . . . Warners' "Rendezvous," which has been indefinitely postponed here, may be done in England. . . . Delmer Daves is in Philadelphia making background shots for "Al Schmidt, Marine." . . . Gary Cooper is dickering with Hunt Stromberg to have Marie McDonald do one picture a year for him. . . . Frank Sinatra's next will be a musical version of "The Play's the Thing."

Long Stay in Las Vegas.

Frances Faye, who married Sam Farkas in Las Vegas and then was in an automobile accident which fractured her back, will stay right on in Las Vegas and open a night club there. The doctors tell her she'll be able to work in about two months. . . . When Emmet Lavery and D. W. Griffith dined at Lillian Gish's, Lavery, who wrote "The Magnificent Yankee," turned to Griffith and said, "Why won't you play Oliver Wendell Holmes for me?" Griffith said, "I'd love to." Preston Sturges who expects to do a picture sometime with D. W. doesn't think it's dignified enough for him. Well, I ask you, who had more dignity than Oliver Wendell Holmes? But man cannot live on dignity alone. With all this talk about helping Mr. Griffith, the father of our industry, find a place for himself, has anybody come forth and offered him so much per? You're darn tootin' they haven't! I've heard so many say, "O, but he doesn't need money." How do they know? We've treated him rottenly and if he can get a job on the stage I say, "More power to him!"

Grand Farewell Party.

Mike Romanoff's soiree for Molly and Charlie Berns of New York's 21 club was so popular we're pleading with Mike to turn his place into a Sunday night supper club. Everybody you like and want to be with was there and would be every Sunday. That would give stars a place to gather with their friends. You could have a party without giving it, go to one without being criticized, and dress up for your own amazement or that of your rivals. No, it's not Utopia—it's just Mike Romanoff's "saloon" where the Bob Hopes, David Selznicks, Gene Tierney, Janet and Adrian, Natalie Draper, Mrs. Danny Danker, Buddy De Sylva, Paulette Goddard and Buzz Meredith all foregathered to make merry for the Bernses, who will be off to New York by week's end. . . . Elizabeth Scott, whom Hal Wallis grabbed right out from under Warner's nose, was to have played the difficult part of Helen Wentworth in "Love Letters," but she proved to be too sexy. Seems the part calls for a girl who is beautiful but whose acting experience can provide a frigid type that men do not want to marry. Anita Louise got the part. . . . Dinah Shore received earrings to match the clip George Montgomery designed for her. . . . Reason Mary Livingstone has so many watches is because Jack Benny's hobby is watches. . . . Zeppo Marx gifted his wife with a huge diamond heart.

Back Home Again.

Judy Garland is on the move again. This time in with her mother and grandmother. Her apartment was rented from under her. . . . "Barretts of Wimpole Street" with Kit Cornell and Brian Aherne is playing right up at the front. They'll come back here after the first of the year, do a command performance at the White House, then visit army camps, and be here for a week in April. . . . Dennis O'Keefe hasn't a chance of even looking at those many beauties on the set of "Earl Carroll's Vanities" because Connie Moore is working in the same picture with him and she is a very close friend of his wife, Steffi Dunna. Besides, Connie's husband, John Maschio, is Dennis' manager. . . . Harry Langdon returns to make his first talkie, "Swinging on a Rainbow." He has been writing shorts at Columbia. There's lots of life and laughs in the old boy yet. . . . Marjorie Rambeau smokes cigars in "Salome, Where She Danced." Marjorie doesn't mind the cigaret shortage. She wants it known that she is collecting old cigar butts. Don't tell me she's going to take to chewing. That gal could get by with anything.

Women in War Work

By Dorothy Johnson

A survey of the approximately 80,000 women now employed in the radio industry in the Chicago area indicates that virtually 100 per cent wish to remain in the business of manufacturing radionic equipment after the war.

The condensed report, based on thousands of interviews with the women workers, discloses that most of the women who have taken jobs during the war and want to keep them in the post-war period are the young unmarried and the married but childless groups. In addition to these are approximately 25,000 women who held jobs in the industry before the war and who will remain at their benches, building home radio sets, when hostilities cease on all fronts.

Many young women radar-radio workers, now holding men's jobs, wish to be transferred to less strenuous tasks within the industry when the war is over. Others manning tools and machines indicated they have no intention of relinquishing their jobs unless it is proved to them that by so doing they will deprive a returned service man of a position.

Women engaged to service men said they will continue working after marriage in order to add to the family savings accounts, thus making possible definite plans for homes and the education of children.

Spokesmen for the Radio Manufacturers' association, coöperating in the survey, said the radio industry always has had a majority of women workers, because the work is of the type requiring the natural manual dexterity of women. Thousands of women now employed in the more than 50 radio plants in this area probably never will be called upon to give up their jobs to men, because the work they are doing was women's work before the war.

The opinion that the radar-radio industry will be the last to convert to peace time production has been expressed by Leslie Muter, president of the Radar-Radio Industries of Chicago, Inc., whose membership is composed of executives from most Chicago area radio plants.

"Because radar-radio equipment has become the nerve center of the fighting forces, as well as the sharpest prong of the attack," Mr. Muter said, "the Radar-Radio Industries of Chicago anticipate that they will be among the last to convert to civilian production.

"Without electronic weapons it is almost impossible to wage naval, ground, or air warfare. Consequently we are prepared to devote our full facilities to war production until the capitulation of Japan. When the military situation permits our industry to go into civilian production, we believe that we shall be able to convert far more rapidly than most other industries and that there will be little, if any, loss of employment during the reconversion interval."

Kohler Woman's Club Will Hear June Baker

June Baker, director of W-G-N's Home Management program, will address the Woman's club of Kohler, Wis., today. Miss Baker will be presented to the club by Mrs. Herbert V. Kohler. Before her marriage Mrs. Kohler, then Ruth De Young, was woman's editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

This Home-Mixed Cough Syrup Is Most Effective

Easily Mixed. Needs No Cooking.

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of plain syrup—a good ingredient, but one which you can easily make at home. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. Or use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of wonderful medicine for coughs due to colds. It makes a real saving because it gives you about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and tastes fine.

This is actually a surprisingly effective, quick-acting cough relief. Promptly, you feel it taking hold. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes and makes breathing easy. You've never seen anything better for prompt and pleasing results.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a most reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Clemenceau Lecture.

Even tho the Woman's Athletic club limited attendance to members only for a lecture Pierre Clemenceau gave there yesterday morning, every silver chair in the ballroom was occupied when the young Frenchman presented his analysis of "France Today and Tomorrow."

"Back the attack until the end by your money, your blood, your spirit, and your work," Mr. Clemenceau urged his audience. "And at the moment when the Germans and the Japs can't lift a finger, back the peace to save the world." With these concluding words he echoed the indomitable spirit of his grandfather, the late Georges Clemenceau, who as World War I. premier of his country was known as "the Tiger of France."

Some statistics given by Mr. Clemenceau on France today shocked his audience, among them that in less than one month of the blitzkrieg in France more than 130,000 soldiers and 120,000 civilians were killed and more than a million taken prisoner, that 5 million French people now are homeless, that more than 60 per cent of the country's locomotives and nearly two-thirds of its horses were destroyed or stolen by the Germans.

"Nevertheless, I am not here to wave the tricolor," he declared. "France is resolved to restore her country and to help other small nations restore theirs."

Some of those who heard the lecture and stayed for luncheon were Mrs. William Tracy Alden, Mrs. John Dern, Mrs. Chester Sargent, Mrs. Edwin C. Austin, Mrs. Alvin E. Bastien, Mrs. Averill Tilden, Mrs. William B. Greenlee, Mrs. Percy B. Eckhart, Mrs. Tracy L. Turner, Mrs. Edwin W. Sims Jr., Mrs. E. Franklin Motch, Mrs. Christopher Janus and her sister, Mrs. Stanley Gale Harris Jr.; Mrs. Frederick Herendeen, Mrs. John C. Slade, and Mrs. Nicholas Starosselsky and her daughter, Mrs. J. Hampton Monroe. Shortly after the first of the year Mrs. Monroe will become a Lake Forester again, as she and her husband will move out from town to the home they just have purchased from the junior Orville E. Babcocks.

Household Forum

Mrs. Effie B., Chicago—To save time when a recipe calls for chopped nuts, I put the shelled nuts between a folded piece of cloth, or paper, and then use my rolling pin to crush them. No fuss and muss with chopping bowl, this way.

Mrs. Bob H., Waterloo, Ia.—To keep a piece of jewelry from discoloring my skin, I give the back of it a light coating of clear nail polish, after I have washed the jewelry thoroly.

Elinor G., Moline, Ill.—To make sure of longer wear from hooks and eyes and snaps I use a buttonhole stitch when I sew them onto a garment.

Small Invalid Needs Simple Amusements

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

A mother writes that she has a 3 year old son who is ill with a heart ailment. He will be confined to his bed for three months or longer, during which time he has to be kept flat on his back. This mother says that the only way she can keep him so is by reading to him. She also moves his crib from one room to another for a change. And they play a game they call "find an object." She also has, which can be an asset in this case, a 6 year old son. She wants to know whether I have any suggestions.

If it were not a question of keeping this young invalid flat on his back, I would be full of suggestions, but that does cramp one's ideas. But one or two thoughts occur to me, and I don't believe they would conflict with the doctor's orders.

Many little children love and enjoy music. If you have a phonograph, put this to the test. If you haven't, borrow one for the duration of the illness. Then buy or borrow records. Young children enjoy not only music written for their age, but also many of the classics. In this family, the 6 year old could easily be taught to put on and take off the records.

A kitten [more work for mother!] would amuse him indefinitely. Also a bowl with gold fish or tropical fish in it.

A black board [at a proper angle] on which visiting, talented [?] adults might draw in white or colored chalk, or the younger brother do simple pictures or even little lessons, or for which mother might make up chalk games, would be different and diverting.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Jack of spades.

Yesterday we studied the play of a combination of cards, which, tho elementary, is not generally understood by the average player. Today we continue that topic with a variation of that holding involving the same fundamental principle.

Against South's contract of three no trump, West made the natural lead of the jack of spades, dummy played low and East won with the king. This marked the declarer with the queen and East decided that the best hope to defeat the hand was with the heart suit. He therefore returned the deuce of hearts. South played the four, West won with the ace and returned the suit, but South could not be prevented from taking a trick with the queen, making four no trump.

West complained bitterly over partner's failure to return his lead. His analysis was unsound. A spade return would merely hold the contract to nine tricks because declarer has four diamonds, three clubs, and two spade tricks. The heart return was the proper defense but East did not select the proper card. The return of the jack would have defeated the contract. South would presumably have covered with the queen, West would win with the ace and return the seven, capturing dummy's ten of hearts. If declarer refuses to cover, East properly continues with the deuce and four heart tricks are immediately taken. This is a variation of the play which we studied yesterday.

Note that dummy has an honor, the ten, which is surrounded by East's jack and nine and East also has a higher honor. East therefore should have led as tho he held the king, jack [ten], nine himself. The proper lead would have been the jack.

You are declarer at three no trump. The opening lead was the jack of hearts. You win the trick. What is your next play?

SIZES

Printed Silks, Beautiful and Costly, Shown

BY REA SEEGER.

Real silk prints, worth their weight in gold, are here, timed for luxury gift buying. Imagine the thrill of getting four yards of the precious stuff for a print dress to wear under the fur coat, comes the first hint of spring. These new silks are costly, but each bolt is a treasure. To feel the lovely silken weight is to recall pre-war days when we took such silk for granted, no matter how fine the quality or effective the printed patterns.

Many prints that will start conversation are shown, among them the vegetable garden themes—celery, radishes, cabbage, carrots, and beets—all imprinted on contrast backgrounds. The burnt orange with black vegetable prints is the most unusual. There's an exceptionally flattering blue silk imprinted with gay colored match clip motifs, and some fine, thin silks, with old English, almost chintz designs, featuring soft gray and brown colors on a blue background.

A stunning black background is gaily printed with roses, yellow daisies, and lilies of the valley in realistic garden colors, and other black backgrounds are splashed with scarlet flowers and green foliage. There are many soft neutral prints, also a distinctive white and copper inch square check pattern that will make a stunning dress and lining for a companion wool coat.

These are such superb silks that discriminating women will flock to appraise them, and while the supplies seem unexpectedly ample, they're nowhere near the complete assortments of former years, which means shopping and buying without much hesitation.

Thru the Looking Glass

We women go along so smug in our opinion that we know all the answers with regard to feminine charm and beauty that when a mere man comes up with a pearl of wisdom on the subject we're apt to be a little stunned. But sometimes the boys know what they're talking about.

We had our ears pinned back the other day at a social gathering when we innocently remarked that one of the women in the group looked lovely in her fashionably elegant hat and dress. Our little comment was met with the gruff reply that maybe she looked elegant but she certainly didn't act the part. And warming to the subject, we were startled to hear one of the men in the party go on to say that most women flutter and buzz too much, with no idea of the value of composure. He maintained that if we women spent half the time we give to primping and powdering in learning how to be poised and quiet we would be much better off.

He believes that a truly lovely woman has an air of tranquil calm and doesn't let herself evaporate into a whirlwind of aimless chatter, waving hands and making so-called animated gestures. Her voice, her gestures, every movement are as pretty and appealing as the clothes she wears and the face she makes up so carefully.

We had to admit that he had something there and think it a worthwhile thought to pass along. Maybe these hectic days have made most of us a little jittery and nervous, but if we're wise we won't give any outward sign of our inward feelings. With a little self-discipline we can develop a serenity of voice and manner that is no mean personal asset and well worth the effort of cultivating. LOUISE DOOLEY.

Scientist Sees Need to Adapt People to Urban Environment

Large cities of the country have achieved undreamed advantages for city dwellers in applied science, technology, and organization, yet many signs exist which show that human nature is still unadapted to urban environment, Dr. Louis Wirth, University of Chicago sociologist, declared yesterday, in his sixth lecture of a series on "The City: Organism or Artifact?"

The main problem of the city is combining freedom with order and security with progress, Dr. Wirth said. He declared a new metropolitan community is in the making, and that the replanning of the city must proceed on the economic, political, and social fronts as well as on the physical.

"The new metropolitan community will make the city in the political sense what it already tends to be in the economic and social sense, —a regional unity capable of collective action," said Prof. Wirth.

Young Singer's Debut Program Too Ambitious

A 19 year old singer, Elizabeth Jeffries, gave a debut recital in Kimball hall last night before the invariable capacity audience of this extraordinary season.

Miss Jeffries is probably to be classified as a coloratura soprano. At least her most ambitious efforts were in that direction, and the natural and acquired flexibility of her voice would seem to place her in that category, tho she is at present sacrificing something of both quality and volume to meet the demands of coloratura singing.

Her voice is by no means mature yet. In fact, its adolescent quality is so pronounced at times that one wonders if it is wise to subject it to so severe a test as the Bell Song from "Lakme." There is a certain innocent sweetness to her singing at its best, which was in Gluck's "O del mio dolce ardor," Pergolese's "Se tu m'ami," and Mozart's "Ave Verum." But she and all other singers should shun, in the name of all that's good taste, the perversion of Bach's "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" which is cropping up on song programs with distressing regularity—especially when it is galloped thru as it was by last night's pianist. Elman's Work Brilliant; Not So Orchestra

Concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Desire Defauw, conductor; Mischa Elman, violinist. Presented in Orchestra hall Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 14, 1944. The program:

Overture and Allegro, from "La Sultane" Suite ..... Couperin
[Arranged for orchestra by Darius Milhaud]
Symphony No. 2, "Antar" ..... Rimsky-Korsakoff
Concerto for Violin, No. 4, D major [Kichel 218] ..... Mozart
Fantasie on a Welsh Folksong ..... Ysaye

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

Yesterday's was one of Désiré Defauw's duller concerts, contrived of the resounding emptiness of two bloated scores, the curious overstuffing of a charming Couperin transcription, and the appearance of Mischa Elman in Mozart's D major concerto, with the soloist playing placidly and sometimes silkily thru a labored accompaniment composed of unrelated and often inarticulate episodes. As a place to rest between shopping excursions, Orchestra hall may have been a haven; as a place to hear music, it had its drawbacks.

Mr. Defauw has a taste for bombastic scores that is playing hob with the repertory. The resurrection of Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Antar," happily shelved for a quarter of a century, brought only woe in its wake. A turgid, turbid piece of fancy writing, with an occasional idea later exploited in "Scheherazade," it does full justice to a nonsensical libretto which begins all too frankly, "Grand is the aspect of the Desert of Sham." Théophile Ysaye's "Fantasy on a Walloon Folksong," tacked on at the end because the concert wasn't long enough, is equally unimportant, but shinier and shorter, and not on the whole much louder.

The Ysaye was played in Mr. Defauw's best manner, the Rimsky-Korsakoff as if the orchestra regretted the whole undertaking. But what happens to a dull score is only of momentary importance; what happens to a good one counts in the long run.

Mr. Defauw took the fastidious Milhaud arrangement of Couperin's music from "La Sultane" and when he got thru neither Couperin nor Milhaud would have recognized it. It is a patrician work, delicate and delightful, Mr. Defauw used full orchestra and played it with a driving attempt at sonority that backfired into labored shrillness. The Mozart, however, he cut down to the proportions of the piccolo. Doing its best to obey orders, the orchestra minced thru the andante cantabile in a pallid whisper. Better balance and some rhythmic vitality will help if Mr. Defauw can discover them before Mr. Elman reappears at the midweek concerts in the Martinu concerto.

Culture Scholarships to Be Established at U. of C. by Chinese

President Robert M. Hutchins announced yesterday that the University of Chicago has been chosen as one of six universities in the United States where the Chinese government will establish Chinese culture scholarships. Five such scholarships, each carrying an annual stipend of $1,500, will be set up in each of the six universities.

The scholarships, proposed by the Chinese ministry of education, will be open to all students, except those of Chinese nationality, who have studied at least one year in Chinese history, language, art, and social sciences, or who have contributed meritorious writings on these subjects.

The scholarships will be available for one year renewable upon expiration, but may not be held continuously for more than three years.

BRUINS' 7-5 VICTORY KEEPS HAWKS IN CELLAR

SOUTH TO SEND TWO STARS TO TRIBUNE MEET

Tennessee Bowlers Both Veterans.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The sovereign state of Tennessee will send two bowlers to the All-Star individual match game tournament, fourth of the world series to be sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and the Bowling Proprietors' Association of America, in the Auditorium Service Men's center from Dec. 2 thru 10.

Ray Johnson and Bob Steber of the Nashville Tennessean are dispatching Gordon Ingraham as their candidate, while Will Carruthers of the Memphis Press-Scimitar is sending along one of Tennessee's other veterans, Fred Beshore. With them is expected Ray Newton, who last year made a commendable performance in the 1943 tournament.

Both Armed with Records.

Both Ingraham and Beshore come armed with records which qualify them to argue with the brilliant field headed by Champion Ned Day, Runner-Up Paul Krumske, Rudy Pugel, Buddy Bomar, and Connie Schwoegler, the latter winner of the 1942 championship.

Ingraham was runner-up to Pee Wee Austin, victor in the Nashville Tennessean eliminations conducted by Johnson and Steber. Austin was unable to leave his post as manager of the alleys in suburban Old Hickory, so Ingraham was chosen, and both Austin and the sponsors of the Nashville trials feel there couldn't have been a better man to represent the state's capital city.

Trailed by Six Points.

Ingraham finished approximately six points back of Austin in the Petersen system of point scoring, which has been used by a majority of coöperating newspapers and by all of the five Chicago proprietors who are holding local tests, which will end here Saturday and Sunday. Gordon won 11 games, while Austin scored in 14. The latter had a total pinfall of 5,006, against Ingraham's 4,892. The point ratings for each were 114.6 for Austin and 108.42 for Ingraham. Gordon set a record series of 728 in the round robin.

Beshore, the Memphis candidate, has twice won the Rating tourney conducted by his city's bowling association. He came to Memphis six years ago from Akron, O., where he already had been established as a top flight tenpin marksman. He allowed he could do just as well in the south by winning the Southern singles and taking the all-events in the Southern tourney at New Orleans in 1942. In the last two years Fred, who is 50 years old, has maintained averages of 196 and 195. Married and the father of a son, Fred Jr., he tolds the highest average ever in winning Press-Scimitar's tourney—198.2.

Beshore Meets Ward.

On Saturday, Beshore will meet Walter Ward, the traveling bowler, in a special three game match which should more than warm up these two stars, both of whom will have a chance to go against each other in the All-Star event if they win two of the 11 places allotted to unseeded bowlers for man to man competition.

KINNICKS TOLD BY NAVY SECOND SON IS MISSING

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 14 (AP).—Because of hope that the announcement may prove wrong, Mr. and Mrs. Nile Kinnick of Omaha declined today to make any statement regarding a navy announcement that their second athlete son may be a victim of the war.

14. Benjamin Kinnick.

Nile Kinnick Jr., all-America quarter back and one of the nation's football greats while he was at the University of Iowa, died in a plane crash in the Caribbean June 2, 1943. Yesterday the navy announced his brother, Lt. Benjamin Greene Kinnick, has been missing in action since a flight Sept. 17 over Kavieng peninsula, New Ireland.

Benjamin, a marine corps flyer attached to a Mitchell B-25 bombing squadron, was prominent in high school athletics here, as was Nile before the latter went on to win All-America honors in 1939 and the John W. Heisman Memorial trophy. Benjamin's wife, Mrs. Eleanor White Kinnick, is a WAVE lieutenant at Staten Island, N. Y.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

WHEN Texans George Strohmeyer, the Iowa Seahawks' candidate for all-American center, and Half Back Randall Rushing reported for primary training recently in Norman, Okla., it meant a continuation of an association which started when they enlisted together in Dallas, Tex. . . . They took their pre-flight prep at William Jewell college in Liberty, Mo., progressed to war training at Yankton, S. D., and arrived at Iowa Pre-Flight in the same battalion. . . . After nearly two years of sea duty in the Pacific, Lt. Sid Richardson, twice winner of the Western conference golf championship while at Northwestern university, writes: "I'm a soft touch on a golf course now—really have to work to break 80." . . . The Young Men's Business club of New Orleans again will promote a fund to send service men to the Sugar bowl football game Jan. 1. . . . The club raised enough money last winter to send 20,000 boys in uniform to the contest. . . . The Boston Red Sox, already loaded with New Orleans boys, drafted another via Louisville. He is Pitcher Elwood Lawson, who was with Chattanooga last season. . . . Leon Bramlett, Navy end, has a brother starring at Clarksdale, Miss. . . . He is called "Graham, the Great," after having scored 124 points to lead all high school backs in Mississippi. . . . Leon prepped at Clarksdale also. . . . Connie Ryan, the Boston Braves second baseman, is at a naval base in Honolulu. . . . Max Lanier, Cardinal southpaw, has a better curve ball than Lefty Grove and is almost as fast, according to Jim [No-Hit] Tobin, Braves pitcher, now operating his own apartment house in Oakland, Cal.

Mickey Kreitner, the voluble Cub catcher, has opened a sports hangout and beanery in Nashville, Tenn. . . . Mississippi State's flashy freshman back, Shorty McWilliams, is in line for an appointment to West Point. . . . Vanderbilt university's informal football team has a tackle who preaches every Sunday in middle Tennessee churches. . . . Appropriately enough, his name is Parsons. . . . Dorothy Germain, women's Western golf champion, is a regular on the Beaver college hockey team. . . . You've heard about the punter who could hit a dime with a football. . . . The young man has been found in the person of Bob Teik, Marquette full back. . . . When Teik kicked out of bounds in a recent game, Head Linesman Herb Steger ran over to mark the exact spot at which the ball had rolled off the field. . . . Right there he found a shiny dime. . . . The post-war ambition of Bob Suffridge, star lineman with the Fleet City [Cal.] bluejacket eleven, is to run for sheriff of Knox county, Tennessee, on an independent ticket. . . . The Catholic Youth organization again will sponsor a post-season intersectional high school football game in New Orleans. . . . Phil Rizzuto, the former Yankee who played with the navy in the service "world series" in Honolulu, is back on duty in Australia.

A Mother-in-Law's Tribute.

I often think how life has changed for her
Since that most hallowed day that they were wed,
How deep within the heart must often stir
The memories of paths they longed to tread.
I often think of this courageous wife
Who smiles before the world and does her best
Who goes to work each day . . . and faces life
With gracious fortitude and youthful zest.
I often think . . . not once in any way
Has she complained since he's been over there;
A heroine in every sense today

The End of the Road.

Grandpa Hook and old Roger Bertsch,
Close cronies thru all of the years,
Have had a most bitter falling out,
It's enough to bring one to tears;
I can't tell you how badly they feel,
Nothing other than the New Deal.

One of these olden friends made a pass
About Roosevelt—then it began,
He really shouldn't have done it,
He knew where the other's mind ran;
So their anger mounted, their voices were raised,
Till one called the other a crook,
That did the trick, old Rog raised his stick
And bashed poor old Grandpa Hook.

Now isn't it silly for two old friends
To quarrel o'er election that way,
For long, long after the two of them
On the hillside are laid away,
There'll be people arguing candidates—
Which will win, which be left in the lurch,
And who will give even one passing thought
To Gramp Hook or old Roger Bertsch!

CONDUCT FINAL TESTS TONIGHT FOR C.Y.O. SHOW

Boxing Bouts Open Monday Evening.

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Final physical examinations for boys eligible to compete in the 14th annual Catholic Youth organization amateur boxing tournament will be held tonight in the C. Y. O. center gymnasium, 31 E. Congress st., between 7 and 8:30 o'clock. The meet will open in the center Monday night with eliminations in the open and novice classes. Sixteen championships—eight each in the experienced and novice divisions—will be determined in Ashland auditorium Dec. 6.

Leading team to report this evening will be that representing Our Lady of Guadalupe. The Rev. Michael Montoya, in charge of boxing at Our Lady of Guadalupe, 3208 E. 91st st., has entered five boys, including Douglas Coley, open welterweight. The team having the largest number of entrants will receive a trophy, as will the squad scoring the greatest number of points in the semi-finals and finals.

List Individual Awards.

Individual awards include an all expense trip and C. Y. O. monogram sweaters to open class winners, Bishop Sheil medals to novice victors, and boxing equipment and a year's membership to the C. Y. O. gymnasium to both open and novice champions. In addition, the Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, founder and director of the organization, will give each of the 16 title holders a scholarship to the Lewis School of Aeronautics.

Jim Sarno, 17 year old brother of Mike and Harry, 1942 open and novice light heavyweight champions, respectively, will report for his examination tonight. Sarno, representing St. Francis of Rome, will seek the open 147 pound title and thus make it a triple for the family.

Mike Is Busy Elsewhere.

Mike won't be around for the impending tournament. He has more important work to do with the army in the European war area, including the business of avenging Brother Harry, who was killed in the invasion of Normandy on D-day.

Lou Garrett, Cleveland lightweight, will make his Chicago debut in a preliminary bout in Marigold Gardens Monday against Jimmy Sherron of Indianapolis.

The New York veteran now leads 600 to 580 with two blocks remaining in St. Louis before the pair moves to Detroit. Defeated in the afternoon session 52 to 50, Hoppe saw his lead whittled to three points, but tonight he couldn't miss.

EYE CITY TITLE AND KELLY BOWL GAME

PREP FINALISTS MAKE PLANS FOR TITLE CONTESTS

Two high school football champions will be crowned this weekend as the City and Catholic leagues conclude regular season campaigns with games in Soldiers' field. The winners of the title contests, expected to draw the season's largest turnouts for prep games, will meet in the Kelly bowl, on the same gridiron, Dec. 2.

Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, undefeated Fenger, rated as one of the outstanding teams in Illinois, will meet Tilden Tech for the public school title. Fenger advanced to the finals by winning the south section crown and defeating Lane Tech, 8 to 7, in the semi-finals. Tilden, with only a tie on its record in winning the central section title, was tied by Austin, 7 to 7, in the semi-finals, but advanced to the finals on the toss of a coin.

Weber Furnishes Surprise.

Fenwick's Friars, north section champions, and Weber's Red Horde, south section titleholders, two undefeated but once tied teams, will meet Sunday afternoon for the parochial school crown.

All the finalists, with the exception of Weber, are veterans of league playoffs and Kelly bowl competition. Weber, surprise team of the year, is not only bidding for its first appearance in the bowl game, but its first league title. Fenger has appeared in the Kelly bowl three times, Tilden twice, and Fenwick once.

Tilden Is Underdog.

Tilden will be the underdog against Fenger, due principally to the Titans' undefeated record. Fenger has a powerhouse offense that bowled over six south section foes and two exhibition opponents before being checked by the strong Lane Tech line.

With that in mind, Coach Chuck Harvey of Tilden yesterday gave his Blue Devils a stiff workout, with some work on pass defense. It was the Fenger passing combination of Pete Konyar to Tim Madden that scored against Lane. Tilden, in its semi-final encounter, proved to be vulnerable to a passing attack since Austin came from behind to tie the score, 7 to 7, on a pass from Joe Lapetina to Phil Tolomeo. The touchdown had been set up with a lateral from Lapetina to Hermie Kranz and interference on a pass from Lepetina to Bob Schneider.

Tilden's offense will be built around Quarter Back Bill Gay, who has proved adept at snagging passes thrown by Half Back Mike Swistowicz, and Ed Kriwiel, left half back, who plunged for the score against Austin. Joe Dunlap, full back, rounds out the back field.

HAMLIN TRADED TO TORONTO; A'S WILL GET KNERR

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 14 (AP).—Luke [Hot Potato] Hamlin, 39 year old right hander who won six and lost 12 with the Philadelphia Athletics last season, has been traded to Toronto of the International league, Connie Mack announced today. Hamlin returns to the Maple Leafs as part payment for Luther Knerr, young hurler, who comes up with the A's next season.

Services and Injuries Take 6 from Irish

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 14 [Special].—Notre Dame started its preparations for the Northwestern game today, faced with the possibility that three regulars would not be available for duty against the Wildcats. Coach Ed McKeever also learned that three players had been called into service.

Capt. Pat Filley is out for the season with a bad knee, and Fred Roval, right guard, and Bob Kelly, Notre Dame's best running back, also are suffering from injuries sustained in the Army game, which will probably keep them out of action Saturday.

John Corbisiero, second string full back, reported today to the merchant marine, after enlisting several months ago. Johnny Ray, second string center, who played on the varsity until last week, reports on Friday for induction into the army. Ed Clasby, third team full back, also reports to the army this week.

N. U. AIMS TO KILL JINX.

Northwestern's Wildcats, victory hungry after a diet of four conference losses and one tie, entertain hopes of partaking of a victory feast at South Bend Saturday at the expense of Notre Dame's twice defeated Irish. The traditional ability of the Purple to rise to the heights in the annual tussle with Notre Dame is one reason for the hopeful note in the Wildcat lair this week.

A victory over Notre Dame would not only brighten up an otherwise dreary season but would terminate a string of three straight lickings at the hands of the South Bend eleven. The Wildcats haven't gained a decision over their old rivals since 1940 when they pounded out a 20 to 0 triumph. Last year's game went to the Irish by a score of 25 to 6.

Wildcats Always Bounce Back.

The refusal of Northwestern's young men to crack in the face of repeated defeats this fall has provided their followers with a source of encouragement. After each loss, the embattled Wildcats have fought back with added ferocity. After dropping a hard fought 14 to 7 decision to Indiana the Purple bounced back to tie Minnesota, 14 to 14.

SECRETARIES OF WAR, NAVY MEET ON GAME SHIFT

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14 (AP).—President Roosevelt plans to talk with Secretary of War Stimson about the possibility of shifting the Army-Navy football game away from Annapolis to a larger stadium.

Mr. Roosevelt said he had hoped to talk with Stimson earlier today but had had no opportunity. Since the war the Army-Navy football classic has been strictly a home ground affair, but there has been agitation this year to move the game from the naval academy to some place which can accommodate a larger crowd. Philadelphia and Baltimore have been mentioned.

Rep. Weiss [D., Pa.] said after a call at the navy department that Secretaries Stimson and Forrestal were "in conference over the possibility of changing the site of the Army-Navy game to Baltimore." Weiss said he expected a decision within the next 24 hours.

"The secretaries are seriously considering appeals of the treasury department to change the site of the big game from Annapolis to Baltimore or some other larger city and open it to the public," Weiss told a reporter.

FENWICK DADS' CLUB TO HONOR FRIARS ON DEC. 7

Fenwick High school's undefeated Friars, champions of the north section of the Catholic league, will be honored at the annual Fenwick Fathers' club dinner in the Terrace room of the Morrison hotel on Dec. 7, it was announced yesterday.

DECATUR MAN IS 1ST PURCHASER IN BOND CONTEST

Bernard Graliker of Decatur, Ill., won't be needing his binoculars Saturday when he watches Notre Dame and Northwestern battle on the Irish gridiron. He will be within whispering distance of the sideline from his seat on the Notre Dame bench.

The Decatur man qualified for the first of 50 seats which will be allotted the first 50 purchasers of war bonds in the sum of $10,000 or more. Twenty-five will be seated on the Notre Dame bench and 25 on Northwestern's. Just to make doubly sure, Mr. Graliker, who is vice president of the Millikin National bank in Decatur, sent in an order for $13,000.

First Indiana Purchase.

This launched the Northwestern-Notre Dame special sixth war bond rally and also qualified the Decatur man as a contestant for one of two autographed footballs, top prizes in the contest. One is autographed by the late Knute Rockne and players of his undefeated 1930 Notre Dame team. The other one will be autographed by members of the team which wins Saturday.

Late last night, an order for $10,000 in bonds by an unnamed purchaser was reported from South Bend, thus officially starting a bond buying race among Illinois and Indiana fans. Each purchase of $10,000 or more for bench seats also counts in the contest for the autographed balls.

It's First Come, First Served.

The rally's No. 1 bond buyers from each state—Illinois and Indiana—will receive the balls. The historic 1930 ball will, of course, go to the one whose purchase is highest. If this is an Indiana man, the Rockne ball will go to the individual who leads the contestants from that state. If Illinois furnishes the top purchaser he will get the Rockne ball and the Indiana leader the 1944 one.

Tho an Illinois citizen, Graliker will be right at home among the Irish players. His son was graduated from Notre Dame in 1942 and now is a navy flyer.

Remember, it will be first come first served, and all orders must be postmarked no later than Friday midnight. They should be addressed to War Bond Football Editor, sports department, CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Cashier's checks or drafts should be made payable to the treasurer of the United States or to the Federal Reserve bank of Chicago.

Penalty—Crawford.

Referee—Bill Chadwick. Linesmen—Bill Cleary and Ag Smith.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 14 (AP).—Scoring five goals in the second period, Boston's Bruins tonight celebrated the opening of their 21st National Hockey league season by defeating Chicago's Blackhawks, 7 to 5, before a sell-out crowd of 13,500 in Boston garden. All receipts of the game were turned over to the Disabled War Veterans' fund.

The Blackhawks, who left home after falling into the league cellar last Sunday night, were more firmly imbedded in that spot tonight and now face the prospect of meeting the Maple Leafs in Toronto Saturday and playing the same team in Chicago Stadium Sunday night.

Cowley Breaks 2 to 2 Tie.

Left Winger Herb Cain, who set a new league record last season by totaling 82 points, and Rookie Bill Cupolo each scored twice for the Bruins tonight and Bill Cowley, veteran playmaker, contributed three assists in less than five minutes in addition to making the goal that broke a 2 to 2 tie in the second period. The other Bruins to drive the puck thru Goalie Mike Karakas were Bill Jennings and Frankie Mario.

The Blackhawks who kept heavy pressure on their rivals from start to finish were sparked by Pete Horeck, who accounted for their first and third tallies. The other Chicago goals came off the sticks of Bill Mosienko, Lude Check, and Russ Brayshaw. Clint Smith totaled three assists in the Chicago scoring department.

Only Two Penalties Called.

Despite the speed which the two teams used in tonight's game the contest was exceptionally void of contact, only two penalties being called, both of them against Boston.

Both goalies spent active evenings, Harvey Bennett of Boston being credited with a total of 33 stops and Karakas 22.

HAWKS SELL BRETTO.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 14 (AP).—Joe Bretto, Chicago Blackhawks defense man, has been purchased by the Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey league in a straight cash deal, President Al Sutphin announced tonight.

Bretto played with both Minneapolis and St. Paul of the American association before the war and was signed this year by the Blackhawks after a two season rest at his home in Hibbing, Minn.

TEAMMATES PAY FINAL RESPECTS TO ALLEN SHAFER

Madison, Wis., Nov. 14 [Special].—Allen Shafer, University of Wisconsin quarter back who died from injuries received in the Iowa game here Saturday, was buried today at the Forest Hill cemetery after services conducted by the Rev. A. W. Swan. Dean Frank Holt, assistant to Dr. Clarence Dykstra, president of the university, also spoke.

Among the 1,500 in attendance were Maj. John L. Griffith, athletic commissioner of the Western conference; Coach Edward P. [Slip] Madigan of the University of Iowa, and E. G. Schroeder, director of athletics at Iowa. Floral tributes came from Northwestern university, the University of Iowa, the University of Wisconsin, and Madison West High school, from which Shafer was graduated.

The Wisconsin squad held no practice today and attended the services in a group as honorary pallbearers. Former teammates of Shafer at Madison West High were the active pallbearers.

WHAT STRATEGY WILL ILLINI USE IN OHIO GAME?

Surprises Believed Gone After Michigan Battle.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

At what point will Illinois deliver its principal attack against Ohio State's undefeated team in Cleveland Saturday now that it has been unable to whip Michigan by assault on the line? The type of attack becomes important because of this failure and because Illinois, which presented unexpected shifts in personnel in the games with Notre Dame and Michigan, probably has no more surprise moves to make.

Illinois will continue to use the T formation. Whether Illinois will depend almost entirely on rushing plays, or shift emphasis to forward passes, and whether the rushing attack will be concentrated inside of defensive tackles or on sweeping runs are among the vital questions. The answers are being formulated this week in Champaign.

Illinois' attack against Michigan was based on rushing. Only seven forward passes were attempted and all failed. Paul Patterson, who has been considered the most proficient Illinois passer, had only one attempt. Thus the decision between Michigan and Illinois was made on rushing since the Wolverines, with advantage of their first quarter touchdown, only called for two passes.

Young Nets 84 Yards.

Claude [Buddy] Young carried the ball for 17 of Illinois' 43 rushing plays for a net gain of 84 yards. In the first period Young carried the ball seven times and gained 70 yards. Thus he was held to a net of 14 yards for the remaining three-quarters in which he carried 10 times.

Young gained 24 yards on a sweeping run around Michigan's right end on his first play. Other wide runs in the first period gained 28, 2, and 9 yards. He carried three times on quick opening thrusts. Young got 3 yards on the first and 3 more on the second, but failed to gain on the last which, incidentally, was a fourth down play and gave the ball to the Wolverines on their 32 yard line.

Depend on Line Play.

Bill Butkovich gained 2 yards on a quarter back sweep in the second quarter and Don Greenwood lost 5 yards on another sweep. In the third period Eddie Bray picked up 8 yards on a wide run and later Young lost a yard on the same play at the other end.

Illinois chose to attempt to beat Michigan thru the line according to these statistics. This is emphasized by Illinois' seven forward passes, all of which were clearly indicated to the defense by the down and required distance. Five passes were thrown on third down when obviously a running play could not be expected to make distance. In the last minute of the half, Greenwood attempted the other two Illini passes on first and second downs and the latter, with Young in flanking position, was intercepted by Don Lund.

Since Illinois could not break loose its fast backs thru Michigan's line defense, it is likely a different type of attack will be used against Ohio State which, presumably, boasts of a defense equal to Michigan's. This probably will include more passing, possibly by Patterson.

ILLINI DRILL FOR BUCKEYES.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 14 [Special].—Come early and stay late would seem to be good advice for fans attending any Ohio State-Illinois football game, the 33d of which will be played in Cleveland Saturday.

Illinois began grooming its backs today to be ready for the 1944 renewal of this historic series. Don Greenwood and Paul Patterson were at the half backs, while Eddie Bray and Buddy Young rested. Young will be ready for the Cleveland game, but Bray's status is doubtful.

ARMY OFFICER HELD IN DEATH OF ED BRANDT

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 14 (AP). — Prosecuting Atty. Leslie M. Carroll said today the case of an air force lieutenant whose car on Nov. 1 struck down and killed Edward [Lefty] Brandt, 39, well known former major league baseball player, has been turned over to military authorities.

The lieutenant, a patient at the near-by Fort George Wright Convalescent hospital, is the holder of the distinguished flying cross and air medal with three oak leaf clusters for his service in the air force. He has been confined to quarters since the accident.

Brandt retired from baseball five years ago after a pitching career that included the Boston Braves and Pittsburgh Pirates.

Season to Close Friday in Goose Hunting Hotbed

BY BEN MARKLAND.

An order closing the 1944 goose hunting season Friday noon in Alexander county, southern Illinois, was announced yesterday by the United States Fish and Wildlife service.

The order applies only to the one county, and permits the taking of geese in all the rest of Illinois and other states in the central zone until Jan. 1. More than 95 per cent of all geese killed annually in Illinois are bagged in Alexander county.

Albert M. Day, assistant director of the fish and wildlife service, said that the early cessation of goose shooting conforms to the agreement made before the opening of the hunting season by federal officials, the Illinois department of conservation, and goose hunting clubs in the Cairo and Miller City area.

THERE'S LIMIT TO EVERYTHING, SO CARD-PITTS HOPE

BY EDWARD PRELL.

The Chicago Cardinals' section of the Card-Pitt football combine in the National league is confident that on Sunday afternoon in Comiskey park a string of 23 consecutive league defeats will be broken, no matter how the other half might be thinking. If this comes to pass the mortified parties will be the Cleveland Rams, who, tagged with four straight losses, are mortified enough already.

The Cardinals' unprecedented run of defeats was started by the Rams in a 7 to 3 game in Cleveland in 1942. The next five that season also went down the defeat chute and this was where Jim Conzelman got off. Phil Handler had the Cards in 1943 and they played to the hilt for the new coach, but only came close, losing four of their 10 contests by a touchdown to such teams as the Redskins, Lions, Phil-Pitts, and Brooklyn. That made it 16 in a row.

Now, twinned with what remains of the Pittsburgh Steelers, but still attired in the traditional red and white Cardinal colors, the team has dropped seven in seven this season. Experts in defeat, they outgained the Lions in Detroit last Sunday, 338 yards to 119, yet lost 21 to 7. This Cleveland team, by the way, handed the Card-Pitts their first 1944 loss in a 30 to 28 game.

Grigas Is Star in Defeat.

They have tossed out the T formation, so confidently adopted last summer in their camp at Waukesha. The boys simply found out they didn't have the kind of personnel to operate the system made famous by the Bears. Now they're back to the Notre Dame box, with Johnny Grigas the key player in the back field.

It is the sterling passing, running, and punting of Grigas, onetime Holy Cross star, on which the Cardinal section base: hopes for an end to all this Sunday humiliation. Grigas, a 205 pound 6 footer, is the league's leading ground gainer and he also is the workhorse among the backs. Johnny has carried the ball 149 times for 554 yards and a 3.7 average. Bill Paschal, the Giants' iron man, has lugged the ball 111 times for second place with 513 yards, while the Lions' busy Frankie Sinkwich has run 122 times for 450 yards.

Grigas has hurled the ball 83 times since taking over the passing job from little Johnny McCarthy, who did the tossing when the team used the T. Thirty-four of the 83 throws have been completed for three touchdowns and an aggregate of 432 yards. Incidentally, McCarthy, who was injured two weeks ago, will be ready for action again Sunday.

He Has Help, Too.

Grigas is by no means the only back on this mystery team, which was an early season selection to give the Packers and Bears a close run for the western championship. Bobby Thurbon, the former Pitt star and one-time teammate of the Bears' Al Grygo at Erie, Pa., academy, is one of the best runners among the pros. George Magulick, 150 pound freshman from St. Francis college, is a fast breakaway runner. Ed Rucinski, one-time Indiana end, has been doing a good job at left half, averaging 4.5 yards.

Meanwhile the Chicago Bears continued preparations yesterday for their first of three successive road games Sunday against the Lions in Detroit.

SOCCER LEADERS SCHEDULE CUP GAME REPLAYS

Dates and sites for cup game replays were announced last night by the Illinois State Soccer commission. The Hakoah-Centers and Spartas, who battled thru one game and an overtime period to a 3 to 3 tie a week ago Sunday and thru one game and two overtime periods to a 1 to 1 tie last Sunday, are to make a third attempt to reach a decision in their semi-final round cup game in the National league's B division. Their third meeting will take place at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon in Key Branch stadium, 5400 W. Roosevelt rd.

The Swedish-Americans and Hansa will replay their first round game at 2:30 p. m. Sunday in Winnemac Park stadium, Foster-av. and Leavitt st. The Swedish-Americans' protest of the use of an unsigned player by Hansa in their earlier meeting was upheld. The Kickers and Guisti-Italians will replay a first round game Sunday in Lane Tech stadium, Western av. and Addison st., with the Norwegians and Necaxa meeting in a second game there.

Purdue Seeks To Stop Navy Ground Game

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 14 [Special].—Developing a defense designed to slow down Navy's high powered running attack occupied the main attention of Purdue's coaches this afternoon in a continuation of preparation for the intersectional clash with the Midshipmen in Baltimore Saturday.

Ed Cody, hard hitting full back, made his first appearance on the practice field since the Michigan game, and there was some hope that he might be able to see action Saturday. Altho not in full uniform, Cody appeared in football shoes and shorts to give his injured knee an experimental run.

INDIANA STRENGTHENED.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 14 [Special].—Indiana's football team was strengthened today for Saturday's encounter with Pittsburgh here by the return to the squad of Half Backs Ben Raimondi and Ed. McLean, both of whom have been injured. Raimondi, one of the team's most promising passers at the start of the season, last appeared against Michigan and has been sidelined ever since with a dislocated shoulder. McLean suffered a side injury against Iowa three weeks ago.

CRISLER STRESSES DEFENSE.

Coach H. O. [Fritz] Crisler gave most of his attention to defensive tactics and applied considerable time to line play with hopes of keeping Michigan's still improving line on the upswing for the following week's Ohio State game as much as for the Badger invasion.

BRITISH AFFIRM ALLEGIANCE TO CARTEL POLICY

Stand Clouds Hope for Agreement.

BY CHARLES GOTTHART.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Rye, N. Y., Nov. 14.—The British have no intention of abandoning cartels, their industrial spokesmen said today at the international business conference.

Chairman Arthur R. Guinness said Britain's only concession to objections to such systems from the United States and other countries would be to recommend registration and government regulation of cartels after the war.

His statement clouded prospects for agreement between the 52 nations represented at the conference on one of the most controversial factors involved in post-war world trade expansion.

Prosecuted in United States.

Cartels and similar arrangements for dividing production and consumer markets have been subject to prosecution under United States anti-trust laws. The American position is shared by other countries, including India, whose spokesmen yesterday said cartels had prevented industrialization of their country.

Reminded that Germany began its drive toward world military dominance thru use of cartels, Guinness told reporters: "Germany would have done the same thing without cartels. Her industrialists were in league with the Nazi government."

Clive L. Baillie, British industrialist and member of the delegation, said: "We don't look at cartels in terms of good or bad. We believe that these arrangements, properly made, with a proper degree of government supervision, may be useful implements in the development of world trade."

Backs Review by Government.

Asked to define a "bad" cartel, he said the measure is one of motive, but that he was not aware that cartels, on the British scheme, had resulted in excessive prices or in depriving areas of needed merchandise. He recommended that cartels be subject to periodic government review.

Guinness said that imperial preference trade agreements signed in 1932 and still in effect, "even recognized by the Atlantic Charter," have been of much advantage to Britain. "The system has given us a broad area of trade which will be even more valuable after the war," he said.

Any change in this system would be equivalent to "economic disarmament" for his country, he said, but assured the conference no change would be made until agreed upon by British empire governments. "It is up to the United States and the rest of the world to begin economic disarmament," he said.

Works Program Developed.

Guinness said his government had worked out an extensive post-war public works program to ease economic hardship during periods of poor business, but emphasized most reliance for economic well being was being placed on expanding world trade.

British opinion had not crystallized on the question of keeping American lend-lease materials, he said, but most of the machine tools sent had been badly worn, partly because of inexperienced handling, and his country needed more machines for war production.

A word battle waged with press releases developed between the British and Indian delegations. Chunilal B. Mehta, chairman of the Indian delegation, charged the British government had made war purchases in India below domestic prices and said the absence of price control until mid-1943 accelerated the increase in living costs. "The fact that millions died of starvation in Bengal last year indicates the privations and sacrifices of the Indian people," he said.

Guinness countered: "To connect the famine in any way with British purchases of supplies in India is a travesty."

BRITISH ARE CONCERNED

LONDON, Nov. 14 (AP).—Concern over post-war markets again was expressed in the house of commons today. Patrick Hannon, Conservative, said, "Careful plans are in progress in the United States to seize virtually the whole of South American trade."

Hugh Dalton, president of the board of trade, cautioned calm and said discussions on Latin American markets have been proceeding with the United States, but Emanuel Shinwell, Laborite, commented, "While discussions are taking place, we are slowly, but surely, losing a lot of trade."

Neil McLean, Laborite, touched off the debate with the statement that a Manchester company had been denied a license to export steam piping to a textile company in Brazil. The British company was told that the United States had made itself responsible for the export to South America of all finished steel, McLean said.

"How many agreements of this kind have been made between this country and the United States?" he asked. "Are any reciprocal advantages going to manufacturers in this country?"

National Tea company yesterday reported sales in the four weeks ended Nov. 4 were $7,647,980, an increase of 6.7 per cent from year ago volume. Stores in operation on Nov. 4 totaled 839, compared with 884 a year earlier.

Peace Curbs Would Hinder Output: Ayres

Reconversion will be a "slow and sorry" process if plans for post-war business controls recently announced in Washington prevail, Brig. Gen. Leonard P. Ayres said yesterday in the Cleveland Trust company's monthly business report.

"We seem to have accepted the idea that the purpose of post-war planning is to preserve war time economic conditions after peace has returned," he said. "We want to retain, or even to increase, war time wage rates, but we wish to hold prices down to war time levels, or to decrease them. We want the war time kind of full employment, but with full liberty for every one to choose the job he would like to have."

War Time Income Held Needed.

He said that to accomplish this war time levels of national income would be necessary, but that the country wants the flow of funds to originate with private enterprise and the transition to full civilian output to be brief and uncomplicated.

"Most of the post-war planning that produces these ideals represents sheer wishful thinking," he said. "The truth is that the decrease in the flow of funds from the public treasury which will promptly result from the terminations and cutbacks of munitions contracts following the defeat of Germany will be about the same as the shrinkage in the national income which took place from the peak of prosperity in 1929 to the bottom of the depression in 1932.

Plans Would Hamper Shift.

"The transition will be rendered doubly difficult if our planners in Washington carry out the plans they have recently been announcing thru the newspapers. They have decided that price ceilings should be maintained during reconversion. Continued controls over instalment buying are advocated. Commodity cartels are contemplated. Controls over the production of materials are being promoted.

"Reconversion will be a slow and sorry process if these ideas prevail. No one will produce at capacity while knowing that his enterprise may any day be wrecked by a new directive from Washington. Our planners are rapidly impairing our reconversion incentives."

CRANE COMPANY TO PAY SPECIAL 50 CENT DIVIDEND

Crane company declared a special dividend of 50 cents a share on common stock with the quarterly payment of 25 cents, increasing 1944 disbursements to $1.50 a share from $1 last year.

Congoleum Nairn, Inc., linoleum manufacturer, will distribute an extra dividend of 25 cents in addition to its regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents, making a total of $1.25 paid this year against $1 last year.

In addition to a quarterly dividend of $1.50, International Business Machines corporation declared a 5 per cent dividend in stock to be delivered Jan. 29 or as soon thereafter as practicable. A similar stock dividend was paid Jan. 28.

B. Kuppenheimer & Co. will pay an extra dividend of 50 cents with a semi-annual dividend of 50 cents on common stock.

The 11th annual business convention of the American Finance conference will open in the Palmer House tomorrow after a series of directors' and executives' meetings today. Prospects for various phases of financing after the war will be discussed.

E. M. Voorhees, chairman of United States Steel corporation's finance committee, will address the 51st annual meeting of the Illinois Manufacturers' association Dec. 12. More than 2,000 industrial executives of the middle west are expected to attend. John H. Collier, president of Crane company, is chairman of arrangements.

SPEEDIER TAX REFUNDS HELD BUSINESS NEED

Many Firms Facing Cash Shortages.

Many individual businesses and possibly some entire industries will be confronted with severe working capital or cash shortages during the post-war reconversion period and revisions in the tax laws are "badly needed" to accelerate tax refunds to speed peace time production, two Harvard university business school researchers said yesterday.

Their conclusions were based on an analysis of post-war financial problems of the Polaroid corporation, Cambridge, Mass., which they said were typical of many new and expanding companies without large capital resources. The study was made by Prof. J. Keith Butters and John Lintner, a fellow in the business school.

Makes Varied War Products.

Polaroid's early business consisted largely of the development, manufacture, and sale of light polarizing materials and of accessories for their utilization. War time products include goggles, polarizing and non-polarizing colored filters, precision plastic optical parts, and blind flying training equipment.

The study said one of Polaroid's big post-war problems would be accumulating sufficient capital to finance its plans for further expansion. It explained that the company's more than tenfold war time expansion was undertaken with meager financial resources, with heavy reliance placed on bank loans, government advances, and tax reserves. At the end of 1943 Polaroid's balance sheet showed a ratio of current assets to current liabilities of only 1.1 and net working capital of less than $600,000.

The authors asserted that this working capital obviously would be inadequate to support peace time sales to private companies equal to 1943 sales of 10 million dollars. Polaroid, however, has excellent prospects in various fields for sales at least this large, they said.

May Retard Expansion.

"Polaroid thus is confronted with the problem of raising the capital needed to finance its potential post-war sales volume and research program," the study said. "Unless an adequate supply of capital can be raised on terms acceptable to the management, capital shortages may seriously retard the rate of post-war expansion."

The study said that the relatively few companies with outstanding prospects for expansion are of far more economic importance than their number would indicate. It said the rapid expansion of these companies would be of critical importance to the economy after the war when the need for new private investment would be acute.

"During the transition years numerous firms clearly will experience shortages of working capital or cash," the study said. "If tax refunds from the carry-back provisions and section 722 of the tax laws are delayed the transition will be unnecessarily protracted.

Employment Cuts Forecast.

"Many firms such as Polaroid will be forced to adopt ruthless policies in cutting back employment and delaying post-war developments in order to protect their cash and working capital positions.

"Not only will employment be unnecessarily low and business fatalities be unnecessarily high during the transition years in the event of delayed refunds, but the resumption of full scale peace time production will be delayed."

Asserting the report provided an adequate basis for recommending changes in the carry-back provisions to accelerate payments under these refunds, the researchers said:

"The treasury has recognized the dangers inherent in delayed carry-back refunds to such firms and has proposed that the tax law be revised to accelerate these refunds. The treasury proposal would allow tax payments on liabilities incurred in the previous year to be postponed to the extent of currently accruing carry-back refunds. The immediate enactment of this proposal is strongly recommended."

Predicts Many New Wonders of Chemistry

Many innovations of chemical origin in textiles, automotive fuel, home construction and furnishings and other consumer products will emerge after war security measures are lifted, Walter J. Murphy, American Chemical society's editor, told the Investment Analysts Club of Chicago yesterday in the La Salle hotel.

Walter J. Murphy.

Among his predictions were glass that will float, glass that is unbreakable, decorative glass fibers of many types and kinds, wood that will not burn or warp, laminations of plastics and wood that will compete with structural metals, serviceable and long wearing shoes that contain no leather, window screens of plastics, machinery bearings that contain no metal, and plastic piping in homes.

Suits That Won't Wrinkle!

Revolutionary changes in the textile industry, said Murphy, will include "stockings that won't run, pants that won't shine, suits that won't wrinkle, even when wet, and woolens that won't shrink and will wear three times as long, and all this without changing the feel and texture of the cloth."

He said present "super-gasolines" and ones hinted at as being perfected in research laboratories will not convert post-war automobiles into flying machines, but will permit larger economies in operation and radical and desirable changes in engine and body design.

A 25 per cent increase in efficiency of fuel utilization coupled with improved car design ultimately will lift gasoline mileage to 30 to 40 per gallon, he said. In commercial aviation, new fuels will mean higher cruising speeds, larger planes, and more profitable pay loads.

Plywood Prospects Told.

In the home building industry, plywood adhesives perfected for aviation will be available. Thin sheets of "veneer" or ply bonded together can be bent or molded into nearly any shape desired. Plywood furniture, bathtubs, light walls, and movable partitions as strong per unit of weight as steel will assist materially in making inexpensive and durable homes, he asserted.

"Chemically treated soft and inexpensive woods will be 'transmuted' into hard woods—highly fire, rot, and termite resistant—dyed in any color of the rainbow, which may be bent, twisted and compressed," he said. "Eventually a sticking door, window, or bureau drawer will be more than cursed at, it will be replaced."

RISE IN RECEIPTS CUTS HOG PRICE LEVEL 15 CENTS

The largest Tuesday hog receipts in four months broke the market for most stock 10 to 25 cents and sent the top to a 10 day low of $14.35 a hundred pounds at the Chicago stock yards yesterday. Farmers delivered 25,000 head, including directs to packers, compared with 19,803 a week earlier. The average was down 15 cents at $14.25, equal to the lowest since Nov. 3.

Cattle met narrower demand at weak to 25 cent lower prices, with many kinds showing a two day break of 35 to 50 cents. Lambs brought mostly steady prices, but trading was slow.

FRENCH LABOR GROUP DEMANDS DRASTIC MONETARY CONTROLS

BY ROBERT SAGE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 14.—Impatient with the provisional government's delay in taking drastic financial measures to reduce the present bloated money circulation, the Confederation Generale du Travail, a vast labor organization which enrolls a majority of French workers, today demanded the enactment of a nine point program enabling the government to check up on private fortunes and control private financial transactions.

Included in the program are government control of foreign exchange, compulsory registration of bearer bonds and declaration of gold stocks, confiscation of property belonging to "traitors, collaborators, and traffickers," taxation of large profits, census of private fortunes, exchange of present bank notes for others of a new type, and nationalization of credit and key industries.

Exchange of bank notes has become urgent because both the Germans and French collaborators who fled with them carried off enormous quantities of bills of the types still in circulation, the confederation said.

The labor organization asserted that any monetary policy is certain to fail if not supported by drastic economic reforms, among the chief of which is nationalization of credit and key industries.

Rails Report Big Passenger, Freight Loads

Railroads are handling about 2½ times the amount of freight traffic they did before the war and passenger business has more than quadrupled, the car service division of the Association of American Railroads reported to members last night. The association's annual meeting will be held today in the Blackstone hotel. Directors met yesterday.

Altho freight has been handled without "serious car shortages, loss of factory production time, spoilage, or loss of foodstuffs," the division said, the movement of passenger traffic is "one of the most serious problems."

22 Million More Passengers.

"Excluding commutation travel, railroads in the first half of 1944 carried 21,854,000 more passengers than in the same period last year and passenger miles increased 7 billion 401 million," said the report.

"Total revenue passenger miles, including commutation, for the first six months of 1944 were 4 per cent more than for the entire year of 1920, as the peak prior to this war."

The division also said loads about double those of World War I. were being carried with "one-fourth fewer freight cars, about one-fourth fewer passenger train cars, and one-third fewer locomotives than in 1918."

Three Tons Per Car Added.

"By reason of the increased loading of slightly more than three tons per car in 1944, compared with 1927, a greater tonnage of coal has been transported by rail in the first 40 weeks of 1944 than in any previous corresponding period," the division said.

Despite unprecedented movement of export freight, all ports are open and free of congestion, it reported. In September, when a record average of 5,659 cars of export freight was unloaded at the ports daily, the amount awaiting unloading was less than five days' supply.

LATE SELL-OFF PUSHES STOCK MARKET LOWER

Transactions Pass Million Shares.

New York, Nov. 14 (AP).—Leading industrial and railroad stocks weakened in the final hour today and closing losses of fractions to a point or more were widespread. Scattered issues lost more than 2.

As in yesterday's downturn the decline was attributed to no single factor. Accounts were reduced in most cases because of persistent reconversion apprehension on the basis of a possible collapse of Germany, a little tax selling, recent failure of the averages to top the seven year peaks of July, dwindling hope of any 1945 tax cuts, belief boosted wages will unsettle industry and the decision to await the temper of congress.

Selling Tapers in Morning.

Liquidation tapered in the forenoon and some issues recovered, but the downward trend was resumed in the final hour and volume picked up appreciably.

The Associated Press 60 stock average was off 0.7 at 54.4, on top of a 0.5 recession yesterday, widest setback since Sept. 6. Of 943 issues traded, 693 declined, 111 advanced, and 139 were unchanged. Transfers were 1,100,980 shares compared with 917,760 yesterday.

Among prominent stocks declining were United States Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Santa Fe, New York Central, Atlantic Coast Line, Goodrich, Goodyear, United States Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, Sperry, Western Union A, Woolworth, Kennecott, Texas company, Westinghouse Electric, du Pont, Allied Chemical, Johns-Manville, International Harvester, and Philip Morris.

BOND PRICES SAG.

New York, Nov. 14 (AP).—With scattered exceptions among investment rated corporates, bonds lost fractions to a point or more today. Rails showed strength early, but ended with the widest losses. Sales were $7,887,000 against $7,503,700 yesterday.

CHICAGO LIST LOWER.

Prices again were lower yesterday in increased turnover of 38,000 shares on the Chicago Stock exchange. Volume leaders included Middle West corporation, down ½; Nash-Kelvinator, off ¼; Swift & Co. and Commonwealth Edison, each down ¼, and Chicago corporation, off ⅛. Three new 1944 highs were reached.

Bill to Prevent Old Age Tax Boost Offered

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—A bill freezing pay roll taxes for old age benefits at their present level of 1 per cent during 1945 was introduced in the senate today by Sen. Vandenberg [R., Mich.]. Under the present law, the tax would automatically become 2 per cent Jan. 1.

Under the constitution, all revenue measures are instituted by the house, so the senate can adopt Vandenberg's bill only by attaching it as an amendment to a revenue bill passed by the house and sent to the senate.

Must Ride House Bill.

In the opinion of congressional observers, Vandenberg's bill will have to be attached to some measure of such importance that it will not be vetoed by the President. The only revenue measure expected before the adjournment of the present session is a technical amendment to the estate tax which Rep. Doughton [D., N. C.], chairman of the house ways and means committee, said today may be adopted by the house.

Vandenberg told the senate in a speech that there was no necessity for an increase in pay roll taxes Jan. 1 because the total reserve for old age benefits June 30, 1944, was 5½ billion dollars, eight times the highest estimated annual expenditure under the social security system in the next five years.

"Incompatible" rules in the social security statute for determining the level of pay roll taxes for old age insurance were attacked by Vandenberg in his speech.

Holds Provisions Conflict.

"On the one hand," said Vandenberg, "the statute looks toward the so-called 'Morgenthau rule' which says the reserve is sufficient when it is three times the highest contemplated annual expenditure in the next five years. On the other hand, it arbitrarily increases the pay roll tax rate on employers and employes from 1 per cent at present to 2 per cent for 1945, to 2½ per cent in 1946, to 3 per cent in 1948—altho no such increases are necessary to create an adequate reserve under the Morgenthau rule.

"One plan or the other is wrong. The question ought to be permanently settled so as to take it out of annual controversy. There should be no uncertainties regarding any phase of social security."

Vandenberg's bill also would direct the joint congressional committee on internal revenue to investigate the subject of pay roll taxes and report by July 1, 1945.

HALSEY, ALLEN MAKE TOP BIDS FOR TWO ISSUES

A group headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co. yesterday submitted the high bid of 102.30 for a 48 million dollar issue of New York Power corporation bonds with a 3 per cent coupon. Public offering at 103 was planned, subject to official award and approval of the securities and exchange commission. Allen & Co. and associates will reoffer at prices not yet announced the 18 million dollars of city of St. Petersburg, Fla., refunding bonds on which their bid of 98 was high.

Dillon, Read & Co. heads a group offering 30 million of first mortgage 2⅞ per cent bonds, due 1974, of Houston Lighting and Power company at 102½ and accrued interest. Houston Lighting will redeem 27½ million of 3½ per cent bonds due 1966 at 105.

Chase National bank offered $3,825,000 of 1¾ per cent refunding bonds of the sanitary district of Chicago at par and interest. A group headed by Lee Higginson corporation offered 140,000 shares of Collins Radio company common stock at $17 and 20,000 shares of $2.75 cumulative preferred stock with warrants at $50 a share plus accrued dividends.

British Planning Biggest and Costliest Air Liner

LONDON, Nov. 14 (AP).—M. Proctor-Gregg, an official of the Bristol Airplane company, said today his company would construct the biggest, heaviest, most expensive, and most luxurious and fastest air liner in the world. He asserted that "America has nothing to compete with it, nothing approaching it."

BREAKS IN RYE AND CASH CORN DEPRESS GRAIN

Early Wheat Gains Fail to Hold.

A war production board order eliminating the compulsory use of rye in production of industrial alcohol and a break of 3 to 8 cents a bushel in the price of low grade cash corn sent grain futures down sharply yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Rye led the decline and at one time the December contract was off 4¾ cents, within ¼ cent of the permissible limit for one day, and at its lowest level in a month. December corn sold at $1.05¾, down 2⅛ cents to a new low for the season.

Short covering and commission house buying brought a recovery, but rye closed off 2⅞ to 3¾ cents. Corn futures ended down 1¼ to 1⅝ cents. Wheat, after advancing ¼ to ½ cent early, weakened with other grains to close 1⅝ to 1⅞ cents lower. Oats lost ⅞ to 1¼ cents. Barley was 1⅛ to 1⅝ cents lower.

Lose Mainstay of Prices.

Use of rye in distilling industrial alcohol has been compulsory since June, and was regarded by brokers as a price mainstay. Brokers with cash grain connections were free sellers of futures and many stop loss orders were uncovered on the decline.

Cash corn sold at the lowest prices in more than a year as a result of extremely heavy receipts, more than 7 million bushels in about two weeks. Many cars of high moisture corn arrived in a "hot" or fermenting condition, and with a shortage of labor at elevators to unload the cars, buying was slow. Fifteen cars of sample grade corn, testing 26.4 and 34.5 per cent moisture and showing 38 to 93 per cent of damage sold at 30 cents a bushel.

Shipments of corn to Peoria will be embargoed at midnight, and the possibility of embargoes in other markets was discussed.

Smaller Receipts Expected.

Chicago elevator men said several days would be required to clear the accumulation of cash corn held on track, but believed the big decline in prices in the last few days would check shipments from the country and forestall additional difficulties.

Some brokers advised shippers in Iowa and Minnesota to hold back high moisture cash corn from terminal markets because elevators lacked the labor to operate their grain driers at capacity.

ASSERTS PUBLIC HAS PLENTY OF CASH FOR BONDS

Americans are better able to buy bonds today than at any time since the war began, Peter H. Odegard, assistant to the secretary of the treasury, asserted yesterday. Speaking at the national conference on veterans' loans and home ownership of the United States Savings and Loan league, in the Palmer House, Odegard said national income is running at an annual rate exceeding 153 billion dollars, with goods and services available for consumer use of only about 90 billion.

During the period August to December individuals will have an estimated income of 70 billion at their disposal. After paying taxes, living expenses, and providing for other forms of saving, they will have about 11 billion available for the purchase of war bonds, he said.

W. M. Brock, Dayton, O., president of the Gem City Building and Loan association, was elected president of the league.

PROVIDING INVESTMENT CAPITAL
To The New England States

WITH only 2.1% of the nation's land area and about 6½% of its population, New England accounts for approximately 8% of the wealth of the United States.

Famed since the days of the Puritans for prudence and thrift, New England has progressed steadily and conservatively, financing much of its own development and contributing in cultural and material ways to the entire nation.

While self-sufficient financially to a considerable extent, New England municipalities and corporations have had frequent occasion to employ the underwriting and distributing facilities of investment organizations such as our own—bringing needed capital to deserving borrowers as well as providing remunerative investment opportunities to conservative lenders.

As a part of its activities since the turn of the century, Halsey, Stuart & Co. Inc. has participated as an original underwriter in approximately 200 bond issues, totaling over $580 millions, of selected New England corporations and municipalities.

ILLINOIS COURT URGED TO ACT ON ASSESSMENTS

A mandamus to compel all assessors in Illinois to assess at full, fair cash value is requested in a petition filed yesterday with the Illinois Supreme court by Atty. David B. Maloney, representing the village of Barrington and several other small taxing bodies.

Barrington lies partly in Cook county and partly in Lake county. For this year County Assessor Clark is assessing Cook county properties at full value instead of at 37 per cent, as in the recent past. Lake county assesses at 21 per cent of full value. Because the village, its park district, and two school districts levy the same tax rate over the whole village, residents of Barrington-Cook are paying tax bills several times as large as their neighbors of Barrington-Lake.

Specifically, Maloney asked that the court order: [1] that the state department of revenue order a general reassessment over the state; or [2] that the state body see to it that all county boards of review bring their assessing ratios up to full value—Cook county excepted, in view of Clark's action.

Other suburbs in Cook county affected by the difference in county ratios are Elgin, Hinsdale, and Steger. Many of their residents have asked the county board of tax appeals for relief, but the board so far has found no way to grant any.

A joint legislative committee has been investigating the state's assessment practices and will report to the legislature in January.

LEAVES TO SELL ARMY UNIFORM; FAILS TO RETURN

Police were searching last night for Irving Loeb, 21, recently a second lieutenant in the army air forces, who disappeared eight days ago after receiving his honorable discharge papers. He left the home of his mother, Mrs. Annette Cassidy, 3347 Madison st., where he, his wife, and their 18 month old son, Monte, had been staying, to sell his uniform. Mrs. Loeb voiced fear her husband may have met with violence. He had with him $84 and an army check for $375, she said. The Loebs have been buying a home near Narragansett and Berteau avs.

CHUTIST PLEADS GUILT IN THEFT OF ARMY PLANE

New Orleans, La., Nov. 14 (AP).—Placidly chewing gum, Robert G. Kaslow, 23, former army officer who fled a Craig field, Ala., guardhouse and parachuted from a stolen army plane into custody of the FBI here pleaded guilty today to a federal charge of "applying to his own use and disposing of the plane." He was placed in custody of a United States marshal.

Kaslow was arrested last night in a hotel cocktail lounge with an unidentified young woman, who was released by FBI agents today. An unusual "V" ring worn by the 25 year old brunette companion furnished the principal clue for FBI agents who trailed them from one night spot to another.

Tracing the flyer's movements from the swamp in which he landed, the FBI said he tied pieces of his parachute about his feet and legs, as he had been taught in his military training, and hiked across the marshlands. He swam several canals and spent one night in a lean-to he constructed beside a waterway.
